THIRD EDITION. PRICE ONE PENNY.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

No. 24,356. Registered at the General Post Office, Sydney, for transmission by post as a newspaper. SYDNEY, SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1916. 26 PAGES. PRICE, 1d.

SUMMARY.

It is stated at the Vatican that the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria is in a critical condition.

The Emperor is reported to have had two paralytic strokes, and is sinking rapidly.

A German communique says:—"The enemy is bombarding our positions on the Western front.

"Monitors are bombarding Westende ineffectively. The enemy subjected Lens to a heavy fire."

Vigorous artillery duels have taken place in the Argonne.

Brussels refuses to pay the fine of 500,000 marks (£25,000), imposed by the Germans for the assassination of the Belgian spy, Cels.

An Austrian communique claims that a Montenegro plenipotentiary signed terms of capitulation on Tuesday.

King Nicholas, who was interviewed at Lyons, said he had unbounded confidence in France being able to save Montenegro.

Serious trouble has broken out between the Germans and the Bulgarians.

General von Mackensen has interviewed King Ferdinand at Sofia, requesting urgent intervention.

He also urged King Ferdinand to push on with the campaign in Albania.

It is expected that the German campaign will be directed against Albania and Mesopotamia.

King Ferdinand boasts that M. Radoslavoff's diplomacy hoodwinked the Allies before Bulgaria joined in the fray.

Major-General Townshend reports that the Turks have evacuated the trenches at Kut-el-Amara.

They have retired about a mile from the British entrenchments.

The British Parliament has been prorogued until February 15.

The King, in his speech, referred to the work of the army and the navy since the war began.

"Sustained by the determination of the people at home and oversea," his Majesty said, "I will carry the flag to victory."

The Labour Conference at Bristol has adopted a resolution protesting against conscription in any form.

The Government is cutting down the non-essential imports in order to relieve the strain on British shipping.

Paper pulp and other papermaking materials will be the first dealt with.

Sir R. W. Essex, in the Commons, hoped that prohibition of the import of paper pulp would not operate adversely to the newspapers.

Mr. Runciman said it would be on equitable lines, which would not give unfair advantage to anybody.

Mr. Bonar Law does not think the Imperial Conference could be usefully held at the present time.

In reply to a question, it was stated in the Commons that the Government had concluded contracts to purchase Roumanian grain.

The grain, it was explained, would be held at the Government's disposal for export after the war.

The tramway employees have decided by secret ballot not to hold a stop-work meeting on Saturday next.

The shortage of water in the northern suburbs has turned departmental attention to the metropolitan supply generally.

Mr. Cann states that he has the Warragamba water supply and irrigation scheme under consideration.

A deputation from the Manly Municipal Council waited upon Mr. Griffith in reference to the Manly ferry service.

The Minister thought it would be better for the council to complete the arrangement offered for three years.

He was of opinion, however, that the ferry services should be run in the interests of the municipalities.

The Manly Council met last night and decided to accept the company's offer.

A much larger number of students passed the qualifying examination than there are vacancies for in the High Schools.

The Minister says that those students who obtained most marks will have the first offer of vacancies.

The day of the collection for the Hospital Saturday Fund has been altered from Saturday to Friday.

The date now fixed for this year's street collection is Friday, May 12. The banking will be done at the Town Hall.

Mr. Cann visited Dubbo and officially opened a new bridge over the Macquarie at Rawsonville.

The question of providing an adequate water supply for Bowral was inquired into by the Public Works Committee.

The committee inspected the proposed source of supply on the Wingecarribee River, and took evidence.

The site of the flying grounds for the new Aviation School now being formed has been selected at Windsor.

Two bi-planes for practice purposes are expected shortly. Other machines are to be built at Walsh Island.

The movement for a fitting memorial to William Farrer has been revived, in view of the record harvest.

The Pharmaceutical Society offered to establish a corps for active service.

The offer was declined, but it is proposed to place pharmacists on an organised footing.

A Neutral Bay committee has been formed in connection with the North Sydney recruiting movement.

Vigorous action is to be taken to secure the quota of recruits required from the Neutral Bay area.

The "Boomerangs" have arrived at Cowra from Billimari. At a recruiting meeting a number of local men joined.

A soldier attached to the 4th Battalion at Liverpool had an arm broken while travelling in a train to Sydney.

His arm was hanging out of the carriage window, and it is believed he was struck by a passing train.

A deputation from the churches waited on Supt. Roche at Armidale, urging the restriction of Sunday drinking amongst soldiers.

Nearly 200 men arrived in Armidale from Narrabri and other places, there being 900 in camp at present.

The inquiry made at the instance of the Minister for Public Works into the recent strike at the State brickworks has closed.

A report has been furnished that the management was in no way to blame in the matter.

Mr. Underwood, Honorary Minister, made some trenchant remarks at Perth on loafing amongst unionists.

Loafing, he said, was not Australian, and those leading the movement in Western Australia were, he believed, imported.

A number of labourers employed on grading work at the Osborne Rifle Range, Western Australia, struck work for higher wages.

The Cobar miners have declined to grant financial assistance to the Broken Hill miners on strike.

Lockhart raised £300 in connection with the Allies' Day carnival on Wednesday.

There is unusual activity in the development of new collieries in the northern coalfield.

The second ballot for the Drummoyne electorate takes place to-day.

It is notified that State income tax returns should be forwarded to the Commissioner for Taxation on or before February 9.

Light to moderate rain has fallen at scattered places generally west from the tablelands. Wilcannia had 140 points.

There has been general but light rain on the central-western and south-western slopes, and some good falls on the coast.

An increased amount of business was transacted on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday.

In the majority of cases the prices realised were against sellers.

The market for mining shares was extremely dull, very few sales being booked.

The tea market was strong yesterday. Sales showed an advance of quite a halfpenny per pound.

Forecast:—General rain, with thunder, some good falls; squally north-easterly winds; cooler weather generally; rough seas on coast.

FARMER'S, SYDNEY,
1840-1916, Seventy-six Years.

THIS IS THE LAST MORNING OF FARMER'S 9 TO 10 SALE.

A splendid assortment of goods has been selected for disposal as a happy finish to a successful event. THEY ARE ALL MARKED AT HALF-PRICES FOR CASH, and shoppers are advised to be early in selecting. Thereby the widest choices will be available.

GOWING BROS.'
SUMMER SALE.
JANUARY 27th to FEBRUARY 19th—
THREE SHORT WEEKS.
"AUSTRAL" TAILORING,
AT SALE PRICES.

There is nothing doubtful about the inducement to purchase an "Austral" Suit to order during our Summer Sale.

The Discount of 10 per cent. (2/ in the £) means not only a substantial reduction in the price, but is tangible evidence also of the straightforwardness which marks our policy of treating all Customers alike.

As will be seen by a reference to the Price List which follows, the full discount is allowed at whatever price is paid, which rule prevails throughout the store, be the purchase great or small.

"AUSTRAL" SAC SUITS TO MEASURE. Usual Price.	Sale Price.	"AUSTRAL" SAC SUITS, HAND MADE. Usual Price.	Sale Price.
63/	56/9	90/	81/
70/	63/	95/	85/6
75/	67/6	105/	94/6
		115/	103/6

To any address we send patterns and measure forms free.

Quite apart from the variety of textures and colourings the samples show, old Customers will recognise the high quality standard of the fabrics, as always maintained, while those who have never previously worn an "Austral" Tailored Suit will find in a comparison of values an added and stronger inducement than ever before.

SEND FOR PATTERNS.

With only Three Weeks in which to order, Country Customers especially are urged to send for Patterns To-day.

CHEAPER FUEL FOR OIL ENGINES.
The economies effected by using our Special Engine Distillate are very substantial, and users frequently write to us giving their experience. The following is typical of many letters received:—"I beg to advise you that I duly received the four cases of Engine Distillate, and after a thorough trial found it to be equal to, if not better than, any Benzine that I have used in my Engine."

THREE LECTURES ONLY.

"His despatches were more valuable to Australia than probably any other writings of any other man since Australia was discovered."—"Melbourne Herald."

Messrs. J. and N. TAIT
Have Much Pleasure in Presenting
Mr. E.

ASHMEAD BARTLETT,
ASHMEAD BARTLETT,
ASHMEAD BARTLETT,
The Famous War Correspondent,
in his Lecture,
"WITH THE ANZACS AT THE DARDANELLES,"
"WITH THE ANZACS AT THE DARDANELLES,"
"WITH THE ANZACS AT THE DARDANELLES,"
Illustrated by Slides taken on the spot, and Maps and Diagrams.

Mr. ELLIS ASHMEAD BARTLETT, in his position as Official Representative of the British Press at the Dardanelles operations, chronicled in the history of this greatest of all wars the part played by Australia's Sons, in word pictures which thrilled a world satiated by sensation, and placed on permanent record the deeds which have set Australia so high in the World's esteem.

ASHMEAD BARTLETT,
ASHMEAD BARTLETT.

Mr. ELLIS ASHMEAD BARTLETT has been a War Correspondent in all the Great Campaigns of recent years:—
GRAECO-TURKISH, RUSSO-JAPANESE,
SOUTH AFRICAN (as an Officer),
FRENCH and SPANISH CAMPAIGNS in MOROCCO,
ITALIAN WAR in TRIPOLI, 1st and 2nd BALKAN CONFLICTS.
And his experience and knowledge of the near East is unequalled.

Messrs. J. and N. TAIT have engaged Mr. ELLIS ASHMEAD BARTLETT for his Australian Tour at the highest fee ever paid to any Lecturer this side of the world.

TIVOLI FOLLIES, 1915-1916.

When you sit in the Tivoli,
And see the Follies frisk and whiz,
You say, "How sweet a thing to me
Is life! How glad a thing it is!
Oh, here's the show that beats the band,
In this most happy Christian land!"
And, Popsy, dear, who sits by you,
Will feel so very happy, too,
That she will snuggle as you sit,
And make you feel entirely fit.
While all the Follies beam and glow
To see you sit contented so.
So, hurry up, and don't be late!
The Tivoli, every night at eight!

During the last nights of the Follies the programme will be selected from the following features:—
1. "My Averne Rose" .... TIVOLI FOLLIES

SYNOPSIS:

A Photoplay tribute to England's Joan of Arc, Nurse Cavell, in 4 Acts, depicting a Belgian War Drama, taken from real life and based on historical facts.

The story opens showing the Nurse's English home—Six years later Nurse is shown at the Brussels Hospital previous to the declaration of war—Dr. Schultz, the Hospital Surgeon, has received orders to return to Berlin and advises the Nurse to leave for England at once, as rumours of war are about—Nurse refuses, stating her place is with the sick and suffering—Nurse receives an invitation to the wedding of Lieut. Renard and Yvonne Loudet, both very dear friends of hers—Herr Cries, a friend of the Renards, is also invited—this man proves to be a medical student but is in reality a German Military Spy—Cries is a rejected suitor of Yvonne's, and attempts to again force his attentions—Yvonne screams for help, and Lieut. Renard throws him out—Cries, vowing vengeance, departs—The wedding is just over, when Lieut. Renard receives orders to report at Military Headquarters immediately, as Germany has declared war—Four months later Brussels has been taken by the Germans—The first wounded arrive, and Nurse attends English, German, and Belgian wounded—Lieut. Renard at Brussels—He secures assistance from friends outside and makes a daring escape—After which he sees a vision of his wife and parents—Yvonne applies for assistance to the Nurse to help her escape to Ostend—Nurse advises Yvonne to go to Ostend and ask for the Cafe Francaise—Give the password "Liberty" to Mons. Fouchard, the proprietor, and he will give him to take the passports to the necessary—Is placed—Cries, Lieut. Renard and the peasants, but is nearly recaptured at the restaurant—He escapes by Yvonne—Cries, the Spy, and Capt. Hoffberg of the German Army, follow Lieut. Renard to his house, and Capt. Hoffberg brutally assaults and murders Lieut. Renard's father. His mother dies from shock—Capt. Hoffberg attempts to man-handle Yvonne—Lieut. Renard hears her screams for help and has a death struggle with Capt. Hoffberg—Yvonne saves his life, and they escape—The Spy and Hoffberg report the escape of Lieut. Renard to Baron von Bissell, Military Governor of Brussels—The Spy tells of his suspicions regarding the Nurse—Von Bissell orders them to search the Hospital, and if evidence is found against the Nurse to arrest her—The Spy finds a letter from England incriminating the Nurse for assisting a prisoner of war to escape—The arrest of the Nurse—She is taken to prison and refused legal, religious, or friendly advice—She is secretly tried and sentenced to be shot—The American Ambassador pleads for her life—Also the Rev. Thos. Gerard, who demands the right to see the Nurse and administer communion—Von Bissell reluctantly grants a permit—She is sentenced at 2 a.m. and shot at 2 a.m. Her last moments before the execution were spent in prayer with the Rev. Gerard.

Her last words were:—"TELL MY FRIENDS I GIVE MY LIFE WILLINGLY FOR MY COUNTRY. I HAVE NO FEAR OR SHRINKING. I HAVE SEEN DEATH SO OFTEN IT IS NOT FEARFUL OR STRANGE TO ME."

ELECTION NOTICES.

DRUMMOYNE SECOND BALLOT.

TO-DAY the DRUMMOYNE ELECTORS will choose their Parliamentary Representative, and it is confidently predicted that F. G. PARISH will head the POLL for the following reasons:—

1. Because he is a man of Master Mind, towering head and shoulders over his fellows.
2. Because the Electors realise that F. G. PARISH is the man for whom they have long waited.
3. Because he would be a valuable acquisition to the Debating Talent of the House.
4. Because of the vigorous and successful Campaign he has waged, single-handed, against all-comers, exemplifying in a marked degree those rare qualities of British Independence.
5. Because of his breadth of view, constructive policy, and the National character of his Platform.
6. Because of his advanced and modernised views of dealing with Industrial unrest and the vexed Liquor Problem.
7. Because he is the man who has the power to win and hold the confidence and esteem of his fellow-countrymen.
8. Because, notwithstanding the vigorous opposition and unnumerous attacks made upon him during the Campaign, he stands UNSCATHED and UNMOVED in the confidence of the people as the fearless champion of Democracy.

In placing F. G. PARISH in the Halls of Legislation as their Representative Drummoyne Electors will be honouring themselves and will make their Electorate famous.

Vote PARISH, the PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE.
PUT YOUR X IN THE BOTTOM SQUARE.

WHY NOT A GOOD REBUILT SECOND-HAND CAR?
We have a number of good Cars of European and American manufacture that we are offering at very low prices to clear.
These Cars have all been examined, and where any part shows wear it has been replaced and made equal to new.
We can give great value at prices from £100 to £300.

Showrooms: 45 Hunter-street, Sydney.
Works: Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo.

A NEW CAR depreciates from one-third to one-half the first year. A good guaranteed REBUILT CAR, bought at the right price, is a profitable investment, that after years' service only shows a low rate of depreciation. We have Rebuilt and Toiled Cars that have had very little use going for less than half their original cost, and are good for years of use. We have sold hundreds of Cars, and can refer you to satisfied clients throughout the country.
We have some of the best Cars, both New and Second-hand, for Sale, PRICE LIST of which we would be pleased to supply you with should you write or call in and see us. Some we can sell on Terms.

A MATTER OF COMMON KNOWLEDGE—
"EVERYBODY SAYS"
THE HUPMOBILE CAR
IS A GOOD CAR.

We ourselves of course always have been convinced of this, but it is very gratifying to know that our opinion is so ably and universally backed up by the hundreds of owners and users of HUPMOBILES.

They base their opinions on the RELIABILITY, ECONOMY OF UPKEEP, and ease of control of HUPMOBILES.

ONE OWNER WRITES:—
"I consider my Car worth another £100 on the catalogued price."

PRICE, £425. PAINTED ANY COLOUR.
WE WOULD LIKE TO DEMONSTRATE A CAR TO YOU.

SOLE AGENT,
I. PHIZACKERLEY,
169-171 ELIZABETH-STREET, HYDE PARK, SYDNEY.

HERE IS THE MOTOR CAR
YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR.

From our stock of nearly 80 second-hand cars we have selected the following 16, and marked down the price of each from £50 to £100 under the real value. The fact is, with shipments of new cars arriving almost every week we are getting crowded for room, and it is cheaper to sell these second-hand cars at a loss than to hire extra storage space for them.

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CAR.
BUILT OF IRON AND STEEL AND CHARACTER.

SELLING AGENTS FOR THE DODGE BROTHERS' MOTOR CAR THE WORLD OVER BELIEVE IN IT BECAUSE INTO ITS CONSTRUCTION HAVE GONE THE BEST THOUGHTS OF THOSE WHOSE NAME IT BEARS.

These representatives know that beneath the very attractive exterior is the expression of honesty and integrity in a material form. They are further aware that bound up in every feature are those qualities which manifest themselves in all great achievements.

IN OTHER WORDS, THE CAR IS MADE OF IRON AND STEEL AND CHARACTER—A MACHINE THAT MUST, AND DOES, SYMBOLISE AND MAINTAIN A PRICELESS REPUTATION, BUILT ON HONOUR.

THE MOTOR IS 24 R.A.C. RATING.
THE WHEEL BASE IS 110 INCHES.

GOODYEAR
LAMINATED TUBES
OUTLAST ANY TYRE.

We make for Goodyear tyre users a heavy Laminated Tube. It has helped us much in making Goodyear Tyres the most popular tyres in the world.

Many a tyre trouble is due to a leaky Tube. Our Tube construction, plus our extra thickness, makes inherent leaks impossible. And it gives a Tube, which, by countless records, outwears any Tyre.

Now we invite users of rival tyres to test this super-tube. That's a certain way, in our estimation, to win you to Goodyear Tyres.

BUILT IN MANY LAYERS.

Instead of making—by machinery—a solid rubber Tube, we roll the pure rubber into very thin sheets.

The reason is this:—In thick rubber flaws and foreign matter often go undetected. A consequent weakness may go clear through. In thin sheets the slightest flaw shows up in inspection, and is eliminated.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are made by wrapping layer on layer of these thin, perfect sheets. Then we vulcanise these layers into a solid rubber tube.

To prevent leaking in the valve patch, we make it part of the Tube. Our valve patch is not stuck on.

Get these Tubes, whatever tyre you use. Let them reveal the Goodyear standards to you. Then remember that Goodyear Fortified Tyres embody those high standards, too. They also have costly and exclusive features, which are bettered every year. And their prices have been thrice reduced—a total of 45 per cent.—in two years.

ANY GARAGE WILL SUPPLY YOU GOODYEAR TYRES OR TUBES.

GOODYEAR FORTIFIED TYRES.

FORTIFIED AGAINST
- BLOWOUTS—by our "On Air" cure.
- LOOSE TREADS—by many rubber rivets.
- PUNCTURES AND SKIDDING—by our double-thick All-Weather tread.

THE NAME "OAKLAND"

STANDS FOR EFFICIENCY, SATISFACTION, AND ABSOLUTE DEPENDABILITY, IRRESPECTIVE OF FOUR, SIX, OR EIGHT CYLINDERS.

THE 30-H.P. 4-CYLINDER MODEL IS FAR AHEAD OF ALL OTHERS AROUND ITS PRICE, BECAUSE IT IS THE RESULT OF FOUR YEARS OF CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT OF ONE MODEL.

THE SMALLER SIX-CYLINDER CAR IS JUST AS WONDERFUL VALUE IN ITS PRICE CLASS AS THE LARGER CAR, AND THUS AMPLY DEMONSTRATES PRICE IS GOVERNED BY SIZE AND QUANTITY PRODUCTION, AND NOT BY NUMBER OF CYLINDERS.

£335.

THE CAR BUICK THAT GLIDES.
1916 SATISFACTION.

Mr. R. C. Cameron, Reliance Engineering Works, Orange, writes:—
24th January.
"I arrived home with the two cars, after a splendid trip. They are a treat to drive; one did the trip—162 miles—on 8 gallons and the other 8½ gallons, both good performances for the first run of a new car."

THESE CARS WERE DELIVERED WITHOUT PROPER ADJUSTMENT, and had to be adjusted on the road, and after such adjustments it is usual to do 22-25 miles per gallon.

SIX CYLINDERS ARE BEST.

There are more makes of sixes in America than any other. Everybody is clamouring for six cylinders, and Buicks are ABSOLUTELY the leaders of all.

THERE ARE MORE THAN TWICE AS MANY BUICK SIXES SOLD THAN ANY OTHER CAR NEAR ITS PRICE OR SIZE.

By reason of its light weight, freedom of vibration, and only obtained in the Buick six, low-fuel consumption, and long life of tyres, ball bearings in place of rollers makes the new Buick six

THE BEST CAR WE KNOW OF.

PIERCE-ARROW CARS.
THE ACME OF ELEGANCE AND COMFORT.
ONLY THREE FOR SALE. THE BUILT-IN SERVICE.

From the first conception of any Pierce-Arrow model, through the designing, experimental, make-ready, manufacturing, and selling stages, everything possible is done to ensure to the purchaser the best possible all-round automobile at the lowest price consistent with such quality and a fair profit. No chances are taken. No deductions are made from manufacturing care or costs on the ground that some purchasers are less particular than others. All Pierce-Arrow owners are assumed to be highly discriminating and particular, and the cars are built to their standard.

The greater part of Pierce-Arrow service is built in, not added. That portion of the Pierce-Arrow service which is not built in provides for the giving of such information and instruction as is necessary to enable the owner to make the best and fullest use of his purchase, to maintain his car throughout its life at a pitch of maximum efficiency.

Also, One Wood's Electric Car, £250; Three Second-hand Cars, One Vulcan, One Single Cylinder and One Twin Cylinder De Dion. These cars are in perfect order, and worth inspection.

AUCTION SALES.

IMPORTANT DISPERSAL SALE OF DAIRY CATTLE, HORSES, Etc.,

AT LAURELDALE, ROBERTSON,
12 MILES FROM MOSS VALE,
TUESDAY, 1st FEBRUARY, 1916,
AT 11 O'CLOCK.

J. D. WOOD AND CO (in conjunction with WYNNE and HOLT), have received instructions from Messrs. DAVIS BROS. to sell by Auction, at their Residence, LAURELDALE, ROBERTSON, on above date:—

85 COWS, in full milk, majority of them newly calved.
35 SPRINGING COWS and HEIFERS.
70 YEARLINGS, Mixed Sexes, by the imported Bull, Irishman.
1 PURE-BRED DURHAM BULL, 3 years.
1 AYRSHIRE BULL (Antill strain).
6 DRAUGHT MARES.
7 DRAUGHT GELDINGS, 2 to 5 years.
1 BLOOD MARE, by Manton, stinted to Jolly Maltster.
1 BLOOD YEARLING FILLY, by Game Boy.
1 TALBOT (English) MOTOR CAR, in good order

The Dairy Herd is considered by competent judges to be one of the best in the district, having been carefully selected and tested by the owners, who made a point to keep nothing but the best. The Milkers are in full profit, the majority of them newly calved. The Springers are a superior lot. This Herd averaged £12 sterling per cow for the twelve months last year. The Great Test put up brought forth favourable comment by the officers of the Department of Agriculture. The young Cattle are well bred, and should command the attention of anyone requiring High-class Stock. The Horses are a useful lot, showing plenty of quality and breeding. The Draught Mares are particularly good.

Messrs. Davis Bros.' lease of Laureldale expires in a short time, and the Auctioneers' instructions are to sell WITHOUT RESERVE.

SALE AT 11 O'CLOCK. LUNCHEON PROVIDED.
TERMS CASH.

MANLY, MANLY,
AND ITS ENVIRONS
ARE RAPIDLY DEVELOPING. NOTHING CAN UPSET THEIR MARVELLOUS FUTURE AS THE RECREATION AND HEALTH RESORT OF AN IMMENSE CONTINENT.
In the vicinity of Curl Curl Lagoon and Golf Links vast changes must take place in the near future. The Lagoon must be dredged and portions reclaimed for Park purposes as a result of recent Municipal Conferences.
The most imaginative will scarcely be able to conceive the charming effect of these improvements, and, without doubt, property will be greatly enhanced in value. NOW IS THE TIME TO SECURE YOUR SHARE IN THESE BENEFITS.

BETTER IN EVERY WAY!
NEWALL'S MAGNESIA COVERINGS.
(SECTIONAL for Steam Pipe, Bends, Tees, etc., and PLASTIC for Boilers).
NEWALL'S COVERINGS are far and away superior to all other steam laggings, both as regards efficiency and durability; in fact, they are about 100 per cent. more efficient than asbestos, besides being 2½ times lighter.
As regards their durability, they possess this advantage, that should it be desired at any time to remove the steam pipe line, they can be very easily taken down and re-erected elsewhere without loss of efficiency. This in itself means a considerable saving of money, besides taking very little time. All the same, once erected these coverings will easily last as long as the steam plant.
The exceptional efficiency of
is admitted. They have been used throughout the Ultimo, White Bay, Melbourne, Perth, Canberra, Power Stations, etc.
Let us send you a sample of either Sectional or Plastic Covering.

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY SIR HENRY LUCY.)

Peace Talk—German Bluster—Ministers' Salaries.

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 11.

There is something almost sublime in the attitude assumed by the German Government upon the question of peace. In an official communication distributed by the notorious Wolff Wireless Press it is explained that the interpellation of the German Socialist party addressed in the Reichstag to the Chancellor is occasioned "because in Germany nobody understands why our enemies, after their diplomatic defeats in the Balkans and their military failures, have not yet begun peace negotiations." The idea here presented for the hoodwinking of the German people and the misleading of neutrals is that Germany graciously awaits advances from the Allied Powers, and is even prepared to give generous consideration to any petition for the re-establishment of peace they may humbly offer.

It is almost incredible that sane men should be found capable of gravely putting forward such a proposition. But there it is in print, and is made the topic of comment in the principal German newspapers, united in expression of honest wonder that representatives of the five Powers should so long daily on their way to Berlin authorised to accept any peace conditions the War Lord may impose. Of course, this childish trick is not played without the concurrence of the said War Lord, who is represented as being so confident of success that he can afford to be generous to defeated foes. His actual personal point of view is more accurately suggested in one of the Dutch artist's war cartoons now exhibited in the galleries of the Fine Art Society. There he is represented as sitting up in bed, with a dazed, despairing look. Falling asleep, he dreamt that the war was merely a nightmare, and wakes to find it a stern reality.

By undesigned, but not less effective coincidence, our Foreign Office has just circulated the text of the declaration by which Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, and Japan engage not separately to conclude peace during the war. This cuts from under the feet of the German Emperor the cherished hope of breaking up this solid phalanx arrayed against him by beguiling one or other of the Powers to break away from the contract. Heaven knows, no community would more eagerly welcome peace than England. But it will be peace on her own terms, endorsed by her Allies.

These were set forth more than a year ago in one of Mr. Asquith's masterful descriptions of the situation. Speaking at the Guildhall on November 9 last year, he made the historic declaration which lives to-day in even stronger force than when its utterance was applauded by a mighty shout of national approval. "We shall," he said, "never sheathe the sword, which we have not lightly drawn, until Belgium recovers in full measure all, and more than all, that she has sacrificed; until France is adequately secured against the menace of aggression; until the rights of the smaller nationalities of Europe are placed upon an unassailable foundation, and until the military domination of Prussia is wholly and finally destroyed." Those are the definite, unalterable terms of peace that will some day, be it near or distant, be signed at Berlin.

Mr. Birrell's suggestion that Ministers should vary their frequent injunction to the public to practise economy by voluntarily submitting to reduction of their own salaries is keenly discussed in the lobbies of the House of Commons. Its personal bearing is obvious. If Ministers, who, in consideration of the importance of their work, cannot be said to be overpaid, on their own initiative go on half pay, private members cannot continue to accept the £400 a year they voted to themselves at a time when peace seemed permanent and national prosperity abounded. When Mr. Lloyd George startled Parliament and the public by proposing to abrogate the condition of unpaid service, which for centuries has been the proud privilege of the Mother of Parliaments, he met with strong opposition, among the dissentients being some of the oldest and most highly esteemed members. Pushed to a logical conclusion, it seemed natural that the purists beaten in the division lobby would personally carry their honourable principles into effect by renouncing their salaries. A few—less than a dozen—took that step. The rest, still lamenting the fall from high estate, did not see why they should make martyrs of themselves. Since the beginning of the war the members who have renounced acceptance of salaries has increased, but not to a large extent. At the same time, there is no doubt that if a resolution, suspending for the duration of the war payment of salaries, were submitted by a well-known member from the Liberal benches and seconded from the other side, it would be carried by an overwhelming majority. If Mr. Birrell's movement within the Cabinet had such an effect, such action in the Commons, talked of for several months, will certainly take place.

War Office Reticence—"Punch" on the Australian Contingent.

December 18.

Owing to what some people regard as the banal restrictions of the War Office, the magnificent rallying of Dominions beyond the sea to the side of the stricken motherland has met with chilling reception. The policy of omitting names and other personal particulars from bald reports of big battles is carried to the extent that even the regiments or divisions prominently engaged are not particularised. The splendid contingents from India, which came over more than a year ago, and were smuggled into France on arrival at Marseilles, have completely disappeared in the mist of official reticence. The ordinary British newspaper reader does not know where they are at the present moment, or what they may have been doing of late. The effect of this upon the native population of India, proud of the valour and patriotism of their brethren, jealous for due recognition in England, cannot fail to be disastrous. Similar treatment has up to the last week been meted out to the Irish divisions of the armies in the field. They have, however, powerful champions at home. Protest recently made by Mr. John Redmond had immediate result. In despatches from the East, published last week, special mention is made of the gallantry of the Irish division. The names of the regiments composing it are actually given, to the just pride of Ireland, and, as far as civilians may judge, with no giving away to the enemy knowledge of which he can take advantage in the campaign.

Australasia and Canada might have suffered the common lot but for accidental circumstances. The Canadian contingent was accompanied by an officer authorised to send letters to the newspapers. Gifted with a vivid literary style that occasionally recalled Archibald Forbes on the warpath, he rescued from oblivion the heroic achievements of his countrymen. By an exception unexplained, puzzling to an otherwise gagged press, Mr. Ashmead Bartlett was allotted a berth, and provided with rations on board one of the battleships at the Dardanelles. He witnessed the landing and dauntless attack of the Australians and New Zealanders, the world listening with thrilled attention to the stirring story. With these exceptions record of the deeds of the mightiest and bravest army Great Britain ever put in the field is limited to curt communiques from headquarters, supplemented by occasional lengthy despatches from the Commander-in-Chief, stale with news four or five months old.

As far as the Australians are concerned "Punch" this week has something to say. It appears that a British officer (of course, unnamed), has, in circumstances not indicated, described the Australian soldier as "the bravest thing God ever made." Upon this text "Punch" trolls a stirring ballad. I quote the last verse:—

> Bravest, where half a world of men
> Are brave beyond all earth's rewards;
> So stoutly none shall charge again
> Till the last breaking of the swords;
> Wounded or hale, won home from war,
> Or yonder by the Lone Pine laid,
> Give him his due for evermore—
> "The bravest thing God ever made!"

AUSTRALIANS IN EGYPT.

(BY ASH-LE-BRUN.)

When I left Australia there seemed to be some doubt in the minds of at least a few people about the Australian hospitals in Egypt. This were a pity, for it is bad enough that those who have sent dear ones out should worry about the mischances a campaign like this may involve, without the added anxiety that all may not be well with them as they lie ill in hospital. I would like to assure such, and I speak from personal experience, that the sick in Egypt are as thoroughly well cared for as if they were at home in Australia. In fact, in a public hospital in Australia the sick have not the comforts made possible by our Red Cross Society's care for the soldiers. Then, again, doctors, nurses, and orderlies are all military people, and, though discipline may be irksome, it makes for an efficiency which nothing else can rival.

For obvious reasons, I am not going to mention names either of places or people beyond saying that there is a considerable element of romance about the palatial buildings where the staffs and inmates of No. 1 and No. 2 Australian Hospitals are domiciled. What is now No. 1 was originally built as a rival to Monte Carlo, but a licence was finally refused by the Government. It is still, in popular parlance, "The Palace." Its fine Byzantine dome dominates the town of Heliopolis, ancient city of the sun, familiar to students of the Bible as the ancient On. No. 2, at Ghezireh, has its home in the palace built just prior to the debacle by the third Napoleon, a fitting memorial to the noble folly of Imperial France. As court beauties trailed their silken gowns down the wide marble staircase there was little thought of days to come when Australian soldiers would lie within those walls recovering or dying from wounds gotten in a war with the same common enemy that extinguished the star of the Imperial builder of Ghezireh Palace. But its splendour makes a fitting home for the heroes of that deathless page in our young nation's history when Australia first registered her chapter in the military history of big warfare.

There are many other hospitals none the less efficient, but the two just mentioned have been named for their associations.

As an Australian I wish I could say that our boys were all perfect. But I can truthfully say the next best thing. A little inner knowledge of these hospitals makes you proud to be one of them. They are not stoics; they go one better. They back humour against adversity, and she turns up trumps every time. But the Australian was ever a sport. Ugly wounds and dreary sickness cannot quell the spirit, best exemplified by the following incident, which is perfectly true.

A well-known A.I.F. heavy-weight was being carried down from the trenches to a dressing station. Poor chap! He was minus a leg. A light-weight rival in the fistic art was endeavouring to console his chum for a loss dreadful beyond words to a keen athlete. "Never mind, old chap; I'm down to your weight now," was the sole rejoinder of the maimed hero. By the way, will Australia make it up to men like this?

Over here, when you see so many varieties of the genus homo, you soon begin to think that Australia is certainly developing a type of her own. Even as they lie in the long hospital wards you can tell the Australians. Mind you, I don't think they are a handsome crowd at all, but they look better than this. They convey the impression of intense virility and what you might call the hard-bitten virtues. There has also been some very unnecessary talk about the failure of the Australian to learn the lessons of discipline. I grant you he doesn't learn too easily at first, but when he has grasped the idea of things he interprets it in the spirit rather than in the letter. Then it is a very real thing to him, and he is the better man for it. I can give an illustration of what I mean. Another officer and myself have been for a couple of weeks or so in the same ward as a lot of private soldiers. This is unusual, but cannot always be avoided. We don't always hear "Sir" from the men, but not in the slightest way has a single fellow presumed for an instant. In such circumstances who would bother about the frills of discipline when the spirit of the thing is so really and pleasantly present, or in what other army in the world would you see the same thing? The fact that all Australians are very definitely conscious of a distinct nationality of their own makes the relations between the different ranks of the A.I.F. very pleasant in a foreign land. In hospital it works out very well. The nurses are to the men very dear and revered links with the clean happy homes so far away, and the doctors and orderlies are like themselves, Australians who know Australians, and can therefore handle Australians. When the history of this campaign is written up the work of the sisters and officers and men of the A.M.C. must occupy a very prominent part.

People in their comfortable homes in Australia can hardly form a complete idea of what the Red Cross Society's work means to these men. Good nursing and skilled medical care make a man well. Add the comforts provided by the Red Cross and you make the process of getting well both speedy and pleasant. Wards were pretty crowded the other day, and there was a temporary shortage of necessaries. One poor chap was for an hour or so without a mosquito net, and the ugly Egyptian flies triumphed while the ward sister worried, till she in her turn came along triumphantly with a Red Cross hospital mosquito net. The freedom from persecution by the flies was like heaven to the sick man, and presently he was sleeping peacefully. It's a far call from way back in Queensland to a military hospital in Egypt, but the Christian charity of a Red Cross worker on a station out there spanned the distance, and helped a soldier lad on the way to recovery. This is but one instance. There is the red letter day when sisters come along with a Red Cross list, and ask the lads if there is anything they need in particular. To these sick chaps the pleasure is as real as in childhood days, and Santa Claus. Think what it means, too, to convalesce in a comfy deck chair, instead of having to squat like an Arab on the concrete-floored verandahs of the wards.

I cannot leave this subject without saying, on behalf of all away from home over here, that home letters have a great influence over the lives of these lads, for after all, most of them are only boys. It's a charming thing to get a nice letter at any time. But when far away from home, perhaps sick and wounded, certainly sometimes lonely, a letter from those near and dear to you, or even a cheery one from a chance friend, is a very godsend. They help the moral of an army, they cheer, encourage, inspire men, and sometimes, when some poor laddie hears "lights out" for the last time, an old letter gripped tight between clenched fingers tells how dear to him is a soldier's home mail. As I write, dozens of lads around are frantically scribbling letters home, for to-morrow closes the Christmas mail for Australia. And how they talk about home!

"A WARNING—SHIRKERS' RUSE—DODGING THE POSTMAN."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Referring to your article under the above headings in your issue of yesterday's date, in quoting certain sections of the War Census, section 8 is noticeably omitted. This reads as follows:—"The forms which may be required to be filled up shall be in accordance with the forms in the first and second schedules to this Act, with such modifications or additions as may be prescribed." The form recently issued is not in any remote degree approaching such forms, which have already been issued, and, as far as forms go, the operation of the Act seems to have been exhausted; though if any officer sought information on the forms which have been issued in accordance with the Act, he could no doubt get it under section 9. I do not see the slightest reason why the new forms should not be made compulsory to fill in, but I do not see that thus far they are.

I am, etc.,

Manildra, Jan. 25. J. MACK.

Mistakes in life are usually made at a time when one is dull, depressed, nervous, not at one's best. The reason—Constipation and Indigestion. The cure—Cockle's Pills.—Advt.

G. S. TITHERADGE.

(BY W.F.W.)

He was in his garden, at The Cottage at Vaucluse, and of all his parts I thought he could never have looked more natural, though it was the naturalness of this great actor that brought him his fame. He used to say his favourite role was that of the gardener, and perhaps that is why he "made up" so perfectly. He was wearing an old slouch hat; his boots were of the common or garden variety; he was minus collar and tie, and his shirt was open at the neck. All round him there were lovely flowers—daffodils mostly. Over my mantelpiece now as I write is a photograph of G. S. Titheradge gazing intently at a daffodil bulb which he holds in his hand—as intently as Hamlet looked upon Yorick's skull. I believe there is a daffodil named after this gardener of mine.

It was a beautiful stage-setting. The garden of flowers; the blue waters of the Pacific yonder; in the opposite direction glimpses of the harbour beyond Rose Bay Convent. And he sat down in the centre of the stage and told me his story.

"I have been acting for forty-five years—a long time," he said. It was five years ago. "'One man in his time plays many parts,' but I believe I have played more parts than any man living. I was 17 when I went on the stage, and I am 62 now; and I love my art to-day as much as I ever did. I started at Portsmouth in October, 1866, playing comic business in pantomime, and being knocked about by the clown, and I have played every line of business from harlequin to Hamlet. I have played utility; I have played the walking gentleman; I have played juvenile business; I have played leading business; and I have seen three entirely revolutionary styles of acting. When I went on the stage it was just at the end of the 'mummer' of the old school, who wore ringlets and a muffler. It was in the days of stock companies—a thing of the past. I graduated in the same school as Rignold, in Bristol, under James Henry Chute. Ellen Terry, Lady Bancroft, and Mrs. Labouchere (Henrietta Hodgson) are among those who graduated in the same school. But the old style is as dead as the dodo. What revolutionary changes! The actor is no longer judged on the old standards; it is his business to adapt himself to the changes as they come."

And so he wandered on, stopping now and then to light his pipe afresh. He played in "Hamlet" and "Louis XI" with Charles Kean. In the late 'Sixties he played with Henry Irving in a piece called "Dearer Than Life," written by the author of "Our Boys." Others in the cast were J. L. Toole and Lionel Brough. The very character of the plays then being written—such as "Caste" and "School"—was helping to revolutionise the character of the acting. "They introduced a new school of acting—what the old folks called teacup and saucer acting, just because it was natural," said George Titheradge.

Just before he returned to Australia after a visit to England some eight years ago, he was engaged by Sir John Hare to play Captain Hawtrey in "Caste." It was strange that he should have made his first appearance in London in 1877, under the management of John Hare, when Ellen Terry was the leading lady, and then, years afterwards, take part in that actor's farewell. But the stage—and all the world's a stage—is full of surprises and strange coincidences. Only a little while ago Ellen Terry herself was in Australia, and George Sutton Titheradge was playing Shylock to her immortal Portia, with Essie Jenyns as Nerissa.

One of Mr. Titheradge's proudest memories related to his appointment as Herald to proclaim Queen Victoria Empress of India in Calcutta, where he had been appearing successfully as Hamlet. He treasured the "certificate" which was then presented to him: "Under command of his Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General, this certificate is presented in the name of her Most Gracious Majesty Victoria, Empress of India, to George Sutton Titheradge, esq., in recognition of his distinguished service as Herald at the Durbar held for the proclamation of the Imperial title at Calcutta, on January 1, 1877."

In the souvenir programme of the matinee tendered Mr. Titheradge as a public tribute on November 30, 1911, at Her Majesty's Theatre in Sydney, one finds a brief sketch of the career of this splendid actor, who was, as Walter Bentley said in his address at the graveside on Monday, "a prince among actors, and a gentleman among gentlemen." It was written by Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald, and we take these lines from it: "His stage career is a 'romance of two worlds,' inasmuch as he made one great reputation in the Northern Hemisphere (in England, America, and India) and another in the Southern (in Australia and New Zealand). . . . The tribute which this great audience gives to-day is tendered to a great actor, a good citizen, and a courteous gentleman, whom Australians are proud to claim as one of the most distinguished ornaments of their stage."

And I remember, not long since, being present at a luncheon tendered by the Institute of Journalists in Sydney to Mr. Lewis Waller, Miss Madge Titheradge, and her distinguished father. Mr. T. W. Heney was in the chair, and after welcoming Mr. Waller and Miss Titheradge and referring to the traditional relations of goodfellowship between the Press and the Stage—"that beloved profession," as he called it—he paid an eloquent tribute to the veteran actor, whose life and soul were wrapped up in his art. "Mr. Titheradge," he said, "has for long been an ornament of the Australian stage, and his name will ever stand bracketed in agreeable associations with those of the late Mr. Robert Brough and Mr. Dion Boucicault." In his reply, Mr. Titheradge dwelt pleasantly on nights spent, after the midnight chimes, with some well-known journalists of "prehistoric days" at the Yorick Club in Melbourne and the Athenaeum in Sydney. Those of us who heard him will not forget the humour of those moments, when he endeavoured to make good his claims to being a journalist as well as an actor. "I think," he said, "the professions of acting and of journalism must have something in common, because my first friends in Australia were journalists, and my first newspaper work was on an Australian journal. Before I went in for horticultural pursuits—growing daffodils and so on—I was a sailor, and I wrote the yachting notices for the 'Federal Australian,' or the 'Federal Something,' in Melbourne. I believe they were execrable notices, but as I received nothing for them I had no doubt the arrangement was mutually satisfactory." When the laughter had subsided he added: "I have also written a number of celebrated articles for the horticultural papers, such as 'The Cross-fertilisation of the Narcissus,' and perhaps I will some day have a go at the critics who have commented unfavourably on my acting. But, in truth"—and it was the truth—"I have little to complain of on that score. Our relations have always been of the best, and I hope they will long continue to be so—or, rather, for the short time I may be permitted to strut and fret upon the stage."

Alas, it was but for a short time. It is only a little over two years since he spoke the words; and Lewis Waller has died since then, and now George Titheradge has followed him home.

I have spoken of that matinee of November, 1911, and of the souvenir programme, the cover design of which was done by his old friend "Hop." When the Shakespeare Festival was held in the Town Hall in April, 1914, Mr. Titheradge autographed a large number of these programmes which were in his possession, and presented them to the Shakespeare Society's stall. He also wrote various Shakespearian quotations upon them. I have a set of them by me now, and though he did not achieve his fame as a Shakespearian actor, his quotations are evidence of the homage he paid to England's great dramatist. "He enchants societies into him; half all men's hearts are his" ("Cymbeline"); "The noblest mind he carries that ever govern'd man" ("Timon of Athens"); "He sits 'mong men like a descended god" ("Cymbeline"); "His better does not breathe upon the earth" ("Richard III."); "A rarer spirit never did steer humanity" ("Antony and Cleopatra"); "The best of all amongst the rarest of good ones" ("Cymbeline"); "You, so perfect and so peerless, are created of every creature's best" ("Tempest"). And then there are some quotations which I think we might apply to our dear friend himself. These:—"A man of sovereign parts he is esteemed" ("Love's Labour Lost"). "He did in the general bosom reign of young, of old" ("Lover's Complaint"). "Rich noble is thy merit" ("Richard II."). "Who can say more than this rich praise, that you alone are you" (Sonnet LXXXIV.).

And so we leave him.

> Out, out, brief candle!
> Life's but a walking shadow; a poor player,
> That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
> And then is heard no more.

The man has gone, but his influence remains. He has strewn daffodils in our path. And now the Great Gardener, whose works he loved, has taken him by the hand. "The eternal God is his refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

AUSTRALIA AT WAR.

MR. WISE ON IMPERIAL UNION.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Dec. 16.

The Agent-General for New South Wales read this week, at the Royal Colonial Institute, an interesting paper entitled as quoted above. After a preliminary survey of the position of the States generally in respect of the Commonwealth Constitution, and some facts as to the financial position of the State of New South Wales in particular, Mr. Wise recalled many of the events of the war with which we have been intimately concerned. Beginning with a reference to the misconception of the Germans as to Australia's loyalty, he proceeded to give a vivid account of the work of the Australian navy in the Pacific, which work, he thinks, "has not been estimated at its proper value in the rush of more exciting events on other fronts." Mr. Wise emphasised this point by claiming that the presence of the cruiser Australia in the Pacific contributed in no small degree to Admiral Sturdee's great victory off the Falkland Islands, and that the capture of the German Pacific colonies has added a substantial and valuable possession to the Empire, which he went on to say, Australia is not likely to agree to surrender.

With a brief reference to the Sydney's historic exploit, and to the valour of the Australian soldier, Mr. Wise passed on to review in detail the generosity of the people of New South Wales and the various activities in which that war-sentiment has been so eloquently expressed. That section of Mr. Wise's paper, however, was concerned with matters with which you are, of course, familiar. He followed less well-known lines in the concluding section, which was devoted to consideration of the probable position of the Dominions in the Empire of after-the-war. In that regard, indeed, of exposition of the future problems of Empire, Mr. Wise made a valuable contribution to a discussion which is already active, and must, sooner or later, become pre-eminently important.

To give the Dominions a voice in the settlement of the terms of peace is, he thinks, something, but it is not everything. A new bond of union has been created by "the association in a common cause of men from every portion of the Empire fighting side by side in victory or defeat." But to give practical effect to the new sentiment is to create difficulties "so formidable that no responsible politician would venture to propound a scheme." Thus, by an easy stage, Mr. Wise went on to suggest that the methods by which the Constitution of Australia was fashioned, methods which had to encounter and overcome difficulties at least as great, methods, in other words, by which, in spite of "the opposition and indifference of the majority of their politicians," a free people delegated to an elected convention the task of creating an instrument of government which, being created, could be accepted or rejected by that people. "Is it," asked Mr. Wise, "the dream of a visionary that a constitution for the Empire could be framed by a similar method?" and he went on to consider some of the detail of the machinery necessary to such a process.

Advocating a wide selection of representative men, a selection that would include all shades of local opinion, Mr. Wise urged that, though the union of the Empire may be the dream of the visionary, "it is certain that there is no practical method of bringing it about except by the consent of the free peoples who compose the Empire; and, except by an elected convention, there is no means of ascertaining what the views of the people are," and, picturing the effect which such a convention, assembled in Westminster Hall under the presidency of the King, would have upon the imaginations of men, an effect by virtue of which alone "three parts of the difficulty would be overcome," the speaker ended an interesting and valuable address by insisting that, at least, and as an essential requisite, "Englishmen in every portion of the globe should keep steadily before them the ideal of union, and be prepared to jettison any political opinions, and to scrap any political machinery which may stand in the way of this great consummation."

THE BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.

(BY A CORRESPONDENT.)

For how much longer are the British Solomon Islands to remain a "Protectorate"? This is a question which should be of vital interest to all of the many Australians who have money invested in that group. It is evident that the present ineffectual "Protectorate Government" must sooner or later be replaced by a legislature which will advance, not hinder, the commercial prosperity of the group. The large capital at present invested in it by the public demands it. Companies are at the present time existent, severally incorporated in the States of New South Wales, Queensland, and Victoria; and New Zealand capital, if not already invested, will probably be so invested at no distant date.

To begin with, what is a "Protectorate Government"? It is a protectorate in the sense alone (I have been informed by one of its officials) that it is a Government solely to protect the native "aboriginal population," not to protect the interests of the white planter or trader. The Group has grown out of that "Protectorate stage," and the population (white) has such large interests that they require a Government that will protect those interests—a legislature in which they as a tax-paying community will have a voice. At the present time the white population has absolutely no representation whatever.

At this time the British Solomon Islands Protectorate is in the hands of a body of Civil servants appointed by, and only responsible to, the High Commissioner (Fiji). Anything they do must have the sanction of Fiji; any important matter is forwarded there, with either favourable or unfavourable comments. But whatever question it may be, it is either allowed or refused by Fiji. All the Solomon Islands regulations are passed in Fiji, and frequently regulations are made there, and come into force here, which, looked at from a common-sense standpoint, are absolutely farcical, as far as their applicability to these islands is concerned. Probably they are very necessary in Fiji, where they are made; doubtless they have been found to have acted admirably there for years. We submit that many of these regulations that are passed there, and thrust upon us here, are given to us years before we are ready for them—not "given." I use a wrong term. I should have said "forced". Fiji seems to forget the fact that she was civilised long before this Group even had a Government at all, and it does not follow that because a regulation is satisfactory there the same regulation is going to be applicable in the Solomon Islands.

I understand that a principle of the British Constitution is, "no taxation without representation." Yet here in the Solomon Islands there is absolutely no representation at all, and plenty of taxation, some of which the taxpayers strongly object to, more especially the tax on benzine. Last year, or late the year before, a representative meeting was held at Gizo, and it was decided that two of the people present should complain to the High Commissioner (who was due shortly after on a visit to the Group), about certain regulations and taxes of which that district as a body did not approve. A letter was written to the Government asking for an appointment to meet the High Commissioner when he should be at Gizo, and a reply was received saying that he would be there on a certain date, and that he would receive the deputation. He never arrived in Gizo, and this was the last we heard of the matter.

After the declaration of the present war one might naturally suppose that some measures would have been taken to ease the strain put upon the tax-paying community by the unprecedented fall in value of copra, seeing that this is the chief export. The reverse is what actually occurred. Recruiting was immediately stopped, for the time being; but in spite of this order, which prevented employers of native labour from getting any fresh labour, they were given notice that they must pay off all labourers completing their contracts wholly in coin of the realm, and that no notes would be accepted. Until this time there had never been any question as to the legality of notes in payment for services rendered. But this was demanded just at a time when such a demand was of most serious consequence to the community. Finally, we are given officials of whom we know nothing. They can dictate to us, a tax-paying public, what we are to do, and we are at present virtually forced to accept their decisions, as our only "Court of Appeal" is Fiji, who know nothing whatever about existing circumstances in the Solomon Islands, except what they are told by the officials, whose opinion we wish to appeal against.

We maintain that the British Solomon Islands should be declared a Crown colony at no distant date. The population warrants it, as does its trade, and the time has arrived when we can justly demand to know, why have we no representation?

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE.

Two years ago the ordinary Australian reader would have refused to interest himself in the Turkish Empire, past, present, or future. To-day, however, his point of view is altered, and he will regard the publication of "The Caliph's Last Heritage," by Sir Mark Sykes, as extremely opportune. He will make certain obvious criticisms against the book because it does not gratify his curiosity in as many respects as he would like. He will regret that the author does not throw more light upon the feasibility of a Germano-Turkish thrust towards the Suez Canal or the Persian Gulf; he will wish to know a good deal more about the railway communications between Asia Minor, Syria, and Mesopotamia than Sir Mark Sykes tells him. But the captious should remember two things. In the first place, the author does not pretend to be a military geographer; in the second place, the material on which this book is based has been the fruit of a decade of travel and research, and that, though it has but now appeared in print, it really dates back to 1913. This fact, indeed, makes the author's comments and forecasts the more valuable.

"The Caliph's Last Heritage" serves a double purpose. The first half narrates in some detail the history of the Ottomans from the Sumerians down to Soleyman the Magnificent. The second half is a racy account of the author's experiences in long and unconventional journeys in the hedges and byways of Turkey in Asia. One confesses a tendency to skip and dip where the historical portion is concerned. After all, Soleyman the Magnificent has been dead a very long time, and little remains of his exploits save Turkey's last relaxing clutch on Constantinople. Turkey in Asia is natural and proper. Turkey in Europe is and has been an anachronism ever since Byzantium fell before her invading hosts. Now that the ultimate destiny of Constantinople has become a subject of international discussion and kite-flying, and inflated prophecy, it is interesting to read Sir Mark Sykes's verdict on the precise value which a European foothold has had for the Ottomans. They have held Constantinople for five centuries and a half, and for five centuries and a half it has been to them a cancer which has steadily eaten its way into their healthy nationhood.

The author's travels led him into all sorts of remote and unusual places. He seems to have preferred those where there were no roads, no maps, no foreigners, and nothing that alleviates the lot of the conventional tourist. He traversed the mountain ranges and gorges of Anatolia with the same happy insouciance as the plains of Mesopotamia. His description of Bagdad has topical interest. Bagdad was founded by a certain Caliph al Mansur, treacherous, crafty, and inconceivably cruel. Al Mansur had no illusions about the estimate in which his subjects held him, and so he took care to guard against attack from within as well as from without. The city was planned in three concentric circles of walls. In the days of its magnificence it must have been a very formidable place, and the inmost ring was practically impregnable. But Bagdad now possesses scarcely the shadow of its former greatness. It is just the ordinary slatternly, straggling Oriental town. The brick wall which at present surrounds it is rather of the nature of a pious aspiration than an adequate defence, and if the hard-pressed Tigris expedition once gets within fighting distance of Bagdad there will not be much storming to be done.

The author writes of his wanderings with a great deal of verve and a humour which must have stood him in good stead on many occasions when dragomans lost their way or suddenly discovered that they had suffered a family bereavement, or led the author's little expedition to a spot where exaggerated courtesy was the sole provender. He cherishes very friendly recollections of the Turk on his native heath, uncontaminated by foreign influences. By no means a little blind to his faults, Sir Mark Sykes can be very kind to his virtues. The grave and dignified elder who excelled in hospitality might persecute the Christians in his neighbourhood, and his profession might be that of a bandit, but he was a gentleman, and when he fought—as apart from persecuting—he would display a chivalry that was quixotic. This, of course, was in the good old days, when Abdul Hamid reigned. The author appears unexpectedly as a champion of Abdul Hamid's regime. He knew his people, and his people knew him, and things slopped along in the traditional easy fashion of the Orient. But the Young Turks introduced a new and a disastrous era. They modelled themselves on Berlin, and while they were unable to imitate the German ideals of discipline and duty they soon mastered the less admirable side of the German character. Written two years before this war, the author's observations on the Germanisation of Turkey are particularly instructive.

In the army, for instance, gone were the old, sullen war-dogs, officers risen from the ranks, who knew their men, and who had made the Turkish army, despite corruption in high places, an extremely efficient force. When this book was written they had been supplanted by popinjays, whose only qualification was that they had strutted about Berlin for a year or two—"peevish effeminate youths, whose German training amounts to no more than the assumption of a loud voice and an absolutely exasperatingly distant and violent manner when dealing with subordinates. German training was never meant for such men as the Asiatic provinces put forth. With them a rough and ready disciplinarian with energy, a commonsense disregard of unimportant details, a readiness to share hardships, and a quick gusty passion might carry Turkish soldiers anywhere; but modern Germany cannot teach these things. Her machine-made officers and her military system are inhuman, precise, bookish, and rigid—though excellent, of course, in Germany. Because they are so, they naturally appeal to the schoolboy officers in Turkey. There is so much that can be learned by mere rote and mimicry, and a little German varnish can be made to go so far. A moustache-improver, a ridiculous stiff swagger, a brusque overbearing staccato voice, can be mastered in a week, and when once mastered can be assumed when required, leaving twenty-three hours of twenty-four to idling, intriguing, and any other illicit means of wasting time that Constantinople affords." When Sir Mark Sykes made these remarks he had in mind the Balkan war of 1912, when Turkey collapsed so ingloriously. His opinion might be altered now. Perhaps the German advisers have seen the wisdom of reinstating the old try-hards and die-hards. At any rate we know too well that the Turk is no contemptible antagonist.

Much has been heard of German enterprise in Mesopotamia. The Baghdad railway—the "three B's," Berlin, Baghdad, Busra—was a favourite theme of eloquence on the part of complacent pan-German orators. Writing in 1913, Sir Mark Sykes is frankly scornful. "In effect, what is this railway?" he observes. "It has every symptom of being a Panama of the biggest and most scrambling description; immense absurd stations destined for picture postcards erected at enormous expense; iron sleepers made in Germany for a railway that passes through an opulent forest; lines laid along existing lines in order to exact some petty kilometric guarantee out of a bankrupt, starving country; millions spent in piercing tunnels through mountains in order to cross deserts and avoid the rich littoral; a thousand villainies and follies culminate in this railway; all attempt at development is neglected; all business eschewed. The only profits are those on contracts for unnecessary expenses, and on purposely extended mileage. Is this the policy of a great Empire?" The author goes on to tell how railway stations are built far beyond rail-head, in order that a German firm may reap its profit on its supply of door-handles. When he wrote, Germans seldom put in an appearance near the line. They were too busy casting up their accounts in palatial offices nearer civilisation. No wonder, concludes the author, "that Germany and Germans are hated in the plain of Adana, for the simple reason that no illiterate peasant can fail to understand that the whole thing is a fraudulent farce." So much for Teuton is in Mesopotamia. But again the author may not fully have recognised the sheep-like quality of the multitude; despite their antipathy to Germany, these peasants are now following the German lead readily enough. THE RESILIENT RUSSIAN.

"My Childhood," by Maxim Gorki, helps to explain why this writer, when casting about him for a nom de plume, chose the Russian word meaning bitter. It is the story of his life from his earliest memories to his seventeenth year, when his old grandfather turned him out to shift for himself, and a squalid, sordid story it is. Extreme poverty, dirt, cruelty, and ugliness of every sort, these are the things which he remembers as far back as recollection takes him. Beatings were part of the daily routine in his grandfather's house, which not even the adults escaped. No one had enough to eat, although most of them contrived to get drunk on occasion. Moral standards were low. Everyone eked out their livelihood by stealing, and even the children early became accomplished thieves. Theft was accounted a very venial sin, though, as in Spartan days, detection was disgraceful.

It is easy to understand how Maxim Gorky's experiences in the impressionable years have coloured his work. Indeed, it is interesting to observe how little incidents, mentioned in these pages, have furnished him with the plot or the setting of stories written long afterwards. But the record is by no means one of unrelieved squalor. The background is horrible, and the descriptions are ruthless in the savagery of their realism. Yet many of the characters are redeemed by some quality, some trait of kindliness, some half-articulate vein of poetry which emerge in the most unexpected places. It is impossible, for instance, to feel any liking for the grandfather, but one does feel a queer sort of respect for him. In the midst of their degradation these people often show that transfiguring touch of mysticism innate in the Russian peasant. They are very close to the earth, and though earth sometimes defiles, it also bears in its bosom the seeds of regeneration. And some of the personalities are remarkable. Such a one is Gorki's eccentric friend "Good Business," and such a one his old grandmother. She is the heroine of this autobiography, though seldom has there been a more improbable and withal a more picturesque heroine. Of course, she was over-fond of vodka and stole what she could. But at the sight of the splendour of a moonlight night she would weep, though she could not say why. Something "stirred in her heart." She feared nothing and no one; until Gorki was able to take care of himself (as he learned to do very effectually at an age when most children are dependent on the ministrations of a nurse), she fought for him with her hands a hundred times. She had an inexhaustible repertory of wonderful enthralling stories—folk tales which had been handed down by uncounted generations of grandmothers. She regarded her household as her sacred trust and schemed and toiled incessantly to keep it going. And though she would have denied it, she was charity incarnate; no injury so cruel, no insult so cutting, but she had forgiven it before forgiveness was asked.

There are times when Gorki wonders whether he is serving any artistic purpose in describing, in all their detail, conditions miserable and repellant as those in which his childhood was passed. Thus, after a peculiarly revolting episode, he breaks off:—"As I remember these oppressive horrors of our wild Russian life, I ask myself often whether it is worth while to speak of them, and then, with restored confidence, I answer myself, 'It is worth while, because it is actual, vile fact which has not died out even in these days—a fact which must be traced to its origin and pulled up by the root.' And there is another and more important reason impelling me to describe these horrors. Although they are so disgusting; although they oppress us and crush many beautiful souls to death, yet the Russian is so young in heart that he can and does rise above them. For in this amazing life of ours, not only does the animal side of our nature flourish and grow fat, but with this animalism there has grown up triumphant in spite of it, bright, healthful, and creative, a type of humanity which inspires us to look forward to our regeneration, to the time when we shall all live peacefully and humanely." In these words is revealed the spirit and the hope of New Russia. (Werner Laurie; Dymock's).

There is something quite out of the common in "Russian Picture Tales"—old Slavonic folk-stories, translated by M. Neville Forbes and illustrated by Miss Valery Carrick. The actors in these are all animals, each of which is endowed with certain traditional qualities. In some respects these tales recall Uncle Remus, in others Grimm. Many of these celebrate the triumphs of Mr. Fox, a profoundly unscrupulous and astute individual, who is only tolerated because at times he uses his slimness for the benefit of the peasants. The wolf, for all his strength and cunning, is no match for Mr. Fox, who humiliates him on more than one occasion. But Mr. Fox meets his Waterloo when he is outwitted and defeated in a race by the lobster. It is a delightful book, and Miss Carrick's clever drawings are thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of the original. (Blackwell and Co.)

AUSTRALIAN VERSE.

Two books of verse, "The Forerunners," by Vance Palmer, and "Shadowy Paths," by Nettie Palmer, suggest that on occasion Pegasus runs in double harness. However, the character of each is as the poles asunder, though each in its way is excellent. Mr. Vance Palmer writes almost exclusively of the bush; he knows its solitude and its savageness as well as its charm. He sometimes revolts against its spell, but again and again he yearns for its freedom, its wide spaces, its fresh magic, by which—

> The fires of youth are lit again and no one > knows he's old.

One of Mr. Palmer's most distinctive traits is his power of producing a vivid impression in a few lines. He has the faculty of imagination in its literal sense; that is to say, not only can he call up a picture before his own mental vision, but he is able to make us share it. For sheer effortless effectiveness in this connection "The Road to Roma Gaol" and "Brenede" would be hard to surpass. And in a different vein "The Pathfinders" shows that he possesses something of the vision of the seer, whilst in half a dozen of these poems the spirit of the immortal wanderer is revealed. Thus:—

> Your eyes are heavy with much weeping,
> The old earth-voices bid me stay,
> The reddened hearth and the flames leaping,
> And the child's voice at the end of the day.
> Your heart is bitter with deep caring,
> Dismayed your brown arms hold me fast,
> But I am pledged to a long faring,
> Till the dream fades and the strength's past.
> I have taken for pride the wind's daughter,
> The shining fields are hid from sight
> By dark rain and grey flood-water,
> And there's no rain at the fall of night.

Although "Shadowy Paths," by Miss Nettie Palmer, contains less of intrinsic importance than "The Forerunners," there is much in it that is distinguished by genuine charm and gracefulness. Miss Palmer's muse is not one of force, nor does she aim at the highest peaks of Parnassus. But within her limitations her verse is excellent. She brings to it a sympathy, a delicacy of feeling, and a sense of melody, and above all a tender simplicity which carry her far when more ambitious flights might have failed. Simplicity is a virtue which has to be used with discretion; otherwise it may easily become insipidity. But Miss Palmer avoids the shallows and depths alike, and steers a safe course between. The lines called "Fulfilment" are a good example of her work:—

> Nights before you came,
> (My little, little child with gentle lips),
> I had a dream of sailing ships,
> Shadow ships, lordly ships,
> And one small coracle without a name;
> I cried, "You little boat across the foam,
> Row well, row well, and bring your burden home."
> Watching open-eyed
> (My little, little child with wavering croon),
> I saw the trees that held the moon,
> April moon, Easter moon,
> And one small star she had with her beside;
> I prayed, "Great moon within the poplar tree
> Send down your star to bring my child to me."
> Now I hold you here—
> (My little, little child with hair so fine)
> Whether by dream or deed of mine,
> Child of mine, safely mine,
> You small, sweet magic in the budding year;
> No anxious longing more; lie, little head,
> Against the heart that hope-come-true has fed.

In verses such as these the author is at her best. Their very simplicity and spontaneity are the root of success, and at the same time the cause, possibly, of their inadequate appreciation. They look easy enough to write, but let anyone who thinks so try to write them. (The Euston Press.)

OUR OLD WINDSOR.

In "Early Days of Windsor" the Rev. James Steele has written an interesting account of a place peculiarly fertile in historical associations. The Green Hills, as the district was originally called, was first settled by Grose in 1794. Yearly it grew in population and size, and under Macquarie's regime became a town of considerable importance. For us who know Windsor only as a delightful old-world town, easy going and somewhat somnolent, it is difficult to realise that it was once the scene of many and busy activities. It was the third city of Australia at one time, the capital of the rich Hawkesbury Valley, a bustling port, the headquarters of a large fleet which sailed or steamed thence all round the east coast of Australia, and even to Tasmania. The Sydney road was thronged with traffic in those days. You might meet a Judge going to hold the Assise in all the panoply of scarlet and ermine; a Governor making a semi-royal progress with escort and outriders; a newly-wed couple bound for that little Richmond inn (it still stands) which was the favourite resort for honeymooners. If you were unlucky, and you were travelling at night, you ran some risk of being hailed up by bushrangers before you reached Parramatta.

These glories are faded now. The silting up of the river, which prevented vessels coming higher than Sackville, dealt a death blow to Windsor's shipping activities. New districts were opened up, and new towns grew, leaving Windsor behind. But the passage of time seems to leave Windsor unscathed and her children, too, for that matter. The Hawkesbury has always been famous for the size and longevity of its people. Probably no district in Australia contains so many of the original buildings still standing. Elsewhere these have been swept away by the ruthless march of progress; in the Hawkesbury they remain, to delight the historian and the local archeologist. The Hawkesbury, too, has been the cradle of many of those old families, scattered now over the length and breadth of Australia, the ramifications of whose mutual relationships are the despair of the genealogist. Said the bearer of a well-known name, "I could ride from the Gulf of Carpentaria to Sydney, and hardly sleep one night out of the house of a relation." The author writes about all this in an interesting fashion; he touches upon every aspect of Windsor's history, and though much of his chronicle is necessarily small beer, the value of work such as this is great. Every day authentic records of the past are becoming harder to obtain, and it is important that this fast-vanishing material should be collected before it is too late. Mr. Steele's example is one that might be followed with advantage by the historical enthusiasts of other towns. (Tyrrell's, Ltd.).

NEW NOVELS.

Those who find it difficult to follow Mr. Algernon Blackwood with a sure step on his excursions into the realms of the transcendental will nevertheless enjoy "The Extra Day" for the picture it gives of three very human and delightful children. Their world is that of their own country garden, from which the older inhabitants make mysterious departures. Their return, safe and sound, is almost more mysterious because, it is vaguely understood, they beard in its very lair a sinister monster called London. It is a proof of London's malign power that while father and Mr. Weedon, the gardener, each express sentiments of the utmost hatred towards London, neither of them for all their local omnipotence can drive it away. These people are such as we all know and understand. The Tramp and Uncle Felix (who writes novels and leads a vagabondish life) introduce a more esoteric element. The Extra Day itself arrives when Time suddenly ceased for four and twenty hours. "Moored against the walls an Extra Day lay swinging from the stars. The waves of time washed past its sides, but could not move it." In the early years of the eighteenth century the reform of the calendar dispensed with eleven days, and produced riots among the London populace, who believed that their natural span of life had been curtailed by eleven days. The addition of a day in this case produced no such untoward incidents, although the adventures of those who shared it between them are sufficiently sensational. Personally we admire most of all the precautions of Maria, who prepared for the exertions that the extra day would entail, "by eating an enormous tea, finishing up all the cakes the others neglected in their excitement." Maria is a wholly admirable young lady, who brings to proceedings a certain robust commonsense that keeps our feet on earth even though our heads are in the immeasurable ether. Mr. Blackwood's books either appeal to one or they do not. In "An Extra Day" his intention was probably to suggest something of the mystical quality that underlies the common things of daily life. Whether or no he has succeeded in conveying this to the matter-of-fact reader, he has at any rate made us the richer for knowing some charming young people. (Macmillan and Co.)

Years ago Mr. Steele Rudd wrote "On Our Selection," and all unwittingly established what has become an established literary convention, unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians. That is, that if you wish to portray the country farmer and his family you must make them behave like mountebanks at home and like imbeciles when they come to town. Surely no one believes in the reality of the extraordinary individuals we so often meet in local fiction. The man on the land is a shrewd and wideawake person; he has to be, or he would soon be the man off the land. His family are anything but gaping yokels, and when they visit the metropolis they often give points to the "smarty" of the town in savoir faire. Even we benighted metropolitans are well aware of this, yet any book that describes the countryman in terms of caricature is sure to be popular. The latest offender is Miss Summer Locke. One imagines that she wrote "Skeeter Farm" with her tongue in her cheek. If this be the tradition, she doubtless observed to herself, I will obey it to the letter. And as such things go, she has done so quite successfully. Never was rustic uncouthness so completely exhibited as in the case of Farmer Oates; never did an outback family enjoy such extraordinary adventures as when the Oateses decided to use their windfall for the purpose of travel. If broad farce and humorous exaggeration are all that we require, Miss Locke gives us full measure flowing over. In fact, she has out-heroded Herod. One could wish that Miss Locke had turned her undoubted talents to better account. It is high time that the absurd convention that the countryman metaphorically wears straws in his hair, was exploded. Or if that is too much to hope for, let us hope that someone in the country will arise to establish a similar literary convention in the treatment of the townsman from home. (N.S.W. Bookstall.)

If the picture on the cover of "Men I have Proposed to," by Miss Marie E. Lloyd, is to be taken as a test, it means that her heroine must have been extremely undiscriminating in the objects of her attentions. Never was a more miscellaneous crowd of nondescripts between the serried ranks of which Nesta passes with an air of ineffable disdain. Nesta believed that the art of proposing was a lost one; she determined to revive it and goes straight ahead. "I was soon engaged to Trevor Davis, Mat Graham, and Fred Duncan each in turn. But I found that Trevor was already engaged, Mat had secretly married, and Fred was going to the war in Europe (sic). I engaged and disengaged myself with great enthusiasm to Peter Webster with the large mysterious mouth, to Robert Carroll who talked with his eyes half mast and his whiskers waving, and to lanky Tom Perkins." And so on and so on and so on. With a sigh of relief we learn at last that Nesta has been captured by a faithful fowl fancier. One can only reiterate the ancient subterfuge: Those who care for this sort of thing will like this book. (Edwards, Dunlop.)

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

A few months before the grey mists of death closed in upon him the late George Sutton Titheradge was reminiscent in regard to the London Comedy Company, which has a fixed place in the history of the Australian stage. Engaged in Sydney by Mr. Arthur Garner, who brought the rest of the company, including the first-class scenic artist, Mr. George Gordon, from England, Mr. Titheradge blended personal candour with "expert criticism" in his review of what was attempted and achieved here by the enterprising actor-manager in 1880. While acknowledging that the man who formed and directed the London Comedy Company had revolutionised the style of producing plays in this part of the world, the popular appraisement of Garner and his associates as "the finest company ever seen in Australia," was whistled down the wind.

"With the exception of our principal comedian, Frederick Marshall," said Mr. Titheradge, "there was not one first-class player in the company. The great success of the Arthur Garner season was largely due to the admirable work of the scenic artist, to the completeness of the stage furnishings, and to the ease and naturalness of the acting. From the standpoint of dramatic art the company made its reputation on the evenness of the combination work—the result of painstaking rehearsals, and playing constantly together. Save that Frederick Marshall excelled through the sheer force of his extraordinary talent, there was no star in the company."

Above the suspicion of mock modesty, Mr. Titheradge's "reserved judgment" will be endorsed by those Sydney playgoers who saw the performances of the London Comedy Company at the Theatre Royal. The mounting was the thing that took everyone by surprise. For the first time in the history of the stage in Australia a room was set as if the auditorium formed the fourth wall. The old-fashioned wings were done away with, and, novelty of novelties, a counterfeit ceiling was seen. The doors and windows were the genuine articles; likewise, the mantelpieces, gas fittings, and all the other "appointments." In addition, there was a new system of lighting, to set off George Gordon's cunningly-designed and beautifully-painted scenery. The standard which was set five and thirty years ago by the London Comedy Company in the production of plays and in stage management may be said to have marked the transition in Australia from "bare boards and make-shift scenery" to the "sumptuous settings" which are now looked for here, even in the commonest brands of farce comedy.

What was commenced in genuine comedy by Arthur Garner was continued by the Brough and Boucicault management, and by the late Robert Brough, while he had his own company. Fred Marshall died soon after the London Comedy Company was disbanded. The great comedian opened the Gaiety Theatre in Castlereagh-street (now the Southern Cross Hall and Catholic Club) on Boxing Day, 1880, with a version of "The Old Curiosity Shop," in which he appeared as Quilp—a masterly character study, and a wonderful "make up." Marshall toured Australia with "Quilp" and a few light comedies. Then the dark curtain was rung down on a comparatively young man, who is supposed to have overtaxed mind and body playing the part of the fiendish dwarf. Mrs. Titheradge appears to be the only survivor of the fine "combination team" which was headed in 1880 by Fred Marshall. Blanche Stammers, Annie Taylor, Frank Cates, and Edward Marshall died in Australia. George Gordon also ended his days here, and his talented son, John Gordon, for some years principal scenic artist of the Williamson management, passed away about the time of Mr. J. C. Williamson's death.

Mr. George Anson, who was associated with the late Mr. Titheradge in the Brough and Boucicault Company, celebrated his 50th year as an actor in December last. The best "Old Eccles" of the Australian stage is now in the United States—"hale and hearty," as he wrote in a letter which was received last week by a friend in Sydney. A son of the well-preserved English comedian was a member of the Oscar Asche Company in Australia.

Far from the sunshine and sport of his native land Mr. W. S. Percy is being well-tried as a comedian under war conditions, in the old country. In a letter to hand this week Mr. Percy writes:—"With Zeppelins overhead and bombs going off London isn't a bit like dear old Sydney. I am getting along slowly, but surely. A sketch of mine has been running over a year. Blanche Browne and I are working together at the Oxford in the farcical comedy revue 'Who's Who?' Miss Browne often speaks of Australia. Fred Leslie is going into pantomime at Leeds. There seems to be no end to the popularity of the revue. It is to be found at the Garrick, the Comedy, the Ambassadors, and both the Aldwych and the Playhouse are to follow. Some species of revue is being served up in nearly all the London and provincial variety houses."

Eleonora de Cisneros, who appeared in Sydney with the Melba Grand Opera Company, and who was very successful as Ortrud in "Lohengrin," has added another Wagnerian role to her repertory. Early in December last the statuesque mezzo soprano sang the part of Fricka in "The Walkure," at the Auditorium, Chicago, in place of Madame Schumann-Heink. Then, after singing Azucena in "Il Trovatore", she was one of the cast of five at the first American performance of Saint-Saens' mythological opera "Dejanire," under the conductorship of Signor Cleofonte Campanini. With Hercules as the hero the opera was a failure in Chicago on December 9, as it had been at Monte Carlo in 1911, and at the Opera House, Paris, in 1912.

Francie Adler, granddaughter of Fanny Simonsen, a prima donna of the W. S. Lyster days, is now a prominent figure in the front rank of American operatic artists. A minor member of the Williamson Comic Opera Company in Carrie Moore's time, the go-ahead Australian is now "on the bills" as Madame Frances Alda. In private life she is Madame Gatti-Casazza, wife of the manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. In Chicago during the month of December Madame Alda was praised for her singing in "Manon" and "La Boheme" with Caruso. "One of the best exhibitions of bel canto heard on the stage for many a day," is chronicled in connection with the appearance of the Australian singer as Micaela in "Carmen." Mr. Graham Marr, of the last Quinlan Opera Company's Australian tour, appeared as Manfredo in "L'Amore dei Tre Re," by Montemezzi. Carl von Cochems, another Quinlan man, sang Fafner in "Rheingold." Miss Felice Lyne, also of the disbanded Quinlan company, is credited with successful appearances at the Boston Opera House as Marguerite in "Faust," and Gilda in "Rigoletto."

Two Australian pianists, Percy Grainger and Ernest Hutcheson, have been winning more than ordinary praise in the United States. In December Mr. Hutcheson, at a concert at the Aeolian Hall, New York, played three concertos—M'Dowell in D minor, Tchaikowsky in B flat minor, and Liszt in E flat major. The distinguished pianists present included Harold Bauer, Katharine Goodson, Percy Grainger, Josef Hofman, and Leopold Godowsky. Percy Grainger is "well booked" for the 1916 season.

Mr. Thomas W. Churchill, president of the Board of Education, according to a New York paper, December 16, made a speech in which he condemned many current theatrical productions. Mr. Churchill complained that "it is nowadays unsafe for a father to take his child to the theatre." He referred to some musical comedies as "nothing but pools of pollution, ornamented with twinkling and sweetly seductive music. They are breeders of vice. Their influence upon the rising generation is abominable. As a citizen of this community and a father of children I, for one, call upon the authorities of the city of New York to cleanse the theatre without delay."

HORACE GOES WEST.

(BY "BONDI.")

Private R., in his interesting "War Memories," in the "Herald" of Saturday last, describes Horace as a native of the Castlereagh district, but many know him better as a native of Bondi. What frequenter of Bondi is there who has not seen the familiar figure of Horace on the beach? How clearly one can see the figure of Horace before him, clad, as was his practice, in his short whites and sweater. We can see him even now plunging into the surf, and his cry of "Lovely day" is still ringing in our ears. Yes, everyone remembers poor old Horace, the man "who always wore a bandage round his leg." To those who knew him more intimately (they were many, Horace saw to that) he was not only a "beach-comber," but the Mark Tapley of Bondi. He was full of fun and frolic, and had remarkable genius for repartee. He would say the most amusing things with the result that those around him were generally convulsed with laughter. He had succeeded in bringing to a fine art the practice of "leg-pulling." To the stranger on the tram Horace would represent himself now as a builder, now as an outback station-owner on a holiday, now as the proprietor of the Bondi chairs, or whatever he felt inclined to imagine himself. A friend next to Horace would be convulsed with laughter, but Horace would present a solemn, serious face to his attentive listener. For the last seven years Horace had "mooched" through life. Most of his time he spent on the beach doing odd jobs now and then, but all the time, wherever he was, looking on the bright side of things. In fact, his one ambition seemed to be to make those around him see the bright side of life, and he loved to see the laughing faces of his listeners.

Although Horace seemed to live without working, still one never heard a word against his character. He lived as he felt inclined to, but he lived honestly. "Horace would never do anyone harm," was the general verdict of all who knew him. Then came a change in the life of Horace, the call to arms was sounded, and he answered the call. He, who spent the last seven years of his life by the surf gave it up (no one but Horace knows what a sacrifice this was to him) and rallied to the colours. He gave up the long delightful days of sunshine, the good shoots and the thousand other joys so dear to the heart of the surfer. From Private R's account we see that Horace continued to realise his one ambition amid the roar of shells and the rattle of rifle fire. Through the long hours of waiting at Suvla Bay he joked with his comrades as only Horace could joke. Right to the last moment when he was giving his life he remained a cheerful joker, and Horace the Mark Tapley of Bondi became Horace the Mark Tapley of Suvla Bay. The beach looks lonely without Horace now; we miss his cheerful face and merry laugh. But let us remember "Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori," and keep in mind how glorious was the death of Horace. Let all who feel as I do say with me peace to the memory of Horace Dale, who laid down his life so that future generations of Australians might enjoy the surf he so much loved.

THE WAR SPIRIT.

ACROSS DUTCH FRONTIER.

SOLDIERS HATE GERMANS.

Holland has been transformed. Out of the quaint land of eighteen months ago—its very name a synonym for peace—has been evolved an alert nation, fairly bristling with military preparedness and efficiency (writes Gordon Bruce to the New York "Tribune").

Indications of the great change are everywhere. From the Belgian frontier to the Hook of Holland are soldiers and more soldiers. Barracks have sprung up in all towns of importance. Aviation bases have been established, and munitions making is proceeding at top speed.

The men who make up the army of 400,000 men present splendid appearance. Their slate-coloured uniforms are neat and attractive. They appear to fine advantage on parade, and there is a snap and go about every movement. "The Dutch army," which in the past has carried little inspiration, is now an organisation not to be despised.

"We have been amazed at the progress our men have made in their year of training," a military captain told me. We were standing at a little station on the Belgian border at the time. "You should have seen these men when we mobilised. Sloppy would be your word for it. They slouched about and had no soldierly instincts.

"But now—well, we have to watch them closely in order to preserve our neutrality. A certain amount of military spirit seems to have come to them with the hard training we have given them. We have to change these frontier guards continually to avoid trouble with those fellows over there," and he indicated with a wave of the hand the German lines only a few score yards away.

According to this officer the ill-feeling between the Dutch and German troops is so great that on one occasion it became necessary to disarm an entire regiment until another could be substituted.

The border regiments have had a dull time of it, and almost anything in the line of excitement would be welcome. I was told by another officer that the approach of German aeroplanes and Zeppelins is hailed with joy by the Dutch gunners, and that as soon as the craft are within range they begin to bombard them at once, whether or not the invader is over Dutch territory. They can't wait.

Amusing incidents are told by the frontier guards of the rush into Holland of the Belgian civilians and soldiers at the time Antwerp fell.

"Bird cages—some empty and others containing canaries or parrots—violins and cats seemed to be the chief burdens of the refugees," one guard said. "They came pouring in upon us by the hundreds of thousands. The tragic part of it was that, try as we would, it was impossible to feed them at once. For instance, one village of 800 inhabitants suddenly found itself with a population of 48,000, and you can see what that meant.

BELGIANS INTERNED BY ERROR.

"Some of the Belgian troops who are now interned here came through error. The retreat from Antwerp was more of a parade than anything else. More than 15,000 Belgians marched over our border with flags flying and bands playing before they realised where they were. Of course, they had to stay here. We are entertaining about 35,000 Belgian soldiers now, in addition to numbers of French, German, and British troops."

There is one British soldier whom the Dutch are not entertaining, however, according to the authorities and accounts printed in the newspapers of Holland. He is an aviator who made a forced landing on the wrong side of the international fence. For many months he partook of Dutch bounty, under guard most of the time, for he refused to give an unlimited parole.

When he desired to go to Amsterdam or other neighbouring cities he would sign a parole agreeing not to attempt to escape for a certain number of hours. A few days ago he scribbled out one of the familiar forms and disappeared. He did not return.

Instead, from the British coast came a message to the Government of the Netherlands, thanking the officials for their kind treatment and for a safe journey home. Then it was discovered that his parole slip read: "I will not promise not to try to escape," etc.

The telegram was printed, with an account of the escape, in the leading papers. The Dutch do not consider that the insertion of the word "not" voided the parole. They look upon the affair as a trick, and feel that the young man should be sent back to his internment, as was the French aviator, Gilbert, when he escaped from Switzerland a few months ago.

The Dutch have absorbed the lessons of the war in many vital respects. For example, they realise the futility of fortresses, and it is said that most of these have been dismantled. Adepts at ditch digging, they have furrowed the country with criss-cross lines of trenches, artfully disguised.

RECRUITING BY POSTER.

One of the novelties of the war has been the issue of millions of posters appealing for recruits in the United Kingdom. In the first nine months of the war over 3,000,000 posters were printed. The cost of the printing was £7750. Leaflets totalling 22,000,000 in number were also used to stimulate recruiting. To a smaller extent the same thing has been done in Australia.

THE CHURCHES.

SOCIAL REFORM.

A vigorous appeal for greater activity in social reform was made by Archdeacon Boyce in a recent pulpit address. He characterised certain flagrant evils now rife as cancerous sores, badly affecting the health of the body politic. These were questions that belonged to these war times ever more than other times, as right-living and national efficiency were ever of vital consequence. They should be vigorously on the warpath against impurity. Sections of the stage were going back to a century and over, and showing indecencies and making light of immorality. Some picture shows were doing much the same, and certain books banned by the chief libraries in London were freely sold. This was a rapidly-growing public danger, and meant a lessened birth-rate and national decay. It all helped to lower the moral tone of the population. He appealed to every father and mother to stand for the pure and true. Sport need not cease because of the war, but let it be clean. The gambling spirit should be fought in every form. Drink was still the right hand of sin and the origin of countless woes. The present year would be important, and the local option bill would come at about its end. That, with the urgent need of early closing of bars, like shops, meant a great and, he believed, memorable campaign. Every man and woman should study the liquor question, and earnestly join in the conflict. Temperance people were described as a few extremists. Was this right? Rather over 36 per cent. in the aggregate of the votes in the last poll were for no-license, so if only that 14 per cent. of those who voted for public-houses changed their minds there would have been a majority in this State for closing every bar. The fine examples of the permanent reforms in Russia, France, and Italy should appeal to every citizen who did his own thinking. These were some of the problems that met them in this new year. Let them face them as Christian people and patriots.

ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY.

Arrangements have been made by the Church of England Men's Society for the commemoration on Sunday week of the first Christian service held in Australia by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, in February, 1788. An open-air service will be held on Macquarie-place after a procession from the Cathedral, which will start at 2.45 p.m. sharp. The principal address will be delivered by Bishop Radford, of Goulburn, and the Rev. E. H. Lea, rector of St. Mark's, Darling Point. The massed choirs will be conducted by Mr. J. Massey. Two bands will also be in attendance.

SCOTS CHURCH.

The annual meeting of Scots' Church Church Hill, was held on Thursday evening. The secretary (Mr. Leslie W. Craw), in a review of the progress of the Church, said:—"During the year the congregations have increased, so that very often in the evening, for the first time in the history of the Church, the seats in the galleries are largely occupied. This fine old Church has many points of interest. It is not generally known nowadays that the convicts used to be marched up to the services on Sunday mornings and occupy the seats in the gallery, whilst the soldiers in uniform stood at attention, forming two lines at the approach to the church as the prisoners entered. It is also the oldest Presbyterian church in Sydney, and from it has sprung the great Presbyterian cause in New South Wales. During the last year the building has been thoroughly renovated and improved, and is now able to hold about 1000 people. One new feature that has been much appreciated is the 'Order of service' sheet, and particularly the message thereon, specially written by the Minister each week."

Archbishop Wright is still staying at Berrima.

The Bishop of Newcastle left on a fortnight's visit to Tasmania this week. He will return in time to take part in the preparations for the meeting of the diocesan synod, which will take place at the end of February.

The Rev. W. A. Fletcher, who has completed three years' work at Darwin, N.T., was due to leave there last week, and will return to the parish of All Saints', Petersham, with charge of the district church of S. Augustine, where he worked previously. The Rev. Cyril Massie reached Darwin a week before Mr. Fletcher left.

The Rev. Alexander Greville, of the diocese of Grafton, who has just enlisted, has a brother at the front, and is a brother of the curate of St. James' Church. Their mother, who died only a short time ago, was a great church worker and a daughter of the late Archdeacon Gunther, of Mudgee.

Father Richard Murphy, S.J., has been transferred to Melbourne. He will be on the staff of St. Ignatius Church, Richmond.

Father J. O'Connell, Toowoomba, who has been on an extended visit to Europe, left Ireland on Saturday, 15th inst., on his return to Australia.

In connection with the Marist Brothers' Society the Rev. Brother Clement, Provincial of the Australasian Province, has made the following appointments:—Rev. Brother George M.A., of Auckland, is to assume the inspectorship of the Brothers' schools and colleges in Australia; Brother Joseph, B.A., has been appointed director of the Brothers' College at Glenelg, Adelaide, S.A.; the term of office of Brother Osmond, B.Sc., director of the Brothers' High School at Darlinghurst, has been renewed. Brother Paulinus has been appointed director of Assumption College, Kilmore, Vic.; Brother Benignus, director of Sacred Heart College, Auckland, and Brother Alphonsus, director of the Brothers' College in Fiji.

The Rev. S. J. Hoban, superintendent of the Central Methodist Mission, who has been in Victoria for some weeks, will return to Sydney with his family next Saturday.

The Rev. E. G. Neil, of the Methodist Mission in Samoa, arrived in Sydney on Thursday. He will spend his furlough in Adelaide.

A new Methodist church has been built at Waitara, and a new preaching-place opened at Kuring-gai. The new church at Wahroonga is to be opened early in April, and a tender has been accepted for the erection of a church at Killara.

At the ensuing Methodist Conference in Victoria the Rev. Dr. W. H. Fitchett will complete the jubilee of his ministry, and the Rev. Samuel Knight will have his diamond jubilee.

The sittings of the Methodist Conference will begin on the evening of Tuesday, February 29, at 7 o'clock, in the Lyceum Hall. Interest will gather as usual around the election of president. So far, only one name is mentioned in that connection.

In the death of Rev. Thomas Grove, the Methodist Church of Victoria has lost one of the most respected and useful of its senior ministers. He entered the ministry in 1864, and won a high place in the esteem of all who knew him for his work as minister and pastor. Mr. Grove was president of the Victorian and Tasmanian Wesleyan Methodist Church before Methodist union. He retired from active ministry seven years ago. His eldest son is Rev. J. W. Grove, M.A., LL.B., of the Methodist Church, Launceston.

The annual meeting of the Methodist Foreign Mission Board commences on Wednesday afternoon. Representatives from all the States and from New Zealand will be present.

The Crookwell Methodist Church celebrates its jubilee during the third week in February. The Rev. H. Wiles, who was stationed in Crookwell in 1866 (50 years ago) will preach, as also the Rev. H. Worrall, of Victorian repute, who was connected with Crookwell in his early days. The Rev. J. E. Carruthers, D.D., will preach on the second Sunday of the celebrations, and Mr. James, M.L.A., a son of a former Crookwell minister, will also take a prominent part. The Rev. F. Reginald Swyny is the present minister.

The Rev. E. L. Coulter, of the Redfern Congregational Church, left last Wednesday on a holiday visit to Tasmania.

The Rev. H. M. Riley, who is taking up work at the military camps, was farewelled at Eccleston, Munni, and other townships in his charge.

The Rev. D. T. Whalley, of Bunbury, Western Australia, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Port Adelaide Congregational Church, and will begin his ministry there next month.

Mr. James E. Thomas, who for the past 10 years has been pastor of the Grote-street Church of Christ, Adelaide, has received an invitation from the congregation of the Lygon-street Church, Carlton, Victoria.

The Christian Endeavour Union has decided to celebrate Endeavour Day this year with a special thanksgiving and inspirational service in the Burton-street Tabernacle next Wednesday evening. The president, the Rev. W. Lamb, will be in the chair. There will be special items by the convention choir, and an address by the Rev. Harold Wheen.

The Bible is printed in 480 languages, and the stock at the Sydney Bible House comprises 150 languages. During the past six months Bibles in 38 languages have been sold over the counter, including Russian, Italian, Gaelic, Welsh, Hebrew, Norwegian, Spanish, Dutch, Flemish, Cantonese, Maltese, Hindi, Danish, Maori, and Syrian.

Writing under date of December 21, a Canadian correspondent says:—"The Presbyterian congregations of the Dominion have voted on the proposal of Church Union with the Methodists and Congregationalists by separate votes of elders, communicants, and adherents, with the result that so far as reported to date, the returns not being all in yet, though the voting is closed, with only 27 out of 76 presbyteries to hear from, the majority for union is 22,703, a vote of three to two in favour of union. Winnipeg is the only large presbytery yet to be heard from, and it will likely give a large vote for union. In the 49 which have returned their votes are 1198 congregations, of which 846 gave majorities for union.

The theological hall committee of the Presbyterian Church of New South Wales, at its meeting on Tuesday, had before it several letters from students asking for advice about enlistment. The following resolution was carried unanimously:—"The committee points out that at the request of the military authorities the Church has supplied a number of ministers to act as chaplains with the forces, and the places of these must be filled; also many home missionaries and students have enlisted; but the committee desires to inform any other students who feel called upon to enlist that, so far as the Church is concerned, they are free to do so with the goodwill of the Church, and without violating any obligation they may feel themselves under to the committee."

Mr. J. Gardiner, of the China Inland Mission, who has been spending his furlough in Victoria, will leave on his return to his station by the St. Albans to-day.

Miss Booth is, after 25 years' service in China in connection with the China Inland Mission, acting as secretary of the Ashfield Y.W.C.A.

The annual ceremony of placing a wreath upon the stone erected at Scots Church in memory of the members of the Scottish Rifles who lost their lives during the South African War, will take place to-morrow. Old members of the Scottish Rifles are taking part in the ceremony, and will appear in review order. A parade of the Presbyterian members of the A.I.E.F., now in training, will be held at the same time. They will march to Scots Church headed by the Highland Society's Pipe Band.

On Anniversary Day the workers of the Open Air Gospel Mission conducted a campaign at Manly. The gathering for prayer and conference was held in the Congregational Church from 11.30 to 1 o'clock. Mr. R. Hickson, president of the mission, led the meeting; and there were present, amongst others, the Rev. A. R. Shaw and J. Dunkley. Addresses were delivered by the chairman and Mr. G. E. Ardill. During the afternoon a meeting was held on the reserve at South Steyne, which was led by the secretary, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. A. R. Shaw, and Messrs. W. Hill, D. Simpson, J. Key, G. E. Ardill, jun., and the president. The usual summer campaign is being continued each Tuesday and Thursday evening.

At a meeting of the committee of the Mission Zone, held last week, Archdeacon Gunther presiding, it was reported that during the past month the agents had paid 2275 visits, the greater portion being to non-churchgoers. They had also given 25 lessons in the Public schools, taken part in 56 special services, of which 19 were in factories and 17 in the open air, all this being in addition to the ordinary work in the churches and Sunday-schools, and in the work of parochial organisations. The report was considered very satisfactory by the committee.

"GASSED."

AUSTRALIAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. J. Corbett, of 11A Selwyn-street, Paddington, has five sons, a son-in-law, and five daughters serving their King at the war. One son holds a commission, one left here as an Imperial reservist on the outbreak of war to rejoin his regiment—the 2nd Duke of Wellington's—and the others joined as privates. His daughters are nurses of the Red Cross Society working in France, or in base hospitals in England.

Private H. Corbett, the Imperial reservist, who left here in August, 1914, writing to his father from Hereford, England, states that he has been a victim of German kultur. In the course of his letter he writes:—"My first position was at Ypres. Nothing unusual occurred there—just ordinary trench work, until the great battle of Hill 60. The 13th Brigade was the brigade allotted to take Hill 60, after successful mining and blowing up of the German parapets. The different regiments taking part were the Royal West Kent, the King's Own Scottish Borderers, the Yorkshire Light Infantry and the Duke of Wellington's. The Royal West Kents made the attack, suffering heavy losses. They were supported by the King's Own Scottish Borderers, who also lost heavily, and were relieved in turn by the 2nd Duke of Wellington's. The latter made a successful charge, supported by the Yorkshire Light Infantry, and took the German trenches. The artillery fire from the Germans was extremely heavy when we came to close quarters, but rather than face our cold steel the Germans evacuated their trenches. We held the position till May 29, when the Germans attempted to recover the position by foully gassing our boys. They succeeded in getting into a great portion of our trench, because many of our men were rendered helpless by the gas, but the others manfully held on till support came.

"We suffered dreadfully from this poison—the chloride gas which the Germans pumped into our trenches"—continued the writer. "The scenes of agony were horrible to behold, and if only the young manhood of the Empire could have looked on, it would have made their blood boil, and make them come and take revenge for such dastardly acts. The gas that we use against the Germans simply stupefies for the time being, and has no permanent damaging effect on the constitution, but the German gas is totally different. Previous to being gassed myself I was strong physically, but now I am a physical wreck, although I escaped the German shot and shell."

IN FRANCE.

APPRECIATION OF AUSTRALIA.

A Sydney lady has recently received a letter from a friend who is living in France at Aix in Provence. The following extract quoted from the letter will show how widespread is the appreciation of the effort made by the Australian people on behalf of our Allies who are suffering such hardships through the war. The writer is a widow, whose only son is at the front:—"Yes, indeed, Australia is doing wonders! The 'Petit Marseillais' of the 8th instant gave us details as to the distribution of the money collected in Sydney on Allies' Day. It seemed to me a huge sum, but I could not readily compute the amount, for Marcel is not here to turn pounds into francs for me. I could so easily have done this once, but, since the war, there are empty spaces in my brain, and things I cannot remember. Still I can see that you have done very wonderful things. How admirable every one is—the soldiers by their courage, their determination to win, other folks by their ready help to relieve misfortune. How noble is our France too, in the midst of her grief, and how plucky Servia, after heroic Belgium, showing us the way, by her stubborn defence of her liberty."

CRICKET AND WAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Apropos of the desire of certain cricketers for dressing accommodation on Moore Park, the usual sneers were made at cricketers "who ought to be in khaki"—so the aldermen said. May I ask why is there this perpetual gibing at cricketers and swimmers and tennis players, whilst spectators at prize fights or horse races are allowed to pass by without comment? One of Mr. Holman's recruiting placards was, "This is not the time for football and tennis" (I suppose "cricket" has to be substituted now), but from Mr. Holman's attitude it is the time for "horse racing, prize fighting, and drinking." The cricketers, footballers, and swimmers participate in a rational, healthy, and manly recreation, which cannot be said of followers of the other things I have named. The first-mentioned have enlisted in large numbers. What about the pugilists and racing men? I am, etc.,

CHAPTER XXIII.—Continued.

"Why not?" the answering thought came quickly, "why not? She is mine. She has promised. The other man is only a friend. He is going away, she may forget him. In time your image will blot out his. Take what is yours with an easy conscience."

His image blot out the image of Geoffrey Marstead? Involuntarily he turned from the window, and glanced into the mirror above the mantelpiece, and beside his own sallow face, with its many lines, its deeply sunken eyes, its weak mouth, there seemed to rise the strong and manly features of the other man. Could he ever deceive himself into supposing that the girl who had looked into Marstead's blue eyes, the girl who was learning to love Marstead's steadfast nature, would ever allow his image to blot out Marstead in her heart?

Very likely that was all true, and yet he could not give her up!

Of what use would it be if he did make such a tremendous sacrifice? Marstead was only a friend of Meg; he was in no sense posing as a lover; he had no dim idea that the girl was beginning to care for him. True. But setting aside Marstead altogether, he himself knew that Meg was only marrying him out of the tenderness and pity of her tender heart. She did not love him in the right way, she did not love him as a husband ought to be loved. With wearisome repetition that same thought persisted, and through it all, like a thread of gold in a texture of grey, ran another reflection.

"If you really love her, you will think not of your hapiness, but of hers—only of hers." And into his mind there swung some other words which haunted him with endless persistence.

"Love seeketh not her own. . Love never faileth."

CHAPTER XXIV.

IN A TRAP.

"Why can't you be frank with me, mother? I am not a fool; I can see something is upsetting you badly. Why not let me help you with it? Why can't you be frank?"

Betty Tredway spoke brusquely, with characteristic decision, and in her eyes as they glanced at Mrs. Tredway there was a flash of scorn. The elder woman sat crouched down in the armchair in her boudoir, a letter crushed in her hand, her face white and despairing, her glance that of a hunted animal.

"You don't know what you are talking about, Betty." Her voice shook. "I am only—it is only—a little business matter that bothers me; nothing about which you need go into heroics. If any one heard you they would suppose I had committed a crime. You need not make such a fuss."

"Well, something has gone very wrong," Betty commented, bluntly, "and it certainly must be more than Connie's abominable behaviour which has put you in such a state of mind."

"Connie's behaviour was a terrible blow, a terrible blow," the other woman said, slowly, with a repetition of the last words which added to their force. "I always knew she was heartless, but I did not think she would have treated either Geoffrey Marstead or me as she did."

"You spoilt her," Betty answered, tersely. "You always let her think she could have whatever she wanted the first instant she wanted it; therefore, you can hardly be surprised that when she saw somebody she fancied more than Geoffrey, she should have chucked Geoffrey away for the sake of her new toy. But it isn't Connie that has made you look as if you had seen a whole army of ghosts; something else has given you a much worse shock. Why don't you tell me what it is? I tell you I am not a fool, and I can bear unpleasant blows. Perhaps I could help you."

"Help?" The cry broke involuntarily from Mrs. Tredway's lips. She looked at her daughter almost wildly. "There is no help. I mean"—she corrected herself quickly—"there is no question of help. Things"—she seemed to frame her words with difficulty—"things will right themselves. These business worries always do."

"I can't think why you don't speak the truth," Betty said, with a sharp accent of scorn. "There's something as wrong as wrong can be. I am sure of it, and you know I am sure of it. You show it in every line of your face, in every word you say. What's the good of pretending things, and trying to hide the truth? You've never cared for me; all your love was piled upon Connie, who wasn't worth it. All the same, I am your daughter, and I should like to help you, and I'm sorry for you."

"Sorry for me? Oh, my God!" The strained tension of Mrs. Tredway's face broke up. She flung out her hands with a gesture that seemed to be one of appeal, then dropped her head into them, and broke into a storm of sobs.

"I am the most wretched woman in the world," she panted out. "Everything goes against me, everything has always gone against me; and now I am caught in a trap and I can't get out. I tell you I can't get out." She spoke with a sudden fierceness, lifting her head, brushing the tears from her eyes, and looking at Betty with a glance that was half defiant, half miserable.

"Are you in somebody's power?" Betty asked shrewdly. "If you are, why can't you shake yourself free?"

"Shake myself free?" The wretched woman laughed, a shrill, mirthless laugh. "You talk as if it were merely a question of brushing off a wasp, instead of which I am held in a vyce, and there is no escape—none."

"Do you owe money?" Betty said, in puzzled tones, with a lively recollection of the many debts which had been the nightmare of her mother's existence. "You've got out of money difficulties before, surely you can get out of them again? Or is it worse than that?"

Again Mrs. Tredway's laugh, dreadful in its mirthfulness, rang round the room, and Betty looked at her uneasily.

"Mother! don't laugh like that," she exclaimed. "It hurts something inside me to hear you laugh. I wish Meg was still here. She could help you better than I can; there is something about Meg that is so strong. But we must not call her Meg any more; she is Marjory now."

"She is wise." Mrs. Tredway spoke almost feverishly. "Although she is very young, only a bit of a girl, she is so wise. I wish she were here now. Not that she could do anything," she added, her voice dropping again into despair. "Besides which, she won't care to have anything more to do with us, now that she is so rich and important—now that she has accepted the Marstead millions; she will despise us—and probably cut us altogether."

"Marjory is not the sort of girl to throw over her friends, even if she were a thousand times richer than she is," Betty said indignantly. "And, though Connie treated her like a dog, and you weren't particularly good to her, I believe she would be just as ready to help you as if you had made her life here a paradise. She's a perfect dear, through and through. It's a pity Geoffrey Marstead doesn't see it, and make her take him as well as his millions. Why, mother, what is the matter?" Betty's sentence ended with the startled question, as she saw an expression of horror cross her mother's face, saw a great fear in Mrs. Tredway's eyes, which were turned towards the slowly-opening door, to the man who stood on the threshold.

CHAPTER XXV.

"THIS IS THE END."

"Who are you? And why have you come?" It was Betty who stepped towards the stranger and asked these questions. Mrs. Tredway had sunk back into her chair with a look of such abject terror, as sent a thrill of pity to her young daughter's heart.

Matthew Drake stood just within the doorway, a curiously sinister smile upon his lips, a strange light in his eyes. Something in their expression made Betty brace herself up with a sudden sense of danger.

"Who am I?" the visitor said slowly, and the chuckle with which he spoke chilled Betty's blood. "And why have I come? She knows who I am, and she could tell you why I've come." He nodded his head towards Mrs. Tredway with a sort of mocking solemnity. "She's afraid of me, and I don't wonder, because I've come to kill her if she doesn't do what I wish."

A sharp cry escaped from Mrs. Tredway's lips, but Betty, with a calmness born of a lightning flash of intuition, remained standing in front of Drake, her eyes fixed on his eyes, which shifted uneasily beneath her glance.

"How very interesting," she said, in quiet, almost nonchalant tones. "And did you tell the parlour-maid that when she admitted you?"

"Oh, no, I didn't." Drake chuckled again. "I'm not such a fool as you might think. I know what I'm about. I've always known my way round. I told her I was a very near relation, and she needn't trouble to come upstairs with me. I knew the way to this drawing-room of yours, didn't I, Lou?" And again he turned towards the trembling woman on the chair, and leered at her significantly. "And I've made it plain now why I've come again. It's going to be neck or nothing this time—neck or nothing."

How and when had this man come into her mother's boudoir before? The thought ran swiftly through Betty's brain, whilst her eyes remained steadily fixed on the stranger's face, and aloud she said firmly, but still quite gently:

"You have made it quite plain what is your object in coming here to-day. But before you do anything further, would you mind just telling me why you want to kill my mother?"

We will show you how to get extra bedrooms at a nominal cost by using OSCILLATING PORTAL WALL BEDS.

They make every bedroom a sitting-room. Our beds can be built in the wall both for in and out door sleeping. 300 of our beds are installed in the Temperance and General Residential Flats, corner of Elizabeth and Park streets, and in an instant beds, bedclothes, etc., disappear. We are now fitting up our beds in many fashionable establishments. Our beds pay for themselves in a few months. No vacant rooms with our system.

No fluff, dust, or dirt can accumulate under our beds.

Write for our illustrated pamphlet of Flats and Bungalow Plans, and see how to get the most out of your floor space.

Of interest to Architects, Builders, Estate Agents, Speculators, and those contemplating building. Just imagine a full-size double steel and malleable iron bed revolves in 22 inches. Suitable for old buildings as well as new. Modernise your flats and you will have no vacancies.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

Department of Taxation,
George-street North,
Sydney, 22nd December, 1915.

INCOME TAX.

("INCOME TAX (MANAGEMENT) ACT, 1912," AND "INCOME TAX MANAGEMENT (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1914").

NOTICE is hereby given, under Section 20 of the "Income Tax (Management) Act, 1912," that Returns of Income received during the year 1915, for the purposes of the assessment of Income Tax, are required to be furnished to the Commissioners of Taxation, at their Office, George-street North, Sydney, ON OR BEFORE THE NINTH (9th) DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1916, and all persons who are in receipt of income, and all persons liable under the provisions of the above Acts in any representative capacity to furnish returns for the purposes aforesaid, are hereby informed that the prescribed Forms of Returns are now available, and (except those for Companies) may be obtained on application at any Post Office, Police Office, Custom House, Railway Station, and the Office of any Clerk of Petty Sessions in New South Wales, Stamp Duties Office, Phillip-street, Sydney, or at the Office of the Department of Taxation, George-street North, Sydney.

Forms for Companies can be obtained on application at the Stamp Duties Office, Phillip-street, Sydney, or at the Taxation Office, George-street North, Sydney.

All persons carrying on any business, including grazing or farming of every description (whether the land used in this connection be Crown Lease or Freehold), trade, or profession on their own account, or who are in receipt of income from rents of property, or salary or wages, are required to furnish Income Returns irrespective of the amount of their income. It should be noted that taxpayers who neglect their obligation in this respect are liable to a maximum penalty of £100, and no taxpayer will be relieved from liability to the penalty by reason only that a notice to furnish the return may not have been received by him or that the prescribed form may not have been delivered to him.

All employers of labour are required to furnish to the Commissioners the name, occupation, and address of each and every employee, together with the amount of the salary or wages, bonuses or commissions, paid during the year 1915.

Special attention is called to the fact that owing to recent legislation income derived from any gains or profits accruing to any taxpayer on the sale by him during the year of income of any estate or interest in land, including a lease of land, and including the goodwill of any business carried on on the land, where such estate or interest was bought by him, or the land was leased to him during such year, or the four years next prior thereto; or of shares in any company bought by him during such year, or the two years next prior thereto; or any other personal property of what kind soever, and of the value of fifty pounds or upwards, bought by him during such year, where the buying or selling of such estate or interest, or of such shares or property, or the leasing of the land was not in the course of the business of the taxpayer, shall be deemed to be income derived during the year of income, from a source in the State, and is NOW LIABLE TO TAX.

All owners of taxable lands in the Western Division of New South Wales subject to mortgage should furnish particulars of every such mortgage, in order that they may derive the benefit of any deduction to which they may be entitled in respect of the interest on the mortgage of their lands, including improvements thereon.

Forms of the prescribed Return (Form K) may be obtained on application at the Office of the Commissioners of Taxation, and should be furnished on or before the NINTH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1916, before mentioned.

J. W. HOLLIMAN,
R. N. JOHNSON,
W. H. WHIDDON,
Commissioners of Taxation.

N.B.—Particular attention is called to the observations and directions with the Forms of Return.

POSTAGE OF ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO THE COMMISSIONERS OF TAXATION MUST BE PRE-PAID IN FULL.

BEFORE THE FOOD SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION (No. 2 GROUP, No. 4 BOARD).—Take notice that application has been made to the Food Supply and Distribution (No. 2) Group, No. 4 Board, by the Cold Storage and Ice Employees' Union of New South Wales, an Industrial Union of Employees, whose members are employed in the industries, for which the said Board has been constituted, for the determination by the Board of the matters set forth in the annexure hereto within the State of New South Wales. Take notice also that the Board will meet at the School of Arts, Sydney, on Tuesday, the first day of February, 1916, at the hour of 2.30 p.m., and at such other places and on such other subsequent days as the Board may appoint to consider the said application. Take notice also that if you desire to be exempted from any award made by the Board, or to make any objection to the application, you should do so by lodging application for such exemption or any objection to the application with the Chairman of the Board, at 4 George-street, Sydney, on or before the abovementioned date of hearing. Take notice also that you may be heard before the said Board on any application or any objections before the Board. Take notice also that the Board may make an award differing from the particulars contained in the application and annexure hereto, and may determine that its award shall cover any area or areas which may be within its jurisdiction. Dated this 28th day of January, 1916. JAMES FLETCHER, Chairman of the Board.

ENGLISH AGENCY.—The Undersigned, established upwards of 60 years, confine themselves exclusively to a General Commission Business, are well acquainted with Australian requirements, and possess special facilities for purchasing goods to the best advantage in the English and Continental markets.

Indents should be accompanied by cash remittances or bank letters of credit to ensure full trade discounts. Account sales of produce under consignment rendered promptly, and net proceeds remitted or invested to order.

The Shipping Department has been largely developed of late years, and where indents are sent direct to manufacturers the shipment and insurance of the goods are effected upon the most favourable terms.

THE WAR LOAN.

POSITION OF BRITISH INVESTOR.

ANOMALOUS TAXATION.

To Mr. W. H. Gardiner (W. Gardiner and Co., Ltd.), a London director of an Australian Company, we are are indebted for the following closely reasoned statement showing the anomalous character of intra-Empire taxation:—

I think that details in regard to one serious difficulty that stands in the way of the taking up of Australian War Loan by a certain class may be of interest.

Take the case of a man who has to live for the most part in England in order to work at the home branch of his business in Australia, and who represents—in himself and as trustee for others—a preponderance of the holding in the Australian business. He has already taken up in English War Loan stock for his company, for himself, and as a trustee, every pound that could be got together for the first two issues, and has been trying to save up more so as to take as full a share as possible when the country's needs require a further issue. His interests being Australian even more than English, he would like to take what he can in Australian War Loan, but here his English domicile completely bars any such subscription.

While in the case of War Loan, only one income tax would be chargeable either on English or Australian loan stock, viz., the English tax—it is the probate duty that makes subscription to the Australian loan impossible to anyone domiciled out of Australia. On English loan stock there would, at death, be only English probate payable. On Australian stock not only would English probate be payable in the case of a holder with English domicile, but also Federal and State probate, amounting to an additional 25 per cent. to 30 per cent. of the capital value. With the greatest desire to put every available pound into War Loan stock, it is obvious that a stock that can only be worth 70 per cent. to 75 per cent. of its face value at the death of the investor, as compared with 100 per cent. for the English stock (both being equally chargeable with English duty), cannot be considered as a possible investment, and while keeping all one has for War Loans, the English must exclude the Australian. I can see no way out of the difficulty in carrying out the natural desires of anyone who, while having large interests in Australia, has to live in England in order to further these Australian interests.

While on this subject, may I point out that Australian investments other than War Loan are now barred to a still greater extent to an investor with an extra-Australian domicile, for income tax on such investments now amounts to:—

On a total Income of	Tax.	In the £.	Total.
£3,000	English	3.7½
	Federal	2.9¼
	N.S.W.	1.3¾	7/11
£5,000	English	4.1½
	Federal	4.9½
	N.S.W.	1.7	10/6
£7,000	English	4.6¼
	Federal	5.0
	N.S.W.	1.8¾	11/3
£10,000	English	5.0¾
	Federal	5.0
	N.S.W.	1.9¾	11/10½
Up to a total maximum of	English	6.9½
	Federal	5.0
	N.S.W.	1.9¾	13/7¼

In addition the Probate Duty would be as follows:—

PROBATE.

On an estate of
£50,000	English	7%
	Federal	10 4-5%
	N.S.W.	8 2-3%
	Total	26½%
£75,000	English	8%
	Federal	15%
	N.S.W.	10 1-3%
	Total	33 1-3%
£100,000	English	9%
	Federal	15%
	N.S.W.	13 1-3%
	Total	37 1-3%
Up to a total maximum of	English	20%
	Federal	15%
	N.S.W.	15%
	Total	50%

Thus, an Englishmen with capital invested in England, bringing in, say, £5000 a year, pays 4/1½ in the £ income tax, and, if his estate amounts to, say, £75,000, it would, at his death, pay 8 per cent. for probate duty. If, however, he has invested his capital in business in Australia, he pays taxes at each end, and his income tax becomes 10/6 in the £, and the probate duty payable 33⅓ per cent. It will be readily seen that wherever else in the Empire or in the world investments may be possible for a man with an English domicile, they are impossible to him in Australia under present conditions. (London issues of Australian Government stocks are still, fortunately, open to Englishmen, as they are not subject to either Australian income tax or probate duty but only to English taxes.) If it is definitely desired to employ only Australian capital in Australia, and to prevent Englishmen investing in Australian industries (and this is, of course, a matter to be decided by Australia), the present incidence of the taxes should accomplish this result; if this is not desired, then some alteration is called for.

My complaint is not as to the amount of the taxes as such, for whatever the country needs for war purposes in the £ of income, by all means let it be taken from all of us. My objection is that there should be a special penalty or fine if an Englishman invests his capital either in business or in securities in Australia, and that because he dares to do so he should be mulcted in double income tax and double probate duty, and should thus be charged for his share of the cost of the war twice over—once in England and once in Australia. Remembering Mr. Lloyd George's warning that it might be necessary before the war is over to take from us all half our incomes, let us carry the matter on to its logical conclusion, and imagine that this half is required, and is taken. The general view would I think be, "If to win the war every man must part with half his income—let it go!" But surely it is unthinkable in the type of case we are considering that half should be taken in England and the other half in Australia!

Whether a remission of the English tax or of the Australian tax is the equitable answer to the present injustice is for the respective Governments to decide between them, but I submit that it is a plain injustice for any man in the Empire to be charged twice over for his share of the cost of the war, and to be so charged, merely because being an Englishman, he has had the hardihood to invest his capital and use his brains and powers of organisation in a part of the British Dominions outside England itself, while still living in England, working at the home branch of his business.

ANZAC AVENUE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In to-day's "Herald" is announced a proposal to name the new road through Cook Park "Anzac-avenue," and elsewhere we see the name being given to places in no way associated with the Australian troops, with whom the name "Anzac" originated, and who have made that name sacred to those heroes of Australia and New Zealand who have dedicated Anzac in Gallipoli by their lives and deeds.

The tacking of the name "Anzac" to all sorts of places in no way connected with the original savours much of the patent drug advertisement. What will the relatives of those who gave up their lives at Anzac, and those who fought and bled there, say to that sacred name being belittled by being stuck over the map of Australia, attached to unimportant places. Let the name be sanctified by our nation securing the site where so many of our heroes lie buried, and by erecting there a suitable memorial, which I am sure would be respected and protected by our brave and humane Turkish enemy. Let those who wish to perpetuate the name join in a subscription to that end.

I am, etc.,
Jan. 26. C. E. F.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to enter through your valuable columns my earnest protest against the debasement of the word "Anzac" to the use of a short tram line road to Woolloomooloo. How any body of men could be led to use a name for such a place, taking into account the number of valuable lives given to earn such a name, is beyond me; and, as the father of two of my sons who have fought there, I protest against its use for the purpose given. I only trust that those who have lost sons or husbands or other dear relations at world-known Anzac will also enter their protest against such a disgrace being perpetrated in Sydney.

If Moore-street were renamed Anzac-place well and good, but only the best must be named after such a holy place to those interested. I can quite understand that those out for notoriety choosing a name which to them is a name and nothing else.

I am, etc.,
AN AUSTRALIAN.

STATE BAKERY SCHEME EXAMINED.

IN THE LIGHT OF FINANCE.

(BY POLITICUS.)

The contemplated grab by the State Government of some 200 bakeries in the metropolitan area, with the accompanying destruction of healthy competition in all other parts of the State, is a project so revolutionary in its nature that it deserves to be kept before the public in all its aspects. For in whatever light the scheme is looked at, it presents very ugly features, with not a redeeming one. The trail of the accommodating politician is over it all—accommodating, that is, in such a way as to square with the demands of irresponsible visionaries outside. These, to the misfortune of our patient, overburdened taxpayers, have, for the time being, the whip hand over those to whom our people have the right to look for light and guidance.

I propose here to invite public attention, and especially the earnest attention of those of our legislators not hopelessly bound in party chains, to some facts and figures that bear directly upon Mr. Hall's proposed State monopoly in bread supply. And in this I meet that gentleman on ground of his own choosing. The moral aspects of his bakeries resumption scheme has been ably dealt with by other writers. In my humble judgment, by far the most important of all aspects of this mad scheme is the financial, for this is the most permanent and most far-reaching in its consequences, and it directly touches the pockets of every citizen, every breadwinner.

In the first place the total indebtedness of Australia, through its Parliaments, has been set down at £400,000,000. This huge amount is rapidly mounting up, chiefly, as to the Federal Parliament's share, through the war. Now, let every allowance be made for that dread distraction. The New South Wales public debt stood at £127,735,405 on June 30 last. It was added to by £11,040,000 during 1914-15. With this huge addition the war had comparatively little to do. The interest charge on the State debt was £4,307,901 a year—payable, remember, in gold. Since then the debt has reached something over £130,000,000, without counting the share already advanced of the Norton Griffiths ten-million job.

How recklessly Mr. Hall and his colleagues add millions to the people's burdens appears from his intention to spend (according to his own estimate) half a million on this bakery scheme. The probability is that double that amount would be required if injustice is not to be done to the bakers.

What, now are the purely business prospects of this daring adventure into a sphere already full of warnings? Fortunately, evidence against this further plunge into state business enterprises is overwhelming and incontrovertible. Let anyone look with an impartial eye upon the results already brought about, and then say whether the language used in denunciation of Mr. Hall's bread scheme is one whit too strong.

Here are some of the results as shown by official documents, mainly from the Auditor-General's report to Parliament, up to June 30 last (end of the financial year), there was a gross loss on business undertakings of £33,222 for the financial year 1914-5. The accumulated loss on all State business undertakings since their inauguration was £69,318. Against this, accumulated profits on some of the undertakings totalled £48,104. The losses incurred were on the following:—Botany brickworks, £2341; lime works, Taree and Botany, £2346; Rozelle joinery works, £1080; State clothing factory, £423; Uhr's Point timber yard, £25,146; Uhr's Point power house, £1886.

Now, as to the State bakery. The first year (to June, 1914) showed a loss of £348. Next year a profit was made of £3098. But, mark, this was due to the monopoly of supply to the military camps. Now, apart from the scandals as to quality and short-weight loaves exposed by Mr. Orchard in the Federal Parliament, this source of profit is not a permanency. Furthermore, there are innumerable unforeseen elements which go to make unreliable any calculations made as to the feasibility of the State supplying bread cheaper than under the healthy competition in the open trade; and this latter has the sanction of centuries of experience. Take the one item of strikes alone. There is no guarantee that what occurred at the Government brickworks only the other day will not occur at Government bakeries.

But when we go further afield for evidence and look at what is occurring in other States the same tale is unfolded—losses, and very heavy losses, all round. This, mark, under the most favourable conditions. How, indeed, can it be otherwise? The results shown follow under unalterable economic laws as sure as night follows day.

Here, briefly, are some of the results. In South Australia the State copper mines and smelting works show a loss of £78,096 for the year, while their abattoirs are entailing heavy loss. In Western Australia the gross loss on the State steamers, meat supply, quarries, and implement works totalled £50,917 for the year, and since the official figures were made public the losses have been accumulating at a rate so alarming as to forebode a grave financial crisis.

For shocking examples, New South Wales, Western Australia, and Queensland stand conspicuously out. And let us look at Queensland. There the Government has only been some seven or eight months in office, yet has plunged blindly into a series of business concerns with the warnings of the other States before their eyes. They have invested large sums of money in coal mines, hotels, and meat supply business, fishing ventures, with a cock-sureness born of boundless confidence in paper money and undeveloped resources. They have done this at a time when the Minister for Lands has had to confess that his Government had "only a limited amount of means to assist the men on the land."

All the above instances of the failure of State socialistic schemes, be it remembered, have occurred under the nurturing care of Labour Governments, Labour majorities in Parliament, and irresponsible Labour dictators outside. There remain the results of the one State under liberal guidance, the State of Victoria. Even here, although the experiments are comparatively few and cautiously conducted, the same tale has to be told. There has been a total loss of £34,767. This was on State sugar factory, cool stores, shipbuilding, and brickworks.

It cannot be said that the failures were due to unsympathetic direction. The Labour Governments have the strongest reasons for securing the success of their ventures. The secret is to be found in the operation of economic laws that no ingenuity of politicians and socialist casuists can ever amend, abrogate, or subvert.

Mr. Attorney-General Hall and those egging him on take upon themselves a grave responsibility when, flying in the very face of providence, they start a political gamble (staking not their own but the people's money), not merely with the odds overwhelmingly against them, but with the absolute certainty that they are playing a losing game for which others have to pay.

MOTOR HORNS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It seems to me that at a time like the present, when every avoidable expense should be saved, the proposal of the Lord Mayor to require every motor car to use the same pattern of horn is, to say the least of it, inopportune. What will be the result of such a regulation? Every motor horn now in use will have to be thrown on to the scrap heap, or at least sent away as a second-hand article to some other country, where such a bizarre scheme is not in force. And new ones would have to be bought, so using up money that might be put to some patriotic purpose.

Surely the principle that should govern all legislation in a free country should be the safety of the people first, and second, as little interference with individual liberty as is consistent with that safety. The proposed regulation distinctly and unnecessarily breaks the second principle. All that any such regulation should require is that a motor horn shall give efficient warning, and yet not unduly disturb the quiet of the public streets. Affixed to the many thousands of motor cars in Sydney there are many makes of motor horns that offend against neither of these requirements. Why then put the owners of these to expense if it is actually in those cases unnecessary for public good.

If, however, one motor horn for all is to be insisted upon, then it seems to me that the State should buy them all up from the manufacturers, and sell them at a reasonable profit. That would prevent some lucky or unscrupulous individual reaping a profit from his prior knowledge of which particular horn would be adopted. Also, it seems to me that, whatever horn might be decided upon, should be of Australian or British, or Ally make. Otherwise the outsider (by which I mean any non-ally) would obtain a monopoly.

I am, etc.,
ANTI-MONOPOLY.

SOCIAL.

All contributions and accounts of weddings or other social entertainments intended for the "Social" Column in Saturday's issue should reach this office not later than Friday morning, and be fully endorsed.

Mrs. R. E. Roth presided at the first general meeting of the year of the Fifth Field Ambulance Comforts Fund, which was held at the Hotel Australia on Thursday, January 20. There was a large attendance, and a gratifying report. The committee has now ready for consignment comforts comprising 10 cases milk, 5 cases coffee and milk, soap, etc. The balance-sheet showed that the committee had expended £61 15s 4d, and had in hand £173 8s 4d. Workers are called for the making-up of summer shirts, fly veils, etc.

In October the Misses May, Esma, and Vera Hammer and Esme and Linda Walsh, of Edgecliff-road, Woollahra, organised and conducted a bazaar in aid of the returned wounded soldiers, which was opened by Mr. James Walsh. Subsequently the Misses Hammer promoted a dance for the same purpose. Both ventures proved a pronounced success. With the aggregate amount realised, £21 18s 9d, they purchased two Chesterfield lounges, which they presented to the Randwick Hospital. Christie's Hall, Woollahra, was kindly lent for the entertainments.

Mrs. Nicholson, wife of Dr. Frank Villeneuve-Nicholson, of Brisbane, is on a short visit to Sydney with her two children, and is staying with her parents, the Hon. Reginald and Mrs. Black, at Chatswood.

Dr. Julia Seton, a New Thought lecturer, from America, who has come to Australia to conduct a conference, and Dr. Lily Carpenter, Mrs. Garvan, and Miss Underwood, delegates for their respective States, were welcomed at a reception given by Sister Veni Cooper-Mathieson and the members of the New Thought Church. About 200 guests were welcomed under the palms on the lawn. Dr. Seton gave a short address, and at the close was accorded much applause. Vocal and instrumental music, with songs and recitations, were rendered by popular artists, and afternoon tea followed with general conversation.

For the First Battalion Comforts Fund, the wristlet watch donated by Mrs. Francis and Miss M'Kellar was raffled last week, the winning ticket being E17. The knitted sock competition closes the last week in February.

At St. John's Church, Moss Vale, on the morning of December 28, Muriel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter, of Hanslow Park, Sutton Forest, was married to Harry, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lambeth, of Regina, Rockdale, and shire clerk of Moss Vale. Owing to the bridegroom's brother having been recently killed in action and another brother being now on active service, the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. C. Hughesdon, was a very quiet one. The church was effectively decorated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a tailor-made coat and skirt of fawn gaberdine, with hat to match, and carried an ivory-bound prayer-book, the bridegroom's gift, with a diamond cluster and platinum ring. The honeymoon was spent at the Jenolan Caves and Sydney.

A wedding was celebrated at the Presbyterian Church, Woollahra, on December 9, when Herbert, youngest son of Mrs. E. H. Knott, of Melbourne, was married to Pearl, only daughter of Mrs. T. Palmer, of Delos, Moore Park-road, Sydney. The church was decorated. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Andrew Barber. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Ted Palmer, wore a simple gown of ivory silk tulle, veiling charmeuse satin. The tulle draperies were hand-embroidered with opalescent crystal, the corsage being of old Limerick lace, veiled in tulle. The court train of tulle and ninon de soie was lined with ruchings of flesh-tinted ninon and draped Limerick lace with cluster of orange blossom caught in true lover's knot. A tiny coronet of orange blossom was worn with long tulle veil. She carried a bouquet, which, with a diamond brooch, was the bridegroom's gift. The bridesmaids, Miss Edith Palmer and Miss Hilda Henderson (cousins of the bride) wore gowns in flesh-tinted crepe ninon de soie and chiffon taffeta, the bodices veiling tiny wreath of posies. Black tulle hats were lined with palest pink and loop bows of ribbon. Their armlet posies and gold bangles were the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Chester Smith acted as best man and Mr. Edmund Dwyer groomsman. Mr. Fred Searl presided at the organ. After the ceremony the reception was held at Baumann's Cafe. The bride's mother wore a dress of black crepe ninon and chiffon taffeta veiling white satin, the bodice being relieved with fine lace and touch of Saxe blue and silver damask. A smart hat in black and white Tagal straw, with white ostrich mount, and carried a posy of blue delphiniums. Later Mr. and Mrs. H. Knott left for Melbourne, the bride travelling in a frock of deep chasseur blue taffeta and smartly-designed with crepe ninon of same shade, veiling lime ninon, worn with a chic hat in lime Tagal straw.

At St. Phillip's Church, on January 21, a marriage was celebrated by the Rev. Canon Bellingham, between Walter H., third son of the late J. S. and Mrs. Abraham, of The Terraces, Lavender Bay, and Marion, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Leigh, of Neutral Bay. The bride was married in a travelling costume, and was given away by her father. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Forbes, and Miss Abraham, sister of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was supported by Sergeant James Currie and Staff-sergeant John Hosking. Others of the dispensary staff, of which the bridegroom is a member, formed an arch, under which the happy couple left the church. The bride's parents afterwards held a reception at Petty's Hotel. Among the presents received was a silver coffee service, presented by the dispensary staff. On the return from the South Coast, where the honeymoon was spent, Private Abraham leaves for the front.

The wedding of Murielle Heather Laidlaw, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. T. Phillips, of Aimyra, Silver-street, St. Peters, to Charles Edwin Randell, only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. Forsythe Geddes, of Batavia, Albemarle-street, Newtown, was celebrated at St. Enoch's Presbyterian Church, Newtown, on December 18. The Rev. S. Bennett, of Stockton (uncle of the bride), officiated. The service was full choral, and the church was prettily decorated. Mr. Harry Evans officiated at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a handsome gown of ivory Oriental satin. The corsage of Brussels lace was outlined in seed pearl, and veiled in ninon. The court train from the shoulders was Oriental satin, lined with shell pink satin charmeuse, finished with a ruching of dainty silk Malines lace, and was held in place by clusters of pearls, ropes of large pearls falling from each cluster, and was festooned with orange blossoms, and horseshoe of pearls. An embroidered tulle veil was worn in soft folds over the face, held in place by a tiny circlet of orange blossoms. Her sheaf of Madonna lilies, and a diamond cluster ring, were the gifts of the bridegroom. In attendance were Misses Hilda and Alma Phillips (sisters of the bride); they were similarly attired in frocks of Brussels lace, mounted on ivory crepe-de-Chine, the skirts falling in three soft flounces, finished with a soft shell pink satin waist. The corsages were of ninon, with coatee effect of lace. They wore large picture hats of shell pink crepe-de-Chine and aerophane, trimmed with a large blush rose, and finished with long satin streamer attached to the left shoulder. They carried bouquets of blush roses, and pink bouvardias, and wore cameo brooches, souvenirs from the bridegroom. Little Dorothy Tranmer was train-bearer. She wore a dainty frock of fine organdi, inlet with Malines lace, and carried a gold crook mounted with pink cactus dahlias. Her gift from the bridegroom was a silver bag. Mr. G. Vern Barnett, jun., acted as best man, and Mr. Stanley Mortimore was groomsman. The bride's mother wore a smart costume of mole mousseline-de-soie finished with a white feather boa, and mole hat, with rose crown. She carried a Victorian posy of oleandrageon and fern. The bridegroom's mother chose a costume of black taffetas, which was worn with a black hat with rose crown. She also carried a posy of sweet peas. Mrs. Phillips entertained about 120 guests at the Coronation Hall, Newtown. The bride's travelling dress was of pale amethyst crepe-de-Chine, worn over a shell pink ninon blouse, finished with a white feather boa, and large picture hat of shell pink aerophane, set with quills.

At Digby, Yass Junction, on January 11, Elvie Victoria, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Luke, was married to Arthur Stanley, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson, Lakemba. The Rev. C. A. S. Woodhouse was the officiating minister. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in duchess satin (worn by her mother on her marriage), and an overdress of ninon, trimmed with lace and orange blossom. She carried a shower bouquet with satin streamers, the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Sylvanie Bradford (Mosman) and Miss Beatrice Harrison (Pennant Hills) were the bridesmaids. Miss Bradford wore white voile, trimmed with lace and relieved by pink satin belt, and wore a gold bangle, the bridegroom's gift. Miss Harrison (second bridesmaid) wore white voile, white satin belt, and carried a pink and white bouquet, and also wore a bangle. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Gleeson (Sydney), and Private Bruce Luke (brother of the bride) was groomsman. The ceremony took place in the drawing-room, which was decorated with wedding bells and peach blossoms, and floral decorations. The mother of the bride was gowned in grey paillette silk trimmed with tulle and blue silk. The mother of the bridegroom wore black and white silk voile trimmed with black satin and lace. The reception was also held in the drawing-room. The bride's travelling dress was grey crepe-de-Chine, white ninon hat, pink flowers and streamers. The honeymoon is being spent at Terrigal.

ENGAGEMENT.

The engagement is announced of Maude, elder daughter of Mr. T. H. Ross, Euroba, Quirindi, to Mr. J. M. Paterson, Dunedin, New Zealand.

MISSING MEN.

SEPARATION ALLOWANCES.

NEW ORDER ISSUED.

The following instructions in connection with pay, allotments, and separation allowance in respect of members of the Australian Imperial Forces reported as "missing" have been issued by headquarters:—

Soldiers who have been reported as "missing" for a period of two months, and regarding whom no advice has since been received, are to be assumed to be dead, and their names are to be removed from the pay roll from the day after notification that they were reported as "missing."

In the case of an allotment which was not payable to a dependent, payment of same will cease on expiry of two months from date of notification that the soldier was "missing."

In cases where allotments are payable to bona-fide dependents, the issue of allotment and separation allowance will be continued for a further period not exceeding two months to enable proceedings for pension to be taken and determined.

If at any time during the first two months the soldier is definitely ascertained to be dead the allotment of pay (and separation allowance) to a dependent will be continued until the expiry of two months from the date of notification of death, or until a war pension is payable, which ever first occurs, but in the case of an allotment which was not payable to a dependent, payment of same will cease on expiry of two months from date of notification that the soldier was missing.

In regard to allotments of missing men which have already been continued for a period of two months, the following instructions will be observed:—Allotments which are being paid to persons other than dependents should be discontinued forthwith. Allotments (and separation allowance) to dependents will be continued for a period of two months from date of receipt of this authority, to enable proceedings for a pension to be taken and determined.

It is to be particularly noted that a soldier's estate will not be legally wound up, nor will a final statement of account be prepared, until he has been declared officially to be dead.

In connection with the claims of pensions by the dependents of missing soldiers, the district paymaster shall immediately after the expiry of the first two months from the dates of notification that soldiers were reported missing, forward direct to the Commonwealth Deputy Commissioner of Pensions in his State a statement with particulars, as follows:—(a) Name the other particulars for identification of members of the forces who have been reported missing; (b) date reported missing; (c) rate of pay of member at date on which he was reported missing; (d) additional allowances of member; (e) separation allowances paid; (f) name and address of allottee; (g) amount of allotment; (h) date inclusive up to which allotment will be paid by Defence Department, i.e., four months from date of notification that the soldier was reported missing.

If, after proceedings for a war pension have been commenced or after the award of a pension, it comes to the knowledge of a district paymaster that a missing soldier has been reported alive, he will immediately communicate the fact to the Deputy Commissioner of Pensions concerned, and take steps to continue payment of the allotment, and at the same time adjust any under or over payment made on comparison of the amount of the allotment with the war pensions, which may have been awarded. Similar action as to the resumption of allotment will also be taken in connection with the allotments of missing men that were not made to dependents.

It is further stated that because a man is reported "missing," his relations need not necessarily take it that he is dead, for there have been already many instances on the western front of men reported missing who weeks or months afterwards were allowed to inform their relations that they had been wounded and taken prisoner.

BRICKWORKS STRIKE.

RESULT OF THE INQUIRY.

The inquiry made at the instance of the Minister for Public Works into the causes of the recent strike at the State brickworks at Homebush has closed, and a report has been furnished that the management was in no way to blame in the matter.

Mr. Cann stated yesterday that he had received from Mr. R. G. Allman, the officer deputed to make the inquiry, his report regarding the case of Reynolds, an employee of the brickworks who was dismissed. The other men ceased work on the refusal of the demand that Reynolds should be reinstated, alleging that he had been victimised. The substance of Mr. Allman's findings were:—"(1) That the evidence does not bear out the allegation that Mr. Hutton's personal hostility to Reynolds was the cause of his dismissal; (2) that the allegation that other work was available at the brickworks for Reynolds in which he could be profitably engaged is not sustained."

The men returned to work on the Minister's promise of an inquiry, and the result of the inquiry, Mr. Cann added, is now being communicated to the Building Trades Federation, the executive of which waited upon the Minister when the men were away from the works. Mr. Cann says he endorses the report made by Mr. Allman.

POLICE AND FIRE BRIGADES' CARNIVAL.

One of the principal sporting fixtures of the year is the annual carnival of the N.S.W. Police and Fire Brigades. It is always in aid of some worthy cause. Last year it realised £2072 for the Patriotic Funds. This year it is in aid of our public hospitals, and, with an art union, in conjunction with the sports, it is expected that £7000 will be distributed amongst the worthy institutions the carnival is being held for. The business people of the city have subscribed £1000 for the art union, £100 for the sports programme, and an additional £400 as well, and the fixture already shows a profit.

The programme for the sports at the Agricultural Ground of February 26 is as follows:—

For amateur members of the Police Force and Fire Brigades.—Championship tug-of-war, police v firemen, 10 men a side; trophy, shield value £10 10s., to be held by winners for 12 months (holders, police), and a trophy to each member of winning team. Police divisional tug-of-war championship, eight men a side; trophy, shield value £5 5s, to be held by winners for 12 months (holders, No. 13 Division), and trophy to each member of winning team. Fire brigades' district tug-of-war championship; eight men aside; trophy, shield value £5 5s, to be held by winners for 12 months (holders, D district), and trophy to each member of winning team. 100 yards championship; 120 yards handicap; 440 yards handicap; one mile walk handicap; running high jump handicap; running hop, step, and jump handicap; putting 16lb shot handicap; throwing 16lb hammer handicap; and tossing the caber.

For Members of Amateur Athletic Association.—100 yards handicap, trophies value £3, £2, and £1; one mile Allies' relay race, individual entries, teams of four (to be selected by officials of A.A.A.), each man to run 440 yards, trophies £4 and £2 per team.

Special events for the children of members of the police force and fire brigades complete an interesting programme. Entries are due for all events on February 12.

EARLY CLOSING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Holman, Mr. Fitzgerald, and other members of the Cabinet, have from time to time voiced their unbelief of good resulting from the closing of bars at 9 p.m. The following news item from the "Dumfries and Galloway Standard" (December 8) may interest unbelievers:—"The closing of public-houses at 9 o'clock in Dumfries has made a marked difference in the appearance of the streets, especially on Saturday nights. The number of people about on Saturday night between 9 and 10 was only a fraction of what it formerly was; and 'drunks' were conspicuous by their absence."

The historic burgh has led the way in more than one sphere of life, and probably Mr. Holman and his henchmen will now admit that there is at least some evidence of the success of 9 o'clock closing. I am, etc.,

REAL ESTATE.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

The main features of the real estate business this week were the holiday subdivision sales, all of which proved successful. In general business there was not, however, a great deal of activity showing itself, but inquiries for suburban properties were good. It was the off week for indoor sales, and what properties were sold were disposed of by private contract.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman included in their sales for the week the disposal of a subdivision block fronting Stoney Creek and Forest roads, Bexley, for £4000; also a block with two houses on the land at the corner of Bligh and Fitzroy streets, North Sydney, for £1233.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench this week sold one lot in the Sunny Side Estate, Enfield, at £2 2s per foot; two lots in the Mount Pleasant Estate, Normanhurst, for £198; three blocks in the Fitzpatrick Estate, Gladesville, £126.

Messrs. Stanton and Son were fairly active this week. They sold a cottage in Hurlstone-avenue, Summer Hill, for £1000; a cottage at Five Dock, £650; two cottages at Canterbury, £550 each, and two allotments in the same suburb for £150.

A recent important sale at St. George's Basin, near Jervis Bay, was that of Errowek, the well-known property of Mr. Percy Kean. The sale was effected by Messrs. Henry F. Halloran and Co., in connection with Messrs. R. F. Gardner and Co., of Sydney and Culcairn. The property is a particularly fine one, and is to be subdivided into a model suburb, for which it is especially adapted, having a very large water frontage of many thousands of feet, with beautiful clear rising slopes, affording views of exceptional beauty. The surveyed line of railway from Canberra to Jervis Bay runs through the property. The price is not disclosed, but it is understood that it forms one of the largest sales which has ever taken place in the district. The buyer is Mr. J. Jensen, of Watson's Bay.

There is a subdivision revival at Kurnell. This week Messrs. Horning and Co. sold a number of lots at 4s per foot; also two lots at Como at from 7s to 15s per foot. A block at Kostr Hill brought £14 per acre, and a cottage at Waverley was sold for £295.

The sales of the week effected by Messrs. Piercy Ethell and Co. included a cottage residence in Beresford-road, Rose Bay, for £1600.

Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co. report that good business continues, and the counter sales of home sites this week have been the best for months. In this class of business Kensington leads. The demand for small farms in the immediate vicinity of railway stations is excellent, and they will put other farm estates on the market in the immediate future.

CITY PROPERTIES IN THE MARKET.

Quite a number of city properties will be brought under the hammer within the next week or two. On February 3 Messrs. Hardie and Gorman will submit Bull's-chambers, a very fine property in Moore-street. It adjoins Ocean House, on the north side of the thoroughfare. There is no doubt Moore-street is fast becoming one of the leading business centres of the city, and the palatial buildings which are being erected with a frontage to this street will in a few years materially enhance the values of the adjoining properties. Bull's-chambers now produce an annual rental of £7422. It is a stone and brick building, built on land having a frontage of over 57ft by a depth of 125ft to a lane at the rear.

Another very fine city property for residential purposes or for professional chambers will be offered at auction by Messrs. Raine and Horne next Thursday. It is in Macquarie-street, No. 195, adjoining the Burdekin Mansion. In fact, No. 195 forms part of the Burdekin estate. The building is substantially constructed, with 12 or 14 rooms and outoffices. The land has a frontage to Macquarie-street of 25ft by a depth of 106ft. It is situated nearly opposite Parliament House, which is one of the best positions in this very fine thoroughfare. The present lease expires in March, so that immediate possession can be given. Judging by the inquiry for this property it ought to sell well.

Another property right in the heart of the city will be offered at auction by Messrs. Raine and Horne on February 17. It is Federal chambers, No. 100 King-street. In fact, this property is on the corner of King and Pitt streets, and there is No. 98 King-street, adjoining, to be sold. The land has 46ft frontage to the western side of Pitt-street, and 55ft to King-street on the northern side. The buildings are good, but as a position for shops and offices few sites can surpass it, for it is one of the busiest corners in Sydney. This ought to prove a good proposition for investors, and with the natural growth of the city, to say nothing of the influx of newcomers after the war, which is sure to take place, and which must exercise an influence in the progress of the State, success should follow such an investment.

Next Thursday Messrs. Raine and Horne will offer a city shop investment in Elizabeth-street, between Goulburn and Campbell streets, close to the railway station, and in the centre of a portion of the city which is increasing in value daily. The land has a frontage of 32ft to Elizabeth-street.

Next Wednesday Messrs. Hardie and Gorman will offer three professional residences, Elizabeth-street, Nos. 115 to 119. The property is a little south of Market-street. The terrace is built of brick, and yields an annual rent roll of £374. The land has 63ft frontage, by a depth of 61ft to a right-of-way 3ft 6in wide from Elizabeth-street. The property belongs to the estate of the late Mr. A. A. Thompson.

Next Saturday Messrs. Raine and Horne will submit to auction a store in Dixon-street, between Anthony Hordern's' bulk store and the property of the City Council at the corner of Hay-street. It is close to George-street and the markets. Immediate possession can be given. This property, judging from the inquiry, is likely to sell well.

Next Thursday Messrs. H. W. Horning and Co. will offer at auction a brick house, 283 Liverpool-street, between Crown and Palmer streets, Darlinghurst. The land is 15 x 90, back to a lane.

SUBDIVISION WORK.

HOLIDAY SALES SUCCESSFUL.

In addition to the subdivision sales last Saturday special holiday auctions were held on Wednesday (Anniversary Day), and these were very successful. In fact, for subdivision work the week has been a good one. There are not many subdivision sales booked for the next few weeks, and as the list is thus a light one it gives those who are holding these auctions a chance. A few subdivisions of choice building blocks in well-selected suburbs will always draw the public, but in a war period such as we are passing through it would be madness to expect land in some out-of-the-way bush-like district to sell rapidly just now. But these positions will keep, and will become popular later. What the public are looking for just now is a building allotment in a progressive suburb, handy to the [illegible], and whenever these are offered they sell fairly well.

Last Saturday there were several subdivision sales. Messrs. Richardson and Wrench conducted an auction at Bankstown, where the Feverell Estate came under the hammer. The prices for this land, which is some distance from the station, ran from 9/ to 19/ per foot. Over a dozen allotments were sold.

Faulconbridge, on the Blue Mountains, was the scene of a successful subdivision sale last Saturday, where Messrs. Henry F. Halloran and Co. offered the Station Estate. This land is in a good position, opposite the station on the right side of the line from Sydney. There was a good attendance of buyers, hardly equal to the crowd which gathered at the sale of the Pines Estate in the same district a few months ago. But values were maintained last Saturday, and main road frontages realised from 17s to 82s 6d per foot, while lots at the back brought 20s per foot, and larger blocks in the gully, suitable for fruit-growing, were sold at £21 and £31 per block. There is no doubt that £4 per foot is a good price to pay for land at Faulconbridge, but as indicated last Saturday, there is a distinct forward movement on the Mountains, and Faulconbridge, which has been on the quiet side for many years, is now likely to make a fresh start.

Another instance of the progress of the Mountains is given in a report from the managing agent for the Mount Victoria Land Company, who states that during last week he disposed of £2712 worth of land in the Paddington and Apex estates, Mount Victoria.

There was another sale at Faulconbridge, on the Mountains, on Anniversary Day, when Messrs. Piercy Ethell and Co., on behalf of the Intercolonial Investment Company, offered Faulconbridge Park Estate. There was a good attendance of buyers, many of whom picnicked on the estate, and made it a pleasant day's outing. Thirty-nine lots were sold for a total of £1145.

Mr. C. H. Crammond had a most successful sale on Anniversary Day at Cronulla, where the Matson City Estate at Yowie Bay came under the hammer. There were several hundred people present, and without leaving the box Mr. Crammond disposed of 76 blocks at prices from 18s to 57s 6d per foot. It was the four water frontage lots which sold rapidly at £2 17s 6d per foot. Competition was keen, and the sale totalled £3740. One allotment was handed over to the War Nurses' Comfort Fund. The block was subsequently sold for £22, and the proceeds went to the fund. Since the auction several blocks have been sold by the auctioneer.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman conducted a sale on Anniversary Day at Collaroy Park Estate, the property of the Salvation Army, at Narrabeen. It was a very successful sale, and totalled £2081, but that was not all, for five allotments were sold subject to approval at from £2 10s to £5 10s per foot. The 10 lots which were sold outright brought from £2 5s to £3 15s per foot; while a cottage facing the Pacific-parade, Deewhy, realised £650, and the block adjoining the cottage was sold at £2 10s per foot. The attendance was good, and the bidding was brisk for many of the lots.

TO-DAY'S AUCTIONS.

There are only three subdivision sales set down for this afternoon. One which should command attention is the Tait Estate at Drummoyne, to be offered by H. W. Horning and Co., Ltd. This land is opposite the golf links, fronting Lyons-road, along which the tram is to run connecting Drummoyne and Five Dock trams. The estate is sheltered, and from the land views are obtainable over Five Dock Bay and Parramatta River. It is close to good schools, churches, shops, amusements, and the river. There are 125 well-graded allotments, each with 40ft to 60ft frontages, and from 110ft to 140ft in depth. The new roads on this subdivision are made in an unusually good manner. The main sewer runs through the estate; gas and city water and electric light are there. This is good building land, to be offered on easy terms, and should sell well.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench will offer the Liverpool Town properties this afternoon. These consist of cottages, villa and cottage sites, in the main streets of Liverpool, in excellent positions, and to be offered on easy terms.

There is to be a sale this afternoon at Manly, conducted by Messrs. D. J. M'Intyre and Co., who will offer, on the ground, in the vicinity of Curl Curl Lagoon and the golf links, five allotments of land with frontages to Pittwater-road. Some of the allotments have already been built upon. One is a shop and cottage, another is a cottage, and then there is vacant land. In this particular district vast changes must take place in the near future. The lagoon will, no doubt, be dredged, and a portion reclaimed for park purposes. This will be brought about as a result of recent municipal conferences. When these improvements are carried out surrounding properties must go up in value.

Messrs. S. F. Wilkinson and Co. will, at the Royal Hotel, Tumut, this afternoon, offer two acres of land, upon which is built the Batlow Hotel.

APPROACHING SALES.

Next Saturday Messrs. Richardson and Wrench will offer an estate about which there has been a good deal of inquiry by those in search of an allotment for building upon immediately. The land is at South Ashfield, close to the Hurlstone Park tram terminus, and only a few minutes' walk from Hurlstone Park railway station. The whole of this district has made wonderful progress of late years, and it is getting quite a populous centre. The estate to be submitted next Saturday is the seventh subdivision of the Jeffrey Estate, fronting Queen and Woolford streets. This is splendid property, which sold well from time to time, and the subdivision sale for next Saturday ought to meet with equal success.

"Homebush on the Hill" is the description given of a subdivision, the sale of which will take place on Saturday, February 12. This is one of the early selections by the late Mr. A. W. S. Gregg, who for years was the head of the firm of Richardson and Wrench, and who was one of the best judges of land values in the State. Mr. Gregg selected this estate for himself when Homebush was but a huge meadow. He built a number of residences on the land, and retained a good deal more for future use. Both residences and land will come under the hammer on the date mentioned.

On February 26 there is to be another sale of the well-known Terry's Eastwood House Estate at Eastwood. It is the seventh subdivision which Messrs. Richardson and Wrench will offer on this occasion. The land is situated on the hillside, north of the old homestead, and in view of the railway station. The subdivision embraces some of the best land in Eastwood.

The Russell Estate, on Albion Park, in the Illawarra district, will be offered at auction by Messrs. Stewart and Morton, of Berry and Nowra, and O'Donnell and Stumbles, of Wollongong, on Wednesday, February 16, at 1 o'clock. There are 20 blocks to be submitted. They are splendid grazing areas, and there are also town properties. The sale is by order of Mr. M. Mastrie, administrator in the Russell Estate.

Next Saturday the New Station Estate at Concord, right opposite the site selected for the railway station, will be brought under the hammer, when Messrs. H. W. Horning and Co. will offer 116 lots of good building land in a district which has a big future before it. It is a suburb that is likely to rise, and those who get in early before the new station is built—and that will take place almost immediately—will no doubt reap the benefit of their good judgment. The terms are easy. The land is but a few minutes' walk from the Homebush station. New streets are made and ballasted, electric light is there, and city water is being applied for.

The Mount Ida Heights Estate at Faulconbridge will come under the hammer on February 19, when Mr. C. H. Crammond will sell on the ground first-class mountain land on most liberal terms. This is said to be very good land, about seven or eight minutes from the station.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

LATE MR. W. P. WILSON.

ESTATE VALUED AT £75,189.

Probate of the will of the late Mr. William Plumpton Wilson, of Plumthorpe, Barraba, grazier, has been granted to Florence May Wilson and Clifford Philip Wilson, widow and brother respectively of the testator, who died at Sydney on November 12 last. Testator bequeathed his household furniture and effects, life policies and bonuses, amounting to over £2300, an annuity of £800 out of the income of the estate during her lifetime, and not less than 250 each for the maintenance, education, etc., of his children during their minority to his widow; and the following, among other legacies and bequests, £500 to his mother, Emily Catherine Wilson; £1000 each to his sisters, Dorothy Mabel Woodd and Muriel Nicholas; and £250 each to the Barraba Hospital and the Parochial Council of the Church of England, Barraba, in aid of the stipend fund for the clergy of that parish. The trustees were empowered to withold the payment of the legacies, with the exception of the one to his widow, for a period of five years, should they think fit. The residue of the estate was bequeathed to the trustees upon trust to carry on his partnership as a grazier in the firm of Sawers and Wilson, and the firm of Wilson Brothers; invest the proceeds, income, and profits during the lifetime of his wife, and until his youngest child attained the age of 24 years, and to hold the trust estate, and the accumulated income, etc., in trust for the children in equal shares, each child to receive his or her share of the accumulated income on attaining 21, and his or her share of the trust property on reaching 24 years.

The net value of the estate was sworn at £75,189 18s 4d, of which £56,466 represented testator's interest in partnerships.

LATE MR. A. F. WARDEN.

Probate has been granted of the will of the late Mr. Alick Frederick Warden, farmer, of Sunny Vale, Milton, who died at Sydney on September 17 last. Testator bequeathed his estate to his trustees, viz., his widow (Cecilia Warden), and his brother (Charles Forfar Warden), in trust for his widow and children.

The net value of the estate was estimated at £18,979 13s 8d, of which £15,840 represented real estate.

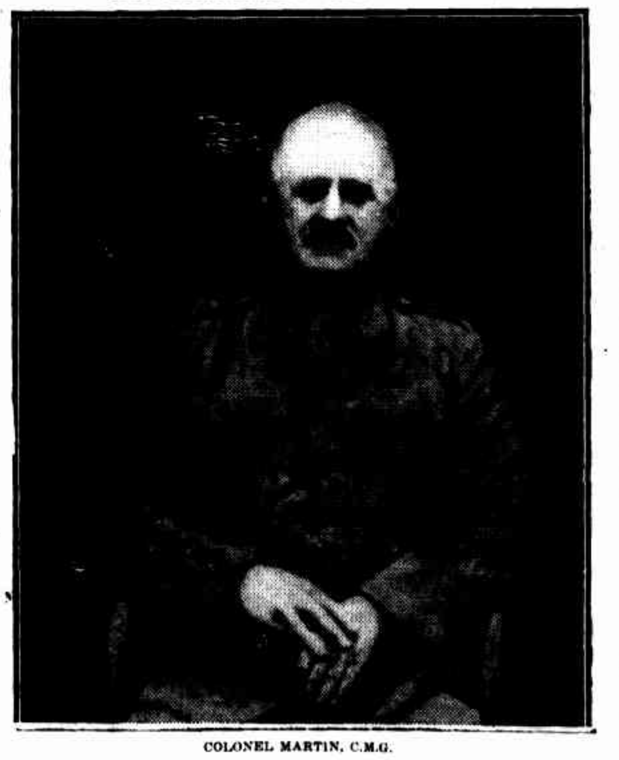
MILITARY TATTOO.

A military tattoo, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the comforts fund of the Mining Corps, will be held at the Sydney Town Hall this evening. The programme will be provided by the men of the corps and by their band. Major-Professor David will deliver an address entitled "Whether," and Captain-Chaplain Jos. Wilson will relate his personal experiences on the battlefields of France. Major Fewtrell, the officer commanding the corps, will preside; and the State Commandant (Colonel Ramaciotti) will be present.

STATE INCOME TAX.

The Commissioner of Taxation directs attention to the fact that State income tax returns should be forwarded to him on or before February 9. The penalty for omitting to furnish these returns is £100.

AUSTRALIAN HONOURED.



COLONEL MARTIN, C.M.G.

Colonel Thomas Morgan Martin, who has been made a C.M.G., is the officer in command of No. 2 Australian General Hospital, Egypt. The colonel was born in 1854, in County Waterford, Ireland, and was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, where he took his degree. He came out to Australia in 1886, and for 14 years practised in College-street. He was placed on the reserve of officers of the Australian Army Medical Corps in 1897 as a lieutenant, rising to the rank of captain in 1900, major in 1903, and being gazetted lieutenant-colonel in 1911.

FIVE PER CENT.
FIVE PER CENT.

(This, by the way, is a very, very low rate just now, and to the thinking person it is going to give a good added value to his contract before long.)

TO ILLUSTRATE A TYPE
WE ARE OFFERING,
Standing in a fine block of land, 50 x 150, with a garden nicely turfed, with winding path leading from the gate to the front steps, which lead on tiled porch verandah. There is a wide entrance hall, fitted with grille, out of which is the sitting-room, in the best of taste, with stencilled friezes, Lazasse ceiling, and mantel of the newest style and construction. Beyond this room is a very nice dining-room, 18 x 13. The room has the cosy Early English treatment, and is very effective when furnished to carry out the ideas of the architect. There are two large bedrooms and a breakfast room. The bathroom is one of the features of the house, being large, tiled, with porcelain bath, lavatory basin, nickel taps, shower, etc. The laundry is about double the usual size, and is so arranged that the gas stove is operated from there, with sink as well.

The Properties are all sewered, and connected with Gas, Electric Light, City Water, etc.

TERMS CAN BE ARRANGED AS LOW AS 20s PER WEEK, AFTER PAYING A REASONABLE DEPOSIT SUGGESTED BY YOURSELF.

WE HAVE COTTAGES AT £800, £875, £1000, £1100, AND SO ON.

Illustrated Booklet forwarded to any address.
HABERFIELD OFFICE IS OPEN ALL DAY TO-DAY.

STATIONS, FARMS, AND STOCK.

THERE IS A REASON
why, despite a heavy tariff and the cost of carriage and handling, so large a proportion of our table vegetables is imported from the other States or from foreign countries—why this great city is not fed by the products of the fertile lands which surround it. This, too, notwithstanding the high prices—in some cases famine prices—of poultry, eggs, vegetables, bacon, hams, fruit, flowers, honey, etc.

THERE IS MONEY IN THE SMALL FARM PROPOSITION, THEN BUY A FARM ON RICKARD'S EASY TERMS.

RICH SOIL FARMS,
NEAR GOSFORD.

Some of these are of the richest garden soil that will grow maize, lucerne, fruit, vegetables, etc., to perfection. The annual rainfall is 52 inches.
There is a fine beach close to the property. Terrigal is 3 miles south of it, and Tuggerah Lakes is rather further to the north.

THE CHILD—AND PIANO PLAYING.
GOOD PIANO ESSENTIAL.
GOOD PIANO ESSENTIAL.
It is often declared that "any old piano is good enough for a beginner to strum upon."
Therein lies a great error of judgment. The beginners' ideas of tone and touch should be formed on a good piano—else they may easily become quite wrong.
Buy a good piano at the outset—a CARNEGIE piano. Instruments at all prices on easy terms, 20/ per month—2 or 3 year periods.

FARM AND STATION.

HARVEST TIME.

(BY J. J.)

The harvest is the consummation of the wheat farmer's year, and, incidentally, his one "rush" period. Other farming operations proceed at a steady pace, but garnering time demands every ounce of effort and every available hour of sunlight. The race against time and the weather is to the swift—the laggard will suffer severely for his tardiness. Many anxious moments pass between seed-time and harvest; the rain gauge is constantly watched, every sign of progress or decline in the growing crop brings its corresponding elation or disappointment to the farmer. When it is seen that a crop is certain the machines which have lain in idleness a full twelve months are pulled out of the sheds and thoroughly overhauled. The farmer, being a general handy man, does most of his own repairs. Odd breakages may be beyond his skill, and necessitate a visit to the more skilful blacksmith. When such is the case the defective machine is dragged to town—a slow and tedious journey, and one to be avoided if possible. A stock of bags and binder twine is ordered, and the dray makes one of its periodical visits to town in order to obtain the goods. Perchance these articles are already in the shed, where they have lain from last year, when drought rendered them unnecessary.

The days lengthen, the sun's rays acquire a torrid touch, the flag begins to wither and turn yellow, the wheat ears swishing in the breeze begin to fill out to their full size, and the critical moment arrives, when the crop must either be allowed to continue ripening and the flag wither completely and be worthless as hay, or be cut ere its succulent juices disappear. At times the farmer experiences difficulty in deciding whether to cut his crop for hay or to let it stand a few weeks longer, and harvest it for grain. A few points of rain will make all the difference; perhaps the rain does not fall, and the wheat must fall before the reaper; possibly a late sown paddock may be backward, and that section alone will be cut for hay.

The eventful morning for the commencement of hay-making arrives. All hands are up before the sun's red orb has peeped over the horizon. The final touches are given to the reaper and binder, the bearings are well oiled, the ball of binder twine is placed in position, the machine is given a trial turn or two in the paddock and everything is ready for action. The usual silence of the bush is broken by the sharp clatter of the reaper, the sound becomes monotonous as the day advances, and one's not sorry when the approach of evening gives the signal to cease work. Sunset sees a change in the scene. The paddock is dotted by stooks of drying hay, where previously waved the ripening crop. In the case of the smaller growers a few days suffice to turn the crop into hay. The strong heat of the sun soon cures the hay, and it is ready for stacking. The next point to be settled is the position of the stacks. The building of the stack is no amateur's work. When the services of an experienced stack-builder are available he is engaged readily at good pay. Failing that, the farmer must do the work himself. The foundation of the stack must be well and truly laid, otherwise the first wind will overturn the edifice and strew the hay about the paddock. The thatching must be soundly done, else the first thunderstorm will ruin its contents.

Many of the small farmers combine to purchase harvesting machinery. When such an arrangement obtains the joint owners agree as to the periods during which each may use the machine. Every man then lends his services to the user of the machine. The advantage of this system are obvious, and not the least is in overcoming the labour difficulty, often acute in country districts at harvest time. Grain-harvesting follows close after haymaking. The stripper-harvester is usually employed in this operation. The sharper hum of this machine cuts the air from daylight till dark, with, of course, occasional spells. Breakages frequently occur. These are often mended with that handy material, fencing wire. When the breakage is more serious it may necessitate a visit—post-haste—to town to the machinery agents for a duplicate part. Midday brings a welcome break in the day's work. The horses are fed often beneath a rough bush shelter, while the harvesters enjoy a meal and a much-needed rest.

The weather is closely watched during the whole period of the harvest. Rain during that period may ruin the whole of the crop, and a year's work be wasted. Signs of approaching change cause a redoubling of effort. The bags lying about the paddock are removed to the grain sheds as quickly as possible, or covered in some way, and the machine works far on into the night, helped as well as possible by improvised lights. Harvest-time lays heavy burdens upon the women folk on the farm. Cooking begins early in the morning, and finishes long after sunset. Breakfast is hurriedly eaten soon after sunrise. At 11 o'clock refreshments (really a second meal) are carried to the paddock. The midday meal is a substantial one. The tea bucket and cake basket make another trip to the wheat paddock at 4 o'clock, and a body of tired men consumes the last meal at sunset. Early hours are the rule at harvest-time, and the harvester needs no sleeping draught.

In most seasons, excepting in the later districts, Christmas Day usually sees the last of the grain safely garnered and housed. The farmer may then enjoy a slight respite from his labours ere the task of ploughing begins anew.

THE WOOL TRADE.

RESUMPTION NEXT WEEK.

Auctions will be resumed in the Sydney market next week, and, if all goes well, will continue uninterruptedly till March 9, when it is expected that practically the whole of the available supplies will be disposed of. There was a suspension of auctions this week to admit of the sales being held in Brisbane, and not through any dislocation of business, caused by lack of freight, industrial troubles, or other difficulty. This will be welcome news to growers who still have wool to offer. The offerings will aggregate some 32,000 bales per week, and will be fairly attractive during the earlier sales, a good proportion of wools from the tablelands being included in next week's catalogues. There should be an exceptionally strong demand for all useful wools, for, in addition to the usual attendance, some buyers may put in an appearance from Victoria, as no auctions are to take place in Melbourne or Geelong next week. The only interstate sales so far arranged for next week are the comparatively unimportant end-of-the-season offerings in Adelaide on Friday. Shortage of freight is given out as the cause of the break in the selling in Victoria, but from the additional selling conditions allowed there this week it would almost appear as if fear of labour troubles is also playing its part in the disorganisation of the southern selling trade. It will be remembered that some strike trouble interrupted sales early in the Victorian season, and that when a settlement was arrived at auctions were to have been held right up to the eve of the Christmas holidays; but the buyers would not assent to such a course being pursued, and the adjournment took place at the usual time. Complications have also arisen in New Zealand. A record offering of some 35,000 bales was to have been made in Wellington on Tuesday last, but owing to the possibility of shortage of freights buyers had previously resolved to abstain from operating till shipping is available. The reimposition of the embargo on the export of crossbred to America did not affect values at the sales at the recent auctions in the Dominion; the trouble apparently is one of freight.

In face of the difficulties experienced in Victoria and New Zealand it is exceedingly satisfactory to find that auctions are to proceed in Sydney as usual next week, with the probability of no break till the balance of the clip is disposed of. If values continue firm, and burry as well as other faulty wools hold their own, or come into stronger demand, there is every likelihood of this pleasing state of affairs in the Sydney market being consummated. Many growers who have not realised on their clip have had to face many difficulties owing to the drought. The market this season could only be fed sparingly, and buyers practically insisted earlier in the season on only well-grown wools, free or nearly free, being catalogued. In this way they dominated the position. If faulty wools were offered they were neglected; and as a consequence many later shorn clips from the tablelands were offered prior to wools that were received earlier in the season. The early wools in many cases carried burr, dust, and were short or tender in staple. These, if now not too short, tender, or otherwise too faulty, have come into favour, and there is reasonable ground for anticipating that even all faulty wool will be required at payable prices to growers before the statistical year closes. The moderate supplies offering do not promise to be equal to the demand; consequently, there is every prospect of a strong demand continuing in force at firm to firmer rates for the balance of the wool in the stores.

Rates current for the principal descriptions of the staple in the Sydney market may be given as follows:—

MELBOURNE SALES SUSPENDED.

Auctions have been held this week in Melbourne from Monday to Wednesday, in Brisbane on Tuesday and Wednesday, and in Geelong on Thursday. There will be no further sales in Brisbane till March 14, and no auctions in Melbourne or Geelong next week, owing, it is said, to freight difficulties in Victoria. The next sale in Adelaide is set down for Friday, February 4, instead of Saturday next. The offerings for the week in Victoria were limited to 26,000 bales, 18,000 in Melbourne and 8000 in Geelong. Some attractive selections were submitted, wools being drawn from a wide area, and a buoyant market ruled; greasy comeback fleece realising to 24d. Competition was strong from Yorkshire and Scotland, with moderate bidding by America for the best wools. The Continental section was inactive.

It would appear from the suspension of sales next week, and the unusual conditions under which the catalogues were submitted this week, that some of the difficulties of the trade experienced prior to the recess have been likely to arise again: for, in addition to the usual terms, the wools were sold this week subject to the proviso that "if the weighing and/or delivery of the goods sold or any of them shall be hindered or prevented by reason of any general or partial strike, lock-out, or combination of workmen, the period or periods within which such weighing and/or delivery shall be effected shall be extended so long as shall under the circumstances of the case be reasonable. If, owing to strikes, the buyer has no opportunity of shipping his wool, then the seller shall not receive payment until such time as the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity to ship and receive bill of lading, and no additional charge shall be made for interest, storage, or insurance."

It is hoped that sales may be resumed in Melbourne by Monday, February 7; the "Age," however, remarked on Wednesday last that "as there is no tonnage in sight to lift any more wool from Australia than that which has already been sold or catalogued for this week, it has been found impossible to continue the sales. Auctions therefore will be discontinued during the week, commencing 31st inst. It will take until the end of February to lift the wools already dealt with, and when it will be possible to recontinue the auctions will depend entirely upon what shipping facilities present themselves."

THIS WEEK'S BRISBANE SALES.

With only moderate supplies available, the series in Brisbane this week was confined to two selling days; 12,225 bales being offered on Tuesday, and about 13,500 on Wednesday. The selection in the grease was only medium, but scoureds included some choice lines. The effects of the drought were shown in many of the wools, which were fine in quality but short in staple, and carrying earth. Compared to the previous series, values ruled 5 to 10 per cent. higher for good fleece, 10 to 15 per cent. higher for medium fleece and bulky pieces, also scoured fleece. Greasy merino on the opening day sold to /18½, for a line from Aramac; greasy crossbred to /19½, for a line from Tenterfield; and scoured merino to /24½, for a parcel from Maxwelton, and treated at Talmoi. On the second day greasy merino sold to /19, for a line from Blackall; /19½ for crossbred, from Yeulba; and scoured merino to /33, for a parcel from Richmond.

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

A material decrease in the receipts of wool by rail has taken place this week; there, however, has been a fair increase by boat. The decrease by rail is expected, as the season's production is almost sure to show a decrease by the end, or before, the close of the statistical year. The receipts by boat include a considerable proportion of wools from Queensland, and therefore are no criterion as to quantity for the season grown in this State. The quantity for the week and for the season to date compares with the corresponding period last year as follows:—

BY RAIL.

Season.	Jan. 22 to 28. Bales.		July 1 to 28. Bales.
1915-16	3,971	..	552,612
1914-15	12,906	..	516,906
Decrease ..	8,935	Increase	35,706

BY BOAT.

Season.	Bales.		Bales.
1915-16	1,906	..	76,768
1914-15	1,377	..	51,649
Increase ..	529	Decrease	25,119

Total seaboard increase for season to date, 60,825 bales.

NEXT WEEK'S SYDNEY ROSTER.

Eleven catalogues will be submitted next week, and the offerings will aggregate between 32,000 and 33,000 bales. The roster for large lots is as follows:—

Monday, January 31.—(1) Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Limited; (2) New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited; (3) Australian Mercantile Land and Finance Company, Limited.

Tuesday, February 1.—(1) Dalgety and Co., Limited; (2) Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited.

Wednesday, February 2.—(1) Winchcombe, Carson, Limited; (2) Hill, Clark, and Co., Limited; (3) Schute, Bell, and Co., Limited.

Thursday, February 3.—(1) Country Producers' Selling Company, Limited; (2) Co-operative Wool and Produce Company, Limited; (3) John Bridge and Co., Limited.

STATE WOOL EXPORTS.

The return prepared by the Sydney Customs for the six months ended December 31 of the oversea exports from the State, compared to the corresponding period last season, shows an increase of 230,389 bales, and is as follows:—

	1915-16. July-Dec., 6 months. Bales.		1914-15. July-Dec., 6 months. Bales.
From Sydney to United Kingdom and foreign ports	[illegible]	..	[illegible]
From Newcastle to United Kingdom	11,0[illegible]	..	[illegible]
From Sydney to New Zealand	378	..	791
Total	[illegible]	..	[illegible]

Increase, 230,389.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Fair quantities of wool have been shipped during the week, five vessels clearing the Sydney Customs since last review, with a total of 10,863 bales, as compared with eight vessels during the corresponding week last year, aggregating 14,150 bales. Included in the shipments this week was one vessel taking 2810 bales for Marseilles and 2369 for Genoa. The destinations and quantities for the week, and total for the season to date compare with the corresponding period last season as follows:—

	Bales.
Achilles, Jan. 19, for London	1,410
Tango Maru, Jan. 21, for Japan	3,461
Boonah, for Marseilles, Genoa	5,179
Karmala, Jan. 22, for London	802
Makura, Jan. 20, for Vancouver	11
Total from Sydney since last review	10,863
Total from Sydney and Newcastle from July 1 last to date	843,677
Corresponding period last season	612,537

IRRIGATION COMMISSION.

"Yanko" writes:—Reading your criticisms of the Yanko muddle to date, one is struck with the mildness of your expressions as compared to what the settlers think and say. Words cannot convey the feelings of the men who have been induced by Government representations to risk their capital and energies in the irrigation settlements. We are faced with the fact that the Government is either unwilling or unable to grip the situation, and clear up the mess that has resulted from the bad management of the past. Why is there this delay in coming to some decision? Is the pressure (by some officials who know that they will be weeded out because they have failed in their responsibilities) so strong that the Government is marking time to keep them in their billets a little longer? There is apparently ample leisure to play with the Conservatorium of Music, nationalising bakeries, North Shore bridge, etc., but there is no time to deal with the appointment of the Commission which is to rehabilitate Murrumbidgee in the eyes of the irrigation world. We are afraid of a political appointment you mentioned lately, and afraid that we are going to be handed over to the inexperience of a "friend" of the Government. If we do get that type of man, then the doom of irrigation development is sounded. The qualifications for the post are strength of character, practical knowledge of irrigation, and a thorough experience of the business and engineering management of an irrigation settlement. If that man is available, get him now, and do not wait for the settlement to be smothered out of existence by reckless officials who have neither ability nor experience of the work they have undertaken.

STOCKOWNERS' ASSOCIATION.

At the regular monthly meeting of the council of the Stockowners' Association of New South Wales, the president (Mr. J. M. Atkinson) occupied the chair. There were also present Messrs. C. Binnie (4D), J. B. Cramsie (Moree), W. F. Jaques (Bugilbone), E. Killen (Nymagee), W. W. Killen (Merribee), L. Leake (Mt. Brandon), A. E. Scott (Gingie), and W. H. Wheatley (Goulburn). Considerable discussion took place with reference to resumption of the Breadalbane reserve, and a sub-committee was appointed to endeavour to have papers in connection with same laid before Parliament at an early date. It was reported that survey work has taken place on the Mooki River water reserve No. 29,423, Parish of Weston, County of Pottinger. It was decided to enter a protest against alienating any portion of this reserve, as it is urgently required for travelling stock. It was resolved to enter a protest against the proposal of the Government to create State monopolies of the meat, bread, and other industries, as such action if carried out will seriously hamper and injure the primary producers, and will indirectly affect injuriously the interests of the whole community.

EGG-LAYING COMPETITION.

COMPETITORS' REPRESENTATIVES.

The following is the result of the ballot in connection with the election of three representatives of the competitors in the egg-laying competitions:—F. J. Brierley, 35; J. F. Dalrymple, 33; W. H. Forsyth, 23; E. T. Rhodes, 17; T. Pritchard, 7; A. W. R. Simpson (Blayney), 6; J. M. Weaver, 5; T. E. Jarman, 5; A. Chick, 4; W. Maskell, 3; F. Clayton, 3; A. H. Collings, 3; W. H. Appleyard, 2; E. G. Geake, 2; W. F. Elliott, 1; A. L. Suttor, 1; W. E. Firth, nil; A. Simpson (Pittwater), nil.

Messrs. Brierley, Dalrymple, and Forsyth will therefore be the competitors' representatives on the new committee, which comes into office on April 12 next.

IRRIGATION EXPERIMENT.

DUBBO.—Mr. J. R. Ryan, of Dubbo, has just completed the erection of a suction gas irrigation plant on his homestead block at "Ganarrin," at the junction of the Talbragar and Macquarie rivers. The plant, which cost £1400, is of the latest type, and is capable of lifting 60,000 gallons of water per hour. The water will be used to irrigate an area of twenty acres, which is now being sown with lucerne, and when the crop matures a handsome yield is expected. Mr. Burge, a farmer living a few miles below Ganarrin, realised £900 from 30 acres of lucerne last year.

BUSH FIRES.

SERIES IN WHEAT PADDOCKS.

MOLONG.—A series of fires have broken out in the wheat paddocks in rapid succession. A hundred acres of stubble, 300 bags of wheat, which were not insured, and 6 tons of hay, were destroyed. Another outbreak at Two-mile Creek in the Cundumbul district resulted in about 15 acres of standing crop being destroyed.

DAIRYING.

DORRIGO.—The total amount of butter manufactured at the Dorrigo factory for December was 47,467lb, or 22 tons 3cwt 7lb. Suppliers were paid 1s 1½d for first-class, and 1s 0½d for second-class. In the same month 127 pigs were killed at the bacon factory, suppliers being paid 6½d lb for first-class and 6d for second-class. During the last two months splendid rains have fallen, doing much towards helping forward the district again to its usual fertility. There is a great abundance of grass, and so rapid has been the growth that strangers find it hard to realise that fires made such ravages so short a time ago. 747 points of rain were recorded for December.

BOMBALA.—Cathcart butter factory is not doing as much this season as last, some suppliers having given the industry up owing to Government interference. The factory last month made 18,541lb of butter; suppliers were paid 1s 3½d gross, less 1½d working expenses. A proposal has been received from the Bombala Freezing Company to rent the company's surplus power for chilling rabbits. The directors have not yet come to a decision.

JAM-MAKING AND FRUIT-CANNING.

Arrangements have been made by the Department of Agriculture for Mr. J. G. R. Bryant, Assistant Fruit Expert, to give a demonstration in jam making and fruit canning at the orchard of Mr. H. H. Smith, Seven Hills, on Tuesday next, at 2 p.m., under the auspices of the Blacktown branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

EARLY CLOSING OF HOTELS.

MEETING AT MARRICKVILLE.

ADDRESS BY MRS. DAVID.

A meeting of ladies, convened by the Mayor of Marrickville (Alderman Ness), in response to a petition signed by members of the various churches, the Women's National Movement, and the Red Cross Society, was held at the Marrickville Town Hall yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of advocating the closing of liquor bars at 6 p.m. The Mayor presided, and about 60 ladies were present.

The chairman said the State Government was simply beating the air with regard to the question of the early closing of hotels. He could not understand the action of the Government in the matter. It was evident to all that drink was a curse, and the number of drunken soldiers that were to be seen in the streets of Sydney a disgrace. It behoved all who took an interest in their country's welfare to do all they could to remedy the evil.

Mrs. Edgeworth David, president of the Women's National Movement, in explaining the objects of the movement for the closing of the liquor bars at 6 p.m., said it was only started about five months ago, yet the membership already numbered over 50,000. The movement was one established for the national benefit, and the matter had been warmly taken up in the other States of the Commonwealth. Mr. Holman had said that he had no mandate from the people with regard to the question of the early closing of the hotels. Yet he had received a petition from the Temperance ladies, bearing 150,000 signatures. Drunkeness had increased considerably since the war started, and there was no use in Mr. Holman or other politicians saying it had not—the police court records would prove the statement. She sympathised with the young fellows who were going to the front, in view of the great temptations to which they were subjected by their so-called friends when they came into the city from the camps. Only a small proportion of the soldiers took to drink, but those who did made themselves very conspicuous. The majority of the men were temperate, and well-behaved. In a way, the boys were not to blame, for the reason that they were induced to drink by older men, who should know better, and by persons who shouted for them out of an excess of good-fellowship. The executive of the Women's National Movement desired to see established in every district a local committee for organising work, and getting subscribers to a monster petition to be presented to Parliament, urging the closing of hotels at 6 p.m.

It was resolved, on the motion of Mrs. B. Richards (ex-Mayoress) and Mrs. Bell that in the opinion of the meeting, and in the interests of the Empire, the sale of intoxicants should be limited to 6 p.m.

All present formed themselves into a committee to work and organise the district, Mrs. McColl being president and Mrs. Allen secretary.

REPLY TO MR. GRIFFITH.

NORTON GRIFFITHS CONTRACT

The Leader of the Opposition replied yesterday to the speech made by the Minister for Education at Parramatta.

"With regard to the Norton Griffiths agreement," said Mr. Wade, "the grave objection to this contract lies in paying 5 per cent. commission. What is this for? In my opinion, it is a mere pretext for a higher rate of interest. They render no special services for this commission. The firm is put to no expense that is not recouped by the State Government. The employees are paid by the State, the staff likewise, and the unfortunate taxpayer is even bearing the cost of the passage money and half salary of any officers who are brought from overseas to New South Wales. As Mr. Griffiths is so keen on explanations, let him say what this 5 per cent. so-called 'commission' is paid for. Let him explain satisfactorily why these proposals were not submitted to open competition. Mr. Griffith professes to make a great point in alleging that I stated Norton Griffiths had imported over 100 officers. The word "imported" was a clerical error, as is clear from the context. My statement was that "they had appointed over 100 officers, who were not previously in the State service.' If they had been imported they would obviously not be in the State service. Will the Minister assert that there were no officers in the service of this State fit to fill the positions occupied by these new arrivals?

"With regard to the Necessary Commodities Commission Mr. Griffith makes the same valiant claim that Mr. Hall did in July last, that the Commission by their action have saved the consumer £1,400,000. For the time being, no doubt there was a saving to the consumer, but a severe injustice was done to the producer, and this arbitrary fixing at unreasonable figures has come back like a boomerang on the consumer subsequently. The various producing industries have made requests for increase of price owing to various causes. The commission in the first instance refused, either wholly or in part, the requests so made, and in many instances further production at the prices fixed became impossible, and individuals turned to other methods of making money. The Government thus accentuated the scarcity, and almost brought about a famine. No trader will run the risk of importing at a price which must mean loss to him and with no guarantee that the Government will behave reasonably. The Government, therefore, are forced to become the importers, and on the goods arriving adopted the only course of raising the price to meet the increased cost of the imported article."

RIFLE SHOOTING.

TEMORA, Friday.

The Temora, Cootamundra, and Wyalong rifle clubs were represented by eight men a side in a teams' match on the local rifle range on Wednesday. The changing wind and haze made shooting very difficult. Scores:—Temora, 541; Cootamundra, 518; and Wyalong, 465.

HOW AUSTRALIA IS "RULED."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—On this another Anniversary Day we as a State are getting older, and should have "more sense," but the following remarks on how industry is "ruled" may not be out of place in your pages; in fact, we are being more than ruled by certain sections of labour—we are being distinctly "blackmailed."

A vessel now in Sydney Harbour from America is discharging her cargo alongside a city wharf. The contracting stevedore, whose tender was accepted, has had a very large and extensive experience in all classes of this work, and has at all times treated his workmen in a friendly manner under union conditions. A few years ago his same men discharged vessels satisfactorily at a rate of only 45 per cent. of what he is now tendering for, and then a fair profit was left on the transaction for himself. These last few years, however, labour evidently wants all. Stevedoring prices are now two and one-quarter times more, and no profits can be shown. How is this? Well, it is quite simple—the deep-sea wharfies will not work to show any profit whatever. For years they have been working up to the prices, or, shall we say rather, "working down" to them? According to awards, they have a full complement of men in each hold; they have now "travelling" time, or, in miner's phrase, "bank to bank" time of half an hour each way allowed, but all these concessions are only aggravating the blackmailing rapaciousness of this class of labour, which is determined to rule the industry of Australia. These men got to know what price was accepted for the stevedoring discharge of this certain vessel, and arranged to "work" accordingly amongst themselves. It will take fully a week longer to finish the discharge than it should reasonably have done. And look at this enormous waste of time in demurrhage cost alone, besides the cost of interest on goods undischarged, and extra cost to the receiving firm's staff. To a student of nature looking over this gang of "labour's despotic kings," there appears in their faces a smirk of "power," but go deeper and you will find most of them are "foreigners" and not Australians. Some of them, if not "Huns," are mighty near that country's origin—perhaps so called—neutral-allied-born natives, who came to Sunny New South Wales for their country's good, but not for Australia's benefit. They enjoy the half-hour "walking" time in the public-house, and gloat over the way they rule this sunny land. These men are typical of the labour element who are determined at any cost to make this Australia a byword (vide Broken Hill, etc.). Are our thinking, reasonable unionists going to permit this blackmailing of irresponsible labour who have no real interests at stake, and should be deported from this island continent to where stronger methods would keep them in their proper place? Our Australian boys are fighting in Europe for freedom, and while labour on deepsea boats is not too plentiful these "scallywags" are playing fast and loose with our fair land. One might say pay off this class of workmen and get others, but can this be done? We say no, until such times as the New South Wales Government are prepared to back up employers who wish a fair deal at the hands of unionism. Our public men are now (like Premier Hughes and Minister Jensen) getting educated to the dangers of rabid socialistic work-as-you-please unionism, who, of course, are spoiled by getting rates of pay out of all proportion to skilled labour. This despotism and blackmailing of purposely inefficient labour must cease, or all our fighting for freedom will be of no avail. I am, etc.,

IN MEMORIAM.

BASTARD.—In loving memory of my dear wife, Jane Gardiner Bastard, who departed this life January 30, 1911, aged 58 years.

All is sad within my memory,
Lonely is my heart to-day,
For the one I loved so dearly
Has for ever passed away.

Inserted by her sorrowing husband, Harry Bastard.

BASTARD.—In loving remembrance of our dear sister and auntie, Jane Gardiner, who departed this life January 30, 1911, aged 58 years.

Calmly she sleeps in God's holy acre,
Released from all sorrow, from toil, and pain;
For ever at rest in the arms of her Maker,
And humbly we pray we'll meet her again.

Inserted by her loving sister and nieces, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoblie, Decima, Elsie, and Stella.

BASTARD.—In loving memory of my dear sister and our auntie, Jane Gardiner Bastard, who departed this life January 30, 1911, aged 58 years.

No one knows how much we miss her.
Some may think the wound is healed;
For they cannot see the sorrow
In our aching hearts concealed.

Inserted by her sorrowing brother, Richard, and nephew and niece, Leslie and Christina Cross.

BURGESS.—In loving memory of our darling little Phyllis, who passed away on January 29, 1915.

Some day, some time, our eyes shall see
The face we keep in memory.

Inserted by her sorrowing parents, brother, and sisters.

BURGESS.—In loving memory of our darling niece, Phyllis Myrtle, who departed this life January 29, 1915.

She was just a wee little snowdrop,
A sweet little flower from her birth,
So God took her back to Heaven
Before she was soiled by the earth.

Inserted by her affectionate uncle and aunt, Fred and Maude.

BURGESS.—In sad but loving memory of our dear grandchild and niece, Phyllis, who departed this life January 29, 1915. Inserted by her grandmother and aunties, H. and D. Bratton.

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

WE, SELINA JANE HAMMER, EMILIE VICTORINE TAYLOR (nee HAMMER), and CLARISE CATHERINE HAMMER, of No. 137 William-street, Sydney, in the State of New South Wales, trading as "The Misses Hammer," of same place Costumieres do hereby severally solemnly and sincerely declare that:—

1. Our Father, FERDINAND AUGUSTUS HAMMER, was born on the twentieth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one, at Hillerod, in the County of Boeborg, near Copenhagen, Denmark.

2. During the years one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, and one thousand eight hundred and fifty, our Father, the said FERDINAND AUGUSTUS HAMMER fought against the Prussians during the first Schleswig-Holstein War, on the termination of which he received the Commemoration War Medal from the Danish Government, which Medal is still in our possession.

3. Our Mother, JANE MAC CLYMONT, was born at Kirkcudbright, Wigtonshire, Scotland.

4. In or about the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty, our Father, the said FERDINAND AUGUSTUS HAMMER, settled in Australia, where he became a Naturalised British Subject and a Member of the Mounted Police Force, being on duty at the time of the wreck of the Dunbar at the Gap, South Head.

5. He subsequently left for New Zealand, and resided at Invercargill, in the South Island for some years, where he was married to our Mother, the said JANE MAC CLYMONT, and in which town we were all born.

6. During the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy he returned to Australia, and resided in Sydney until the date of his death, on the twenty-third day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

7. Our Brother, FERDINAND AUGUSTUS HAMMER, fought for the British during the South African War, being a member of the Canadian Scouts, for which he received the Queen's Medal with four bars and the King's Medal with two bars.

8. We have suffered loss both socially and financially through certain reports having been circulated to the effect that our parents and ourselves are Germans or of German parentage, and we accordingly make this declaration, so that it may be known that there is no truth in the said reports, and to give notice that legal proceedings will be instituted against any person or persons spreading, circulating, or repeating such false reports.

And we make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of the Oaths Act, 1900.

SEVERALLY SUBSCRIBED and Declared at Sydney, this 28th day of January, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, before me,
EDWARD W. BUTLER, J.P.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1916.

THE NATION THAT FOUND HERSELF.

In his address on Wednesday to the descendants of our early pioneers, who were gathered at the statue of Governor Phillip, Mr. R. J. Black, M.L.C., reminded us of the wonderful progress of Australia since the day the men of the first fleet landed on January 26, 1788. The voyage of that fleet occupied eight months and one week, whereas now we make the journey between England and Australia in one month. Great ocean liners, providing comforts never dreamed of by our forefathers, pass to and fro in regular succession. As a boy the president of the Pioneers' Club watched the small sailing ketches which used to trade with Broken Bay and the Hawkesbury discharging their cargoes on the banks of the old Tank Stream, near the spot now occupied by the offices of the P. and O. Company. In the course of a century and a quarter we have seen the rise of great commercial cities in this country. We have seen Sydney grow out of unpromising beginnings to the fifth port in the British Empire, and one of the greatest seaports in the world. We have seen a network of railways spread over the land, and winged words speeding over the telegraph wires from one end of the country to the other. We have seen the wonderful work of British colonisation in New Zealand and throughout the islands of the Pacific, and the linking up of all these parts by means of the submarine cable. And, as Mr. Black says, the development that has taken place in these lands—but particularly in Australia—is one of the most striking features in the history of mankind. Half a century ago Sir E. Bulwer-Lytton, then Secretary for the Colonies, wrote to Sir George Bowen, the first Governor of Queensland:—"It requires a scholar as well as a statesman fully to appreciate what Bacon calls 'the heroic work of colonisation.'" But even more interesting at this moment is it to recall what this man of prescience said at an Australian celebration in London fifty-seven years ago:—"It may so happen that in a distant day England may be in danger. If that day should ever arrive I believe that her children will not be unmindful of her, and that to her rescue across the wide ocean ships will come thick and fast, among which there will be but one cry: 'While Australia lasts England shall not perish.'" How prophetic these words were is proved by that other Australian celebration in England only a day or two ago, when the people gathered at the hospitals and elsewhere to do honour to our brave soldiers who had won glory for themselves, their country, and their Empire on Gallipoli. Thirty years ago we sent a contingent to the Soudan—a small contingent, it is true, but one which earned Lord Wolseley's thanks, and caused him to express the wish that if Britain should ever find herself in danger in the future she might be supported by Australians of their type: and then, later, when the Boer war came, we sent our soldiers to South Africa. But it was not till the war of all the world was upon us that Australia really found herself.

But there are some things that the president of the Pioneers' Club has done well to remind us of. There are in our midst, as he said, a number of people who fail to realise the great heritage and responsibility that have been entrusted to them. We have, indeed, a great heritage, and just because of that our responsibility is great. Unless we are prepared to sell our birthright for a mess of German pottage we have got to fight as we never fought before; and yet there are men at Broken Hill and in Melbourne who are so far from realising the truth that they have earned the contempt of every loyal man in Australia. One of these men, a Mr. Considine, has even come to Sydney, and audaciously attempted to coerce the Labour Council of this city into supporting the pro-German movement at Broken Hill. For it is a pro-German movement. Those who are not for us are against us, and certain it is that those misguided individuals who are holding up the manufacture of munitions whilst our boys are dying for their sakes are traitors to their country. This Mr. Considine got his deserts on Thursday night, when the Sydney Labour Council plainly showed that it had no intention of identifying itself with the enemy. Mr. Hughes, our Prime Minister, who was rightly described as "one of the best unionists in Australia, and who knows how great the Empire's need is, had asked the Broken Hill men to go back to work, and submit their case to the Arbitration Court, and that was enough for the true unionists of Sydney in a time of war. Mr. Hughes knows how much depends upon our winning this war. Mr. Fisher, another great Australian Labour leader, knows it, and has appealed to all loyal Australians to sink their differences at this time, and unite for the common good. Mr. Watson, who was formerly Labour Prime Minister of Australia, knows it. "The dominions," he said when in England a little while ago, "are not simply assisting the mother country in the European war. They feel, each one of them, that they are also fighting their own battle for their own ideals—ideals of right and of personal and political liberty—against forces which, if victorious, would inflict a fatal and a world-wide blow at those ideals." On the one hand we have Mr. Hughes, Mr. Fisher, and Mr. Watson; on the other we have—Mr. Considine. It is time to take this thing seriously. It is life or death to us. The striker—and he is not confined to Broken Hill, unfortunately—must take his stand with the shirker; there is no other place for him. The world is not the same to-day as it was yesterday, and it never will be the same again. We must adjust ourselves to the new conditions. We must realise the facts. Men coming home wounded from the war express amazement at the fact that race meetings and prize fights are still going on here, while our sons are fighting and dying for freedom's sake. And what must they think of strikes at a time like this? There are many things which may have to be altered after the war, and Mr. Black touched upon some of them in his thoughtful address; but it will be a thousand times worse if we lose the war, for the only union which will trouble our Mr. Considine then will be the German union of blood and iron. Let us, then, throw all our weight into the scale on the side of justice and freedom. When that is done, then will Australia have found herself in very truth.

LITERATURE IN THE WAR.

A few months ago a great German scholar, addressing the students of the University of Berlin, attempted to define briefly the dominant characteristics of each of his country's enemies. In the English character he found every other quality subordinate to the national vice of hypocrisy. To the French he allowed one virtue or talent in which the Germans are deficient. He found in them an unrivalled sense of display, a happiness of thought and expression which always kept them on the right path on ceremonial occasions, and enabled them to state the national ideals with an appearance of depth and feeling to which there could be no corresponding reality. Unbiassed critics who have witnessed from the French people a display of the stubborn and manly virtues unsurpassed in history will regard the Professor's analysis as another example of the impossibility of retaining any detachment of outlook in the midst of such a war as this. The greatest scholar in Prussia cannot recognise in his enemy those qualities which enabled Prussia to shake off the dominion of Napoleon, because they were covered with others which Germans have always envied but cannot imitate. All the world, however, will agree that the French do possess an unrivalled talent for display, accuracy of thought and taste, and a sense of the fitness of things, and that all these gifts have been abundantly used by them in this war. The President's opening address to the Chamber of Deputies, the speeches of MM. Viviani and Briand, the address delivered by the President when the ashes of Rouget de Lisle were received in the Invalides are examples of the manner in which the national ideals may be expressed in a speech intended for a special occasion. The same ability to symbolise the universal in the particular has been shown in certain acts. The graduates of Saint Cyr spoke for the youth of France when they agreed not to hold the annual celebration of their admission to the army by the customary Roman triumph, but to march into their first battle in full uniform, with white gloves, as if to signify that with the end of their course France had come to the end of her long period of waiting for revenge. The same sense of fitness was shown after a year and a half by the French Academy at its annual meeting for the distribution of prizes for literature and virtue. This year there is one test which every candidate must have passed before his claim has been considered. Where societies are rewarded the test has been their services to the sick and wounded. Where prizes are given to individuals those only are honoured who have fallen in defence of their country. It may be that books have been written during the past year which will outlive those of the prize-winners. But the living may try again. Whatever their skill, and however great their patriotism, they have not given anything equal to the gifts of those who have sacrificed their lives.

This year there is only one standard by which every calling should be judged. How does it help France? Men of letters in France have flung themselves into this war with an enthusiasm born of the knowledge that it is a war of ideals as well as of defence, a war which involves the tradition which inspires them, and which they strive to carry on. Many of them have died, and others have counted their lives wasted because, like Anatole France, they are too old to do anything but encourage their countrymen. None of them but would readily admit that the prizes of the year should go to those of their colleagues who have died for France, and in doing so have proved the ability of men of letters to teach by example as well as by precept. The cables told us of M. Briand's first speech as Prime Minister that it was worthy of Mirabeau. It is certain that in the great days of the Revolution, when the humblest orator was inspired, no more eloquent speeches were uttered than those we have mentioned, and the two in which the officers of the Academy justified their awards. The speakers might have been intent on disproving their own theories that deeds, not words, are all that count in time of war. No French soldier would despise the debt which the nation owes to these men, who strengthen its resolution and justify its sacrifices by recalling the glories of France, and what it has done and will yet do for the world. Yet the Allies, as well as the French people, will feel that in setting action above thought, and words above deeds, at the present time the Academy has obeyed a just instinct. In this war we cannot look for the production of such literature as academic prizes were designed to encourage. There is no room now for the detachment of mind or the freshness of spirit which are essential to imaginative work. In the Napoleonic wars Goethe could write lyrics or hail the birth of a new age careless of whether his country was ruled by the Germans or by the French. To-day the struggle of the nations is an agony for each individual man. A people would be as likely to produce imaginative work as a starving man to think of the pictures he would buy for his house. In such times the function of literature is not suspended, though its production may have ceased. Men turn back more frequently than ever to the great masters, who can sustain and console. Their power is indeed greater than ever, since, with the authority of tried friends, they can show men their place in the world, and prevent them in the face of an overwhelming loss from giving way to despair. Nor will the writers of the next generation fail to find inspiration in the events of to-day. We can think of nothing more inspiring in all the legends of Greece than that scene on Lemnos, when the chosen rearguard of the Australians rejoined their comrades in their retreat. There are scores of other episodes which poets and writers will celebrate when the veil of anonymity is lifted from the doings of the modern armies. But it is safe to prophesy that this struggle will not be described by the men who have taken an active part in it. The horror of it has deprived them of speech, even if they wished their friends to share their knowledge with them. Other generations will feel the loss of all the brave young men who from schools and colleges have flocked to the defence of their country as light-heartedly as if war were the best of all games. Their mood will give a purpose and a reality to literature which in England at least has often been wanting. The men who write it will have much to do, and one of their tasks will be no less important than that of the Frenchmen who have fallen in this war. It will depend on them whether the world will still be divided by hatred and bitterness of feeling. It will be for them to make it impossible for a great scholar to regard the British as a nation of hypocrites, and a great soldier like Hindenburg to say that he is most likely to bring the war to an end by visiting a conquered people with murder and outrage and oppression.

NO GERMAN GOODS.

PREMIER'S DECISION.

The Premier before his departure for Tasmania came to an important decision in regard to goods of enemy manufacture, imported prior to the war, and offered for sale to State Departments.

It is now officially announced that a well-known firm recently, in tendering for Government supplies, stated that certain lines quoted were made in Germany and imported in times of peace.

Mr. Holman was asked for an instruction in regard to this tender, and concurred in a recommendation "that the clearing of stocks of German imported goods must tend to make way for the importation of more when the war is over, either direct or through neutral countries; that it is preferable to obtain Australian substitutes, even if inferior in quality or more expensive."

An instruction on this line has accordingly been sent to the Government Stores Supply Committee.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Joseph Healy, S.J., after an absence of a year, spent mostly in India, has returned to St. Ignatius', Riverview, and resumed his former duties at the college of which he is an ex-student.

An old resident of Sydney, who had the uncommon distinction of having been born in the Tower of London, passed away on Wednesday, in the person of Mrs. Emmeline Catherine Llewellyn, who died at her daughter's residence, Balmain, on Wednesday, in her 88th year. She was the daughter of Charles Augustus Frederick Manton, a member of the Middlesex family of that name, who occupied a responsible Government position at the Tower of London, in the Ordnance Department. He came to Australia in 1841, and engaged in pastoral pursuits. His daughter was the eldest child, and was born in the historic White Tower. Mr. Manton took up land in Victoria, but eventually settled in Melbourne, where he acquired property. His daughter married the late Edward Vaughan Llewellyn. The daughter with whom she was living up to her death is Mrs. A. J. Cormack. Other surviving sons and daughters are Mrs. G. A. Thorne (Melbourne), Mrs. T. J. Steele (Auckland), and Messrs. F. J. N. Llewellyn (of Whittingham), F. J. G. Llewellyn (Mosman), and E. H. Llewellyn (Kogarah).

REMARKABLE ACCIDENT.

INJURED SOLDIER'S STOICISM.

An accident of a peculiar kind occurred yesterday afternoon, when a young soldier named Norman L. M'Kenzie, living at Addison-road, Marrickville, and attached to the 4th Battalion at Liverpool, had his arm broken whilst travelling in a train to Sydney.

M'Kenzie was in a first-class smoking carriage, together with a number of other soldiers, in the train that ran through from Strathfield to Sydney, leaving Strathfield at 4.20 p.m. When the train was somewhere near Lewisham a resounding crash was heard throughout the carriage, and the next moment it was seen that M'Kenzie had been badly injured. He had his arm hanging out of the carriage window, and as he drew it in it was seen to hang limply by his side. Exactly what had struck it was not quite clear, but another train going in the opposite direction was passing by when the crash was heard. He is believed to have been struck by a swinging carriage door of the passing train.

Except that his arm was hanging down as if broken, M'Kenzie showed no sign of the agony he must have been suffering. Several soldiers at once rushed to his assistance, rendering first aid. They cut the sleeve away, and it was seen that his elbow had being frightfully smashed; but the young soldier bore it with that calm stoicism that the doctors and nurses have referred to as the outstanding characteristic of our wounded soldiers at Gallipoli. Then—like them—he turned his head and asked quietly for a cigarette, and he began to smoke.

On arrival at the Central railway station an ambulance was requisitioned, and the young soldier was conveyed to Sydney Hospital.

THE WHEAT YIELD.

FARRER'S GREAT LEGACY.

It is pointed out by the Department of Agriculture that now that the biggest harvest on record in New South Wales is being gathered, the time seems opportune to bring before the notice of wheat farmers the value of the magnificent heritage left to them by the late Mr. William Farrer. As is already known to a large number of our producers, Mr. Farrer devoted several years of close and unremitting study to the breeding of varieties of wheat which would best suit Australian conditions. That he succeeded in his work is proved by the fact that practically all the principal wheats grown in New South Wales and also in the neighbouring States are Farrer wheats. In fact, it may almost be said that there are only a very small number of wheats being grown in this country which are not products of Mr. Farrer's work.

Following is a list of some of the wheats bred by Mr. Farrer:—Federation, Bunyip, Bobs, Cleveland, Comeback, Jonathan, Bayah, Sunset, Thew, John Brown, Jumbuck, Bomen, Cedar, Florence, Warren, Rymer.

It can be said that "Federation" alone has put thousands of pounds into the pockets of the wheat-farmers of Australia. Some years ago a movement was started to collect subscriptions to provide a fitting memorial to Mr. Farrer. The result was a miserable sum of a little over £1500, and yet £3000 or £4000 can be collected in a few weeks as a testimonial to a famous cricketer.

The department thinks that surely Mr. Farrer is worthy of a better memorial than can be provided by £1000. The committee, to whom the fund was handed over, and of which Mr. Geo. Valder, Under-Secretary for Agriculture, is chairman, thought the best memorial would be to establish a perpetual research scholarship to carry on Mr. Farrer's work. But for this purpose at least £4000 will be required.

Subscriptions should be addressed to the chairman of trustees, Farrer Memorial Fund, Department of Agriculture, Sydney.

LITTLE GIRL'S DEATH.

THE CORONER DISSATISFIED.

The Parramatta Coroner, Mr. H. Richardson Clark, yesterday resumed the inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of the little girl, Sybil May Woodman, as a result of a railway accident at Granville Station. The child attempted to leave the train while it was in motion, and was thrown underneath it. The police stated that they had been unable to trace the man "J. Wilson," who was supposed to have assisted the girl off the train.

The Coroner entered a finding of death from injuries accidentally received. He said that he had directed the railway inspector to bring under the notice of the Chief Commissioner the unsatisfactory evidence given by Guard Mitchell. He further added: "I feel that I cannot rely upon it, and that the alteration of a written record is a serious matter. Dealing, as I have so frequently to do, with inquests upon deaths in which railway officials are concerned, it is most important that evidence given and records kept by those officials should be absolutely trustworthy. I also express the opinion that if a train be advertised to stop at a station for two minutes, it should do so, and not, as in this case, for one minute only. It is not unlikely that if the train had stopped for two minutes, this sad accident would not have happened."

ANOTHER TRANSPORT

TO ARRIVE ON TUESDAY.

The Red Cross Society has been notified that a transport with wounded and sick soldiers on board will arrive at Sydney early on Tuesday morning next.

There are 56 soldiers on board for New South Wales, and 33 for Queensland.

MONTENEGRO.

REPORTED SURRENDER.

MESOPOTAMIA.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

An Austrian communique claims that a Montenegrin plenipotentiary signed terms of capitulation on Tuesday.

It is reported from Salonica that there is serious trouble between the Germans and the Bulgarians.

Major-General Townshend reports that the Turks evacuated the trenches on the land side of Kut-el-Amara (100 miles south-east of Baghdad), and retired about a mile from the British entrenchments.

The Austrian Emperor is reported to have had two paralytic strokes. He is in a critical condition.

According to a German report the Allies subjected Lens (northward of Arras) to a heavy bombardment.

The British Parliament has been prorogued till February 15. King George, in his prorogation speech, said he was sustained by the determination of his people at home and oversea to carry the flag to final and decisive victory.

CONFIDENT.

KING GEORGE'S SPEECH.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

The King in proroguing Parliament to February 15 said:—"For eighteen months my army and navy have been engaged in concert with our brave and steadfast Allies defending the common liberties and public law of Europe against the unprovoked encroachments of the enemy.

DECISIVE VICTORY.

"I am sustained by the determination of my people at home and oversea to carry the flag to final and decisive victory in this struggle, which was forced upon us by those who hold in light esteem liberties and covenants which we regard as sacred. We shall not lay down our arms until we have vindicated the cause which carries with it the future of civilisation. I rely in confidence on the loyal and united efforts of all my subjects, who have never failed me, and pray that Almighty God may give us His blessing."

RECORD SESSION.

A record session has ended. It was the longest in modern times, and included three Budgets. Parliament passed credits of £1,562,000,000, and added 3,000,000 men to the army.

BRITISH SHIPPING.

RELIEVING THE STRAIN.

THE PAPER PULP PROHIBITION.

Mr. Walter Runciman, M.P. (President of the Board of Trade), states that in order to relieve the strain on British shipping, the Government has decided to cut down the non-essential imports, and paper pulp and other paper-making materials will be the first dealt with. These materials absorbed 2,000,000 tons of space annually. The whole British mercantile marine was under the control of the Government, and in order that it might be used to the best advantage of the Allies the Government would be assisted by a small committee, of which Lord Curzon was the chairman. The importation of raw tobacco, building materials, furniture woods, veneer, and some fruits might shortly be prohibited. A full statement of the method would be announced as soon as possible. The export of waste paper and rags would be prohibited. The list might be extended until the shipping strain was eased.

MINISTER'S ASSURANCE.

In the House of Commons, Sir R. W. Essex (Liberal) expressed a hope that the prohibition of the import of paper pulp would not operate adversely in the case of newspapers which had not their own means of supply.

Mr. Runciman said that all arrangements would be equitable, and on lines which would not give an unfair privilege to anybody.

The "Daily Chronicle" expects that the Government will legislate restricting the size of newspapers and the use of paper for posters and trade catalogues, otherwise British exports of manufactures will be reduced and imports increased. Both are undesirable.

COMPLETE SURPRISE.

The session closed with a sensation. Mr. Runciman's announcement about tobacco was a complete surprise. It is estimated that there are 240,000,000 pounds of tobacco in bond, which is sufficent for two years. Most has been already paid for. The stoppage of imports will mean a loss of revenue of £24,000,000. It is estimated that the cubic tonnage of all imported tobacco is 100,000 tons annually. This is about one-twelfth the space taken by paper and woodpulp. The stoppage of this is expected as likely to necessitate the discontinuance of many minor periodicals and the production of fewer lpbooks, particularly sevenpenny novels.

WESTERN FRONT.

ARTILLERY DUELS.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

A German communique states: The enemy are bombarding our positions. Monitors are bombarding Westende ineffectively. The enemy subjected Lens (northward of Arras) to a heavy fire. There are vigorous artillery duels in the Argonne.

MIDDLE EAST.

MESOPOTAMIA.

GENERAL TOWNSHEND'S REPORT.

Reuter's Agency states that Major-General Townshend reports the Turks evacuated the trenches and land-side defences at Kut-el-Amara (100 miles south-east of Baghdad), and retired about a mile from the British entrenchments.

Another British force is advancing up the Shatt-el-Hai, which joins the Tigris at Kut-el-Amara. Probably a force will occupy the Euphrates Valley, in order to prevent a Turkish advance on Basra.

General Aylmer yesterday reported that there was no change in the situation.

"HELPLESS."

THE GERMAN SOCIALISTS.

HERR LIEBKNECHT'S VIEWS.

The New York "Outlook" interviewed Herr Liebknecht (Socialist leader), who is despondent. He said there were now two Socialist parties in Germany, and a split had come. He blamed the censorship for the helplessness of the Socialists in resisting the outbreak of war. The Americans could not imagine the awful power of the military.

"In an hour," he went on, "we were cut off from everyone, and became a separate cell in the body politic. Every thinker is a mental prisoner. It is a war of conquest. There are rich mines in France and Belgium. They will never be relinquished. The Socialists without the press never understood the situation."

Herr Liebknecht admitted the truth of the interviewer's remark that the German Socialists had been cowardly, but said people must remember they owned property worth £1,000,000, including presses, theatres, and halls.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

CRITICAL CONDITION.

VATICAN REPORT.

Reuter's correspondent at Rome says it is stated at the Vatican that the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria is in a critical condition, and is sinking rapidly.

The Emperor has had two paralytic strokes, and his condition is critical.

CONSCRIPTION.

LABOUR CONFERENCE PROTEST.

The Labour Conference, sitting in Bristol, by 1,796,000 votes to 219,000 adopted the Leicester Labour Party's resolution, emphatically protesting against conscription in any form, as it was contrary to the spirit of democracy, and full of danger to the liberties of the people.

Mr. Arthur Henderson (President of the Board of Education) appealed to the conference in this crisis not to incite the men to take a course which would bring about the most lamentable defeat this country and its Allies had ever experienced.

Mr. G. H. Roberts (a Lord Commissioner of the Treasury): They could not take the responsibility of refusing assistance to those charged with the country's cause. If Mr. Asquith had repudiated his pledge to the married men the conference would justly have denounced him.

The conference, while declaring against military service, rejected a motion by a majority of 35,000 to agitate for the repeal of the bill if it becomes law.

Mr. W. J. Thorne, M.P., during a stormy meeting, repudiated Mr. Snowden's allegation that the Parliamentary Labour party had become the blind tools of the Government. Mr. Henderson intended to remain silent but for the challenge by Mr. Bellamy that any man connected with the party had either to obey its decision or get out. If that was the decision of the conference it was a dangerous doctrine. Since December 15 to the end of last week 113,987 single men had enlisted. If that rate continued for six weeks they would probably realise their hope that the Military Service Act would be rendered a dead letter. An amendment was being accepted in the bill which ought to satisfy every impartial mind. The last shred of fear of industrial compulsion should vanish.

TARA SURVIVORS.

PRISONERS WITH THE SENUSSI.

The Admiralty announces that 95 survivors from the steamer Tara, which was sunk off the African Coast about the middle of November, are prisoners in the hands of the Senussi. They are being well treated, and efforts are being made to send them clothing and comforts.

PROGRESS OF THE WAR.

NO MINISTERIAL STATEMENT.

Mr. Lloyd George (Minister of Munitions) stated in the House of Commons to-day, that Mr. Asquith would not be able to make a statement as to the progress of the war before the prorogation.

EMPIRE PARLIAMENT.

Sir Clement Kinloch Cooke (Unionist) asked Mr. Bonar Law if he would consider the advisability of discussing questions of emigration and immigration with Mr. Hughes, with a view to joint action.

Mr. Bonar Law said the subject would certainly be discussed.

Sir Clement Kinloch Cooke: Will you consider the question of an Empire Parliament?

Mr. Bonar Law: I may be considering it, but I do not think the time has arrived for discussing it.

THE BALKANS.

MONTENEGRO.

BULGARIAN DIPLOMACY.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

An Austrian communique claims that a Montenegrin plenipotentiary signed terms of capitulation on Tuesday.

The "Neue Freie Presse's" (Vienna) Sofia correspondent says that King Ferdinand, speaking at the banquet given in Nish in honour of the German Emperor, boasted that the diplomacy of M. Radoslavoff (Bulgarian Premier) had hoodwinked the Allies before Bulgaria joined in the fray.

It is reported from Milan that Senor Magrini says that the defences of Salonica are extraordinarily strong. The Bulgarian army is pervaded with malcontents, who are wearied of strife, and always see the spectre of another Balkan war.

A Salonica message says that there is serious trouble between the Germans and Bulgarians. General Von Mackensen interviewed King Ferdinand at Sofia, requesting urgent intervention, also urging him to push on with the Albanian campaign and the bringing up of new troops.

It is expected that the German campaign will be against Albania and Mesopotamia, not Salonica and Egypt.

King Nicholas, interviewed at Lyons, said he had unbounded confidence in France to save Montenegro.

BRAVE GIRL.

AWARDED ST. GEORGE'S CROSS

PETROGRAD, Jan. 28.

A Lettish girl, of 17, has been awarded the St. George's Cross.

Twenty Germans marched up to her father's farm in Courland. A lieutenant threatened that she would be violated and the farm burnt unless she produced wine.

The girl recalled that there were two barrels of old liqueur in the cellar, but before they were brought up she dropped in a powder made of bluebells which brings on drowsiness. The barrels were soon emptied, and the Germans were rolling on the floor one after another.

The girl filled a bowl and gave it to the sentries, saying it was the lieutenant's order, then, returning, she disarmed the Germans, hiding their weapons in the cellar, while her father roped the limbs of the insensible men.

Finally the girl traversed the swamps and found a Siberian outpost. A few pails of ice-cold water woke up the Germans, who were horrified to find themselves prisoners.

CRUISER GOEBEN.

THE RUSSIAN CASUALTIES.

In the Goeben engagement 33 were killed and 80 wounded.

A cable message from Petrograd on January 10 stated: "Our torpedo boats engaged the Goeben in the Black Sea, and then withdrew to the protection of our battleship, which fought the Goeben at long range. The Goeben, having the advantage in superior speed, disappeared into the Bosphorus."

NURSE CAVELL'S DEATH.

BRUSSELS CITIZENS

REFUSE TO PAY THE FINE.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 27.

The "Echo de Belge" states that the city of Brussels refuses to pay the fine of 500,000 marks (about £25,000), which was imposed by the Germans for the assassination of the Belgian spy, Cels, who denounced Nurse Edith Cavell.

Cels was formerly in the Belgian army, and had been in German pay for months. He professed to help the Belgians cross the frontier, but betrayed them. He was the only witness against Nurse Cavell. Hundreds of Belgians swore that Cels should die. A number met at Brussels and elected an avenger. The Germans, in obedience to General von Bissing's order, are not attempting to find Cels' assassin. Cels was found with two bullet wounds, and on the pretext that all firearms held by citizens should have been deposited at the Town Hall, General von Bissing fined the city 500,000 marks.

MR. FISHER.

A NEWSPAPER'S TRIBUTE.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

The "Times," in the course of an article, alludes to Mr. Fisher's long service to Australia. His personal strength of character and his experience as Prime Minister of a great Dominion in wartime will, the journal says, make his counsel particularly valuable to the Imperial Government.

The hope is expressed that the Imperial Government will take full advantage of it. The Colonial Office also deserves full credit for inviting Mr. W. M. Hughes, Sir Joseph Ward, and Mr. Massey, whose presence should be used to the uttermost. They must, the "Times" adds, be consulted regarding the terms of peace.

THE RECRUITS.

MORE SINGLE MEN TO BE CALLED UP.

In Lord Derby's recruiting scheme groups 10 to 13 covering single men of 27 to 31 years of age are to be called up shortly.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

USELESS AT PRESENT.

MR. BONAR LAW'S VIEWS.

Mr. Bonar Law (Secretary of State for the Colonies) said, in the House of Commons, that he did not think an Imperial Conference could be usefully held at present. A discussion on several matters would shortly take place with Mr. Hughes, Prime Minister of the Commonwealth.

ROUMANIAN GRAIN.

BOUGHT BY GREAT BRITAIN.

Lord Robert Cecil (Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs), in reply to a question in the House of Commons, said the Government had concluded contracts for the purchase of Roumanian grain, which would be held at the Government's disposal for export after the war.

ANGRY CROWD.

GERMAN FLAG PULLED DOWN.

BERNE, Jan. 28.

A crowd pulled down the flag at the German Consulate at Lausanne on the German Emperor's birthday, despite the efforts of the police. The crowd also damaged the Imperial Arms.

The Federal Government apologised and ordered the flag to be rehoisted and safeguarded.

"SCOURGE OF GOD."

M. Barthou, speaking at the Sorbonne, said the Kaiser invoked God, of whom he proclaimed himself the apostle. But, he continued, Attila was more sincere. He called himself the scourge of God. History would couple with obloquy their abhorred and accursed names.

WAR NOTES.

BIG NAVAL GUN RUMOURS.

It would be interesting to learn the exact form of the question put to Mr. Balfour in the House of Commons, the reply to which was cabled yesterday. It looks as though some member was either rather scared by pessimistic rumours regarding the re-gunning of the German fleet and the nature and progress of our own naval construction, or was bent on indirectly attacking the Government under the old head of "not doing enough." Mr. Balfour is reported to have said in the course of his reply that "the Government had no evidence that Germany possessed 17-inch guns." This matter of the enemy installing in their battleships bigger guns than anything mounted on British craft has cropped up at intervals since the very beginning of the war, and some nervous people have been led to believe that the Teutonic fleet will sooner or later emerge from its seclusion with a striking power that will more than make up for its numerical inferiority. There is really no reason why Germany should not have 16 or 17 inch guns by this time. There are no insuperable obstacles in the way of turning them out. But, as we have on several occasions pointed out, there are very serious difficulties in the way of mounting a 17-inch gun on a completed ship that has been constructed to carry a 12-inch weapon. It is by no means a case of simply fixing any sized gun up on the deck of a ship. The whole design of the vessel has, broadly speaking, been worked out to suit the size of gun decided upon beforehand, it being, after all said and done, little else than a mere floating gun platform; and in any case the mounting of the gun and its appurtenances enters very definitely into the actual construction of the vessel. In view of this, to replace a 12-inch gun by a 17-inch weapon in a completed battleship would entail a tremendous amount of reconstruction work. It would be feasible, though yet awkward, to change the size of gun in the case of a ship in course of building; and for this reason it would not be altogether surprising if we found that the German ships which were on the way when war broke out, made their appearance with heavier guns than were originally intended for them. The very long delay in connection with the Hindenburg has about it a suggestion of the sort. However, if some German vessels do turn out to have sixteen, or even seventeen inch guns, there will be no need for special alarm. The 13.5-inch, and especially the 15-inch weapons of the British navy, have proved that they can strike effectively at a greater distance than anything like reliable "spotting" can be done, and the German guns will certainly be less "handy" in action, so the extra calibre is, in the circumstances, hardly likely to carry with it any decisive advantage. In any case, it is to be remembered that Britain has been pushing ahead with new construction, and if our experts think that some larger guns are necessary, we are necessarily in a position to keep pace with the enemy in this particular regard. But, notwithstanding the possibility of the Germans having a few ships with sixteen or seventeen inchers, there is to-day less reason than ever for believing that they will risk a general naval engagement.

BRITAIN'S NEW CONSTRUCTION.

Another section of Mr. Balfour's reply states that every dockyard in Great Britain and in the Mediterranean is working to its utmost capacity on new construction or repairs for ourselves or our Allies. This looks as though the questioner was nervous less we were showing an inclination to rely a little too much on our present superiority, but it is difficult to realise how such an idea could be entertained. Authoritative statements have been made on several occasions which cut the ground from under it, and one only needs to recall the figures showing what a small mercantile tonnage is under construction, though the dockyards are busier than ever they have been before, to imagine what naval work is going forward. However, Mr. Balfour's declaration should set all doubts at rest. The last portion of the Minister's reply suggests that somebody believes we are, in some instances at least, building the wrong kinds of vessel, for he says: "Nothing has occurred to justify the Admiralty in thinking that there has been any serious error of judgment in connection with the various types of ships under construction." It is, of course, impossible to guess what particular types the questioner had in mind, for there are more different kinds of fighting craft now being turned out than naval history has ever known, ranging from improved super-Dreadnoughts down to lightning anti-submarine mosquito craft. In some of the vessels which are more or less of an experimental character disappointments may possibly be involved; but it has already been amply proved that several at least are remarkably successful. In this connection, by the way, it is worth while recalling the debt the Empire owes to Lord Fisher. Mr. Winston Churchill, in course of his speech in the House on his resignation, in which he freely criticised Lord Fisher regarding his attitude in the Dardanelles affair, interpolated the following:—"On the other hand, I wish to say that I do not at all regret having insisted on Lord Fisher's return, in the face of great opposition, to the Admiralty in November, 1914. No man has ever been able to put war purpose into the design of a ship like Lord Fisher. At the beginning of this war megalomania was the only form of sanity. Prince Louis and I had ordered large war programmes on the outbreak of war, and perhaps from some points of view they may have been considered sufficient at the moment, but Lord Fisher came along with a new wave of impulse and enthusiasm. He was able to produce vast schemes of ship construction of every kind, with new designs and improvements on old designs. Hardly a day passed without his bringing new projects to me, which I was delighted to encourage, and which, through the absence of Treasury control, I was happily able to finance—(laughter)—and if my right hon. friend the First Lord of the Admiralty to-day finds himself, as he does, week by week upborne upon an ever-swelling tide of deliveries of crafts of all kinds, and of a kind best suited to the purposes of this war, that is the consequence of Lord Fisher's return to the Admiralty in November, 1914."

TURKEY'S RULERS.

We get an interesting glimpse of how Turkey is being governed at the present moment in a despatch to his paper by the special correspondent of the New York "Herald," who has just recently left Constantinople after a prolonged stay there. The Sultan, he says, is a mere figurehead. His health has gone, and he is feeble-minded. It is true there is a Grand Vizier with his Cabinet, Ministers, and Parliament, but all this means nothing. A strange organisation rules over the realm of the Turk—Enver Pasha as Minister of War and Commander of the army; Talaat Bey as Minister of the Interior—also meanwhile acting Minister of Marine, Acting Minister of Finance—plus the President of the Committee of Union and Progress. These two are everything, and they have the power. A few years ago, before the Turkish revolution, Talaat Bey was an unknown officer in the Telegraph Office at Salonica. Enver Bey was a petty military officer there. Neither had any education of any value; no experience in statesmanship, no knowledge of the world or of history, but they have one thing that keeps them in supreme power—that is the boldness, the resolute will and determination of reckless adventurers. They have as co-workers a few who might be termed as men of the first rank. They are Halil Bey, President of the Chamber, now Minister for Foreign Affairs; Ibrahim Bey, Minister for Justice; Bedri Bey, Director of the Police, and Djambola Bey, Director of Public Safety. The men of the second rank are the members of the committee of National Defence, the head of which is Ismet Bey, the Governor of Pera. Then come the men of the third rank, who are appointed governors of provinces. Every fortnight the committee of Union and Progress meets under the presidency of Talaat Bey. A resolution or a law once passed by the committee, it is finished. There remain only formalities. The Cabinet will approve it immediately; the Sultan will sign the Imperial irade, and Parliament will vote it. All is done in one day. Once the formalities are finished with the law is carried out instantly by the Committtee of National Defence and the provincial governors. The Committee of National Defence was organised at the commencement of the war to assist the families of soldiers in need and raising voluntary contributions for the needs of the army, but in fact it turned out to be the most powerful instrument in the hands of the secret government of Constantinople, and its big organisation, with branches in every city, has been used without scruple to root out all opposition against the power of Enver, Talaat, and Co."

GERMAN ORGANISATION.

Referring to what the Germans have done in Turkey during the war, the correspondent says:—"No sooner had war been declared than German officers took over the management of everything military from the War Office, even to the most insignificant camp. At Sultan-Bajazid, where the Ministry of War is situated, every department had a German officer at its head, with two German secretaries at their disposal. Munitions, provisions, military movements, and official communications were all in the hands of German officers. During the Balkan war, only two years ago, the Turkish soldiers were ill-clad, bare-footed, and the organisation was so lamentable that the soldiers suffered from hunger for weeks, and disease made havoc in the army. But to-day, thanks to German organising ability, in spite of all the obstacles, the condition of the army as to feeding and clothing, as well as sanitation, is beyond criticism. Nothing is spared for the army, but it is all at the expense of the people in general. Munitions cost the Turks next to nothing, as they were amply and freely provided by the Germans. In the summer of 1914, long before the declaration of the great war, German and Austrian steamers entering the port of Constantinople one after another, brought in nothing but guns and other implements of war. In August, after the declaration of war, all the German steamers, some of them big trans-Atlantic liners, which took shelter in the Sea of Marmora, contained nothing but munitions. Before the Turks went into the war the stores of Tophane were packed fully. Then through the whole year up to now, under various pretexts, or through bribery and corruption, waggon after waggon has come from Germany through Roumania and Bulgaria, and through Roumania and the Black Sea. Day after day during the past 12 months, German artisans and mechanics arriving at the station of Sirkadji took hold of new factories established in Makri Koy, Khas Koy, and other parts of Constantinople, to prepare bombs and all sorts of munitions. At least 10,000 workmen, mostly German, by day and night work, are supplying the army of the Turk. They assemble parts of submarines and aeroplanes brought over from Germany, and even cannon of small calibre are made by them in Constantinople."

INTEREST ON INVESTMENTS.

IMMUNE FROM TAXATION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

To remove any doubt that may exist in the public mind, the Acting Prime Minister today stated that income derived as interest on investments in the Commonwealth War Loan by companies or shareholders in companies or by individuals, will not be liable to taxation under the Commonwealth or State income taxes.

SYDNEY WATER SUPPLY.

The unsatisfactory water supply in some of the northern suburbs has turned departmental attention to the question of the supply generally for the metropolitan area.

The Minister for Works yesterday stated that he had had some interesting figures prepared, showing the consumption in Sydney as compared with New York and other American cities. The Minister finds that the New York consumption is twice as great. As cities develop industrially the tendency is for more water to be used, and he regards this as likely to happen in the case of Sydney.

Mr. Cann says that he has the Warragamba water supply scheme under consideration, and he is engaged collecting data on the point as to how long the present reservoirs supplying Sydney and suburbs are likely to prove adequate.

NEW WESLEY COLLEGE.

The Council of the Wesley College within the University of Sydney yesterday selected the plan of Mr. B. Hadley, architect, in the competition for designs for a new college building, subject to such modifications as may be desired by the Chancellor. The estimated cost of the building is about £20,000.

LOAFERS AMONGST UNIONISTS

PERTH, Friday.

Speaking at the Labour Federation meeting last night, the Honorary Minister (Mr. Underwood) made some trenchant remarks on the subject of loafing amongst trade unionists. He declared that a certain section of the workers had not given the Government a square deal. Loafing was not Australian, and those leading the movement in this State, he believed, were imported. They objected to conscription, they would not volunteer, they would not work, they wanted to live on the fat of the land, and at the same time they were full of complaints against the Government.

RAINSTORM.

SPLENDID FALLS RECORDED.

LARGE AREA BENEFITS.

The weather prospects yesterday gave promise of substantial rains falling over the whole of the State, and already a number of fairly good falls have occurred. The week opened with some light to heavy falls of rain, accompanied by thunder, at scattered places in the north-eastern half of New South Wales, but no important rainstorm occurred. The great monsoonal depression now extends over almost the whole of Eastern Australia and Tasmania, and two cyclonic closed-curve centres of low pressure have developed near its southern end, providing a pressure distribution more than usually favourable to the occurrence of general rains over an enormous area, and further good and widespread falls over the eastern States of Australia are more than likely. Telegrams received at the Commonwealth Weather Bureau last night gave indications that the monsoonal depression would continue to maintain its influence over the eastern half of Australia, and that its rain-producing power would be greatest in the south, where the cyclonic depression has developed over New South Wales and Victoria. Further general rain, with thunder, is likely, together with some heavy falls.

In Riverina, practically all the crops will be taken off by now, but the rain will be of value in replenishing tanks and dams, and in enabling farmers to plough up stubble land for next season's crop. On the other hand, if the rain is heavy in the wheat belts, it will probably damage a considerable amount of wheat stacked in paddocks, and also impede transport operations. Up to 9 a.m. on Friday, light to moderate rain had fallen at scattered places generally west from the tablelands to New South Wales, Wilcannia with 140 points having largest amount registered. Other good falls in the west included Tibooburra 45 points, Milpavinka 66, Tilpa 63, and Mount Hope 50. On the North-Western Plains, Pillaga had 162 points. Among the falls occurring on the north-western slopes, Inverell received 98 points, Tamworth 94, Manilla 75, and Bundarra 70. There was general but lighter rain on the central-western and south-western slopes. During the day the rainstorm approached the coastal districts, and a number of fine falls were recorded.

In Victoria and Tasmania light to moderate general rains occurred, while Western Queensland received light to moderate falls, associated with thunder. Jundah, with 402 points, was the maximum total reported.

In Sydney the rainfall recorded during this month was, up to 9 a.m. on Friday, only 44 points, or less than half of the amount received during the corresponding period of last year. Light showers, however, set in about 11 a.m., 2 points being recorded up to 1 p.m. Up to 9 p.m. 55 points were recorded, and it is expected that with a continuance of rain during the night the Sydney fall for January will be well over the average.

During yesterday afternoon 54 points were recorded at Goulburn and 107 at Candobolin. Other lighter falls were reported elsewhere.

COUNTRY REPORTS.

ADELONG.—Beautiful soaking rain was falling here all day on Friday, and helped to extinguish a large bush fire that has been raging here.

BROKEN HILL.—The weather continues hot and sultry. No rain has fallen here, but the country districts report good falls. These include: Wilcannia 143 points, White Cliffs 105, Yancannia 127, Morden 111, Nontherungie 155, Mena Murte 179, Mondha 80, Mount Murchison 71, Cobrilla 75, Murtee 133, Gnalta 125.

CONDOBOLIN.—Splendid rain started early this morning, and it has apparently been general throughout the district. The following rainfalls up to 2 o'clock this afternoon are reported:—Condobolin 97 points, Carlowrie 169, Borambil 140, Wallaroi 106, Kiacatoo 97, Wiringeubal 97, Bogandillon 120. There is every appearance of the rain continuing.

COOMA.—Light rain fell to-day, with every appearance of continuance.

GOOLAGONG.—Good rain has fallen, 98 points being recorded.

PEAK HILL.—Heavy rain fell to-day, and it will be very welcome throughout the district as water in the tanks was becoming scarce.

IN VICTORIA.

WHOLE STATE BENEFITS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Good rains fell over practically the whole of Victoria to-day. In the northern district and along the Murray the falls were light, but heavier falls occurred in the Mallee, Wimmera Central, and Northern Central districts; and also in Gippsland.

Further falls may be expected in the country, especially in the north-east and Gippsland.

IN QUEENSLAND.

TORRENTIAL DOWNPOUR.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The southern portion of Longreach, particularly on the western side of Thompson River (south from Arrillalah) has experienced splendid rains, and a good season is assured. Good rains are also reported from the Diamentina.

Torrential rain fell in the Stonehenge and Jundah districts. Berrimpa (west from Jundah), registering over 7½ inches. The country is a sea of water. All the creeks are in flood, and Thompson River is rising fast.

GOVERNMENT HORSE BUYERS

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In connection with the purchase of horses for the Australian Imperial Force the Federal Treasurer said it had come under notice that agents and dealers were advertising horse sales, at which they stated buyers of military horses would be in attendance. These advertisements, which were not authorised by the department, were misleading to the public, who disposed of their horses to such dealers under the impression that they were selling to authorised Government buyers. Attention was drawn to the fact that the only persons authorised to advertise for horses for military purposes were the purchasing officers of the Horse Purchase Boards operating in the district, and those gentlemen were always provided with documentary evidence as to their bona fides.

COAL EXPORTS.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The coal exports for the week ended today totalled 64,280 tons, as against 94,157 last week; and 73,152 tons for the corresponding week of last year. Of this week's exports, 58,550 tons were for interstate ports, and 6730 tons for oversea countries. For the first time for many months there was no shipment to New Zealand.

BARMAID UNDER 21.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

George Hyde, licensee of the Criterion Hotel, was at the Police Court to-day fined £2 with 6/ costs for allowing a female under 21 years of age to serve in the bar of the hotel.

LATE WAR NEWS.

MESOPOTAMIA.

BRITISH FALL BACK.

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT'S REPORT.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

The "Morning Post" sums up the situation in Mesopotamia thus:—After the fighting on the 8th the Turks retreated eight miles to a position midway between Sheikhsaad and a right-angle bend of the Tigris near Elowasa—the position described as the Wadi, which is a dry river bed joining the Tigris on the left bank.

General Aylmer, advancing on both banks, made a frontal attack on the 12th, combined with an outflanking movement from the north. The Turks retired at night five miles to a position astride the river at the great right-angle bend, the northern flank being on marshy ground.

The result of the fighting on Friday was indecisive. General Aylmer was forced to fall back 1300 yards from his position. There is little prospect of progress being made until the weather improves and the country is drained. General Townshend is evidently too rigidly beleagured to cooperate with the relieving column.

LABOUR MINISTERS.

BRITISH CONFERENCE DECISION

LONDON, Jan. 28.

The Labour Conference by 1,674,000 to 269,000 approved of the executive's action in allowing members of the Labour party to enter the Coalition Government.

ROUTE MARCHES.

"SNOWY RIVER MEN."

ARRIVAL AT GOULBURN.

GOULBURN, Friday.

The march of the "Snowy River Men," which began at Delegate on January 6, ended to-day at Goulburn, as it began, in rain. The men camped last night at Tirana, and Bishop Radford, who holds the rank of major, went out to meet them this morning. The men, when they arrived this afternoon, were given a hearty reception, although the rain kept many people indoors.

Recruits from the depot camp, to the number of about 600, turned out, and marched through the city with the men, while the cadets also formed part of the procession, and there were two bands.

The Snowy River Men arrived 144 strong, but this by no means represents the result of the effort. Mr. Austin Chapman, M.P., states that as a result of the recruiting appeals, a much larger number of men than those who joined the march have been secured, and will come into camp later.

After being welcomed by the Mayor, the men proceeded to the depot camp, where they will be billeted to-night. They will be entertained at tea in the Church Hall. It is proposed that the Snowy River Men shall form a complete company.

"BOOMERANGS."

COWRA, Friday.

The "Boomerangs" arrived here yesterday from Billimari, in charge of Lieut. Pittendrigh. They were met about two miles out by the Mayor, members of the War Service Council, and a large number of citizens, as well as by 21 local recruits. The men were given refreshments, after which the contingent, headed by the Cowra Band, marched into the town and formed up in Macquarie-street, where short addresses were delivered, and a flag, inscribed "Success to the Boomerangs," made by the Cowra girls, was presented by the Mayor to Lieut. Pittendrigh. Tea was provided by the townspeople on the showground, and a recruiting meeting was held at night, when 16 additional recruits signed on, and another 20 signified their intention of joining later.

The "Boomerangs" will leave here on Saturday morning for Woodstock.

NORTHERN COAL FIELD.

DEVELOPMENT AT CESSNOCK.

CESSNOCK, Friday.

There is unusual activity in the development of new collieries. For 12 months or more the sinking of the shafts at Aberdare South and Aberdare Central has been proceeding, and the shafts are now down more than half-way to the coal.

The clearing of the road from the junction of the East Greta railway line to the Great Northern Company's property at Ettalong has been completed, and the contractor for the railway line is now engaged in excavation work. The laying of the line is to be expedited, so that the necessary plant may be conveyed to the colliery site. In the meantime, however, sinking will be entered upon. Excellent coal has been proved on the property.

The Newcastle-Wallsend Coal Company have purchased the coal lands adjoining the Bellbird colliery, and sinking operations are to commence almost immediately. The surveyors have been at the property this week marking out the site of the shafts and surface workings.

The closing down of the Hetton Coal Company's mine at Newcastle, while causing concern in the district where that mine is located, will be a good thing for that company's mine at Bellbird, which has been fitted up in an up-to-date fashion. Under the management of Mr. J. Mathieson, Bellbird mine has already begun to rank among the best coal exporters.

The Caledonia Company recently installed a new hauling engine, and are now about to instal a complete plant, capable of increased hauling capacity. A large water-cooling tower, 75ft high, has been commenced in connection therewith this week.

WHEN WARS SHALL CEASE.

A SOLDIER'S SENTIMENTS.

Private Albert J. Gurr, writing to Mr. A. B. Hector, of Burroughs, Wellcome, and Co., Kent-street, says:—

"Every soldier in the field must be looking forward to the end of the war. It would be splendid to think, when this business is over, that the people of the world had at last awakened to the realisation that warfare should not be the civilised way of settling disputes. Modern warfare is a very different thing from the warfare of a hundred years ago. However dashing and gallant troops may be, it is quite impossible for them to advance in the teeth of up-to-date artillery, rifle, and machine-gun fire. The Turk is a splendid fighter, and we cannot help admiring the fortitude he displays in hanging on to positions. . . . Everyone in Australia seems to be heart and soul in the work of looking after the men who are at the front—at least, everyone worth while. That element of the community represented by the crowd that howled down Mr. Holman at the Stadium some months ago constitutes but a small percentage of the population of Australia. Mr. Holman, profiting by the experience, will not, I should think, make any further overture to a class who would be more likely, were they here, to disgrace the name that has already been made for Australia. No one is downhearted, but we are nevertheless looking forward to getting back home again. Let us hope it will be soon, and that the work of us all will ensure a lasting peace."

SHOVELLERS' STRIKE.

PERTH, Friday.

Twenty-five shovellers, employed on grading work at the Osborne rifle range, struck work on Monday for one shilling a day increase for twelve of their number. The Minister for Works (Mr. Angwin) refused to grant the increase, and the secretary of the A.W.U., acting on behalf of the men, is now in communication with Mr. King O'Malley.

RECRUITING.

ENLISTMENTS.

The usual falling-off at the week-end occurred again this week, for yesterday at Victoria Barracks only 59 men were accepted, and only 65 at the Town Hall. At the Board of Health 28 men were enrolled, making a total for the day of 152.

COUNTRY FIGURES.

The following figures of country enlistments from Monday to Thursday have been supplied to the Premier by the military authorities:—

Goulburn	49
Armidale	27
Narrabri	33

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Another 24 volunteers left Broken Hill for Adelaide camp last night. Since January 1 there have been 258 volunteers, of whom 174 were accepted.

OTHER STATES.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

To-day 88 men volunteered at Adelaide, and 65 were accepted.

BRISBANE, Friday.

There were 128 volunteers in Queensland to-day, of whom 114 were accepted. Enlistments to date total 30,390.

PHARMACISTS' OFFER.

The Premier recently forwarded to the Prime Minister an offer by the Pharmaceutical Society of New South Wales to establish a Pharmaceutical corps for war service.

Senator Pearce, in asking the Premier to convey the thanks of the Commonwealth Government to the Pharmaceutical Society, writes:—"The matter has received consideration, and it has been decided not to organise a special corps. It is proposed, however, to place the pharmacists on an organised footing in connection with the Army Medical Service, and to arrange that there will be a senior pharmacist in each military district, who will advise the principal medical officer of the district on pharmaceutical matters, in a manner similar to that provided in respect of the dental and massage services."

NEUTRAL BAY MOVEMENT.

The Mayor of North Sydney, Alderman W. Anderson, presided at a meeting held on Thursday evening in the Warringa Hall, Neutral Bay, for the purpose of forming a local sub-committee of the North Sydney War Service Recruiting Committee. The attendance, which was good, included a large number of the Neutral Bay section of the Mosman-Neutral Bay Rifle Club.

Mr. Littlejohn was elected chairman of the newly-formed body, and Mr. M. J. D. Page, hon. secretary. The headquarters of the sub-committee will be at the Warringa Hall, Yeo-street, Neutral Bay, and the meetings will be held on Tuesday each week at 8 p.m.

At the next meeting of the sub-committee it is intended to elect a managing body, which will arrange matters so that when the details of the scheme and the information in regard thereto are to hand vigorous action can be taken to secure the quota of recruits required from the Neutral Bay area of the North Sydney division.

IDENTIFICATION DISCS.

Recently a correspondent wrote to the "Herald" complaining that the identification discs supplied to two of his sons in the forces were simply plain pieces of aluminium without either the soldier's name or number engraved upon them, the soldier evidently being expected by the military to have the discs engraved with his number and other particulars at his own expense. One of the soldiers in question had his disc engraved, but the other did not do so. The unengraved disc is, of course, useless for identification purposes.

Major F. W. Page, referring to the matter, states that no steps are taken at the camps to have the discs engraved. The discs are issued to a reinforcement in bulk and at the same time a set of steel dies is issued for the purpose of marking the article in accordance with the orders issued. Cases have occurred where the discs have been put on to the boat for general use, but now they are supplied to each reinforcement. If the names of the boys referred to are furnished to Major Page at district headquarters steps will be taken to ascertain the circumstances, although it will be difficult to get anything definite now as the troops have sailed.

Bro. Wm. John Ray, who will shortly be leaving for the front, was entertained at Paddington by members of the Court Eden Order of Royal Foresters, and presented with a fountain pen, cigarette holder, and set of military brushes.

The Rev. L. Webb, who was formerly curate at Gosford, has been appointed an army chaplain to the Western Australian Forces.

Sapper Philip M'Shane, of the Mining Corps, was recently entertained at Stanmore, and presented with several useful gifts. He is one of three brothers who are leaving for the front, and was until lately on the staff of the Irrigation Department.

Mr. George Wall, of Randwick, has received a cable from his son, Captain A. P. Wall, who left with the 3rd Australian General Hospital, and acted as adjutant to Colonel Fiaschi, that he has been promoted to the rank of major, and is now at Alexandria.

A farewell was tendered to Corporal R. S. Buchanan at Leichhardt on the eve of his departure for the front. The presentations made were a wristlet watch, sheepskin waistcoat, pocket wallet, pipe, and pouch.

Since the commencement of the war 25 officers, 214 privates, and three nurses have left Cowra for the front.

Mr. Victor C. Shaw, the city representative of Messrs. Joseph Pickles and Son, York-street, who has enlisted, was, on Saturday last, presented by the warehouse staff with a pair of field glasses. A private cable advises that Mr. Shaw's brother, Gunner R. Morgan Shaw, A.F.A., has recovered from illness, and is now in Egypt. A third brother, Corporal W. W. Shaw, A.F.A., severely wounded at Gallipoli, and operated on in London, is still under medical treatment here. These three soldiers are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shaw, of Randwick.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

Since last Friday, 121 men have volunteered, and 87 have been accepted. To-day there were only five accepted, and two rejected. The number in camp is now 1059.

LATIN UNNECESSARY.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

The University Senate has decided that in future Latin should not be made a compulsory subject for a pass for degrees.

TRAM MEN.

RESULT OF BALLOT.

NO STOP-WORK MEETING.

The tramway employees have decided by secret ballot not to hold a stop-work meeting on Saturday next. About 2000 votes were cast against holding the meeting, and about 1600 men voted in favour of it. The whole of the ballot-papers have not yet been received, but the result cannot be altered.

When spoken to at the conclusion of the count yesterday evening Mr. Warton, secretary of the Tramway Employees' Union, said that he had expected that at least 3000 votes would have been given against holding the meeting and about 1000 in favour of it. He was of the opinion that the casual hands had voted solidly in favour of holding the meeting.

The object of the proposed stop-work meeting was to discuss a number of grievances which the men consider they labour under. The question of wages has been the cause of a great deal of unrest among the men. Under interim awards recently issued by Mr. T. R. Bavin, the chairman of the Tramway Board, the men in the traffic branch were given increases, but the Chief Commissioner appealed against the granting of all such above the minimum wage of 8s 9d per day, and the increases were suspended by the Industrial Court. The reason put forward for not allowing the increases was that the tramway service was not in a position to maintain the payment of higher wages, but the men claimed that such was not the case.

A great deal of interest was taken in the ballot, and most of the employees filled in their papers.

In the tramway traffic branch at the present time are some hundreds of casual men, and it was expected that these would use their vote and influence to endeavour to bring about the stop-work meeting. For the whole of the tramway services of Sydney and suburbs to be suspended for but one day would be a very serious thing.

AVIATION.

IMPORTED BI-PLANES.

Two bi-planes, with which the new Aviation School that is now being formed will practise their first evolutions in the air, are expected to arrive shortly. Other flying machines are to be built at the Government works at Walsh Island.

The formation of the school has been entrusted to a committee, of which the Minister for Public Instruction (Mr. Griffith) is the chairman, and considerable enthusiasm is being manifested in the work. The Minister is working in co-operation with Major Reynolds, of the Commonwealth Aviation Corps, and on the committee are representatives of the Sydney Technical College and the University. The site of the flying grounds has already been selected at Windsor, and Mr. Griffith will, on Thursday next, in company with Mr. A. E. Cutler, principal engineer at Newcastle, visit the grounds in connection with the question of the allocation of buildings. Flying in war is of vital importance, and it is said to suit the British temperament. Australians who have interested themselves in it have already won celebrity, and Mr. Griffith thinks that the new school will bring to light a lot of aerial talent. The Premier has already announced that the Government will give the aviation school the greatest possible encouragement.

PERSONAL NOTES.

LIEUT. C. H. O. WHITE.

Official information has been received that Second-Lieutenant C. H. O. White, previously reported wounded, and later wounded and missing, was killed in action on August 8. Born 20 years ago on the R.M.S. Ophir—after which vessel he was named—then en route from England to Sydney, Second-Lieutenant White was educated at Fort-street School. For a number of years he was connected with St. James's Church, King-street. Prior to enlisting he lived with his parents in Upper Avenue-road, Mosman. Always a keen military enthusiast, the young officer entered heart and soul in the universal military training scheme at its commencement, and was colour-sergeant, and later lieutenant, in the 17th Batt. (Mosman area). At the earliest opportunity Lieutenant White enlisted in the infantry, sinking his rank in so doing. It was for the fine work he performed when sergeant that he was mentioned in despatches. In the fighting of the early part of August last he was wounded in the neck, but did not leave the trenches until his wound became septic some days afterwards. He won his star a little later.

PRIVATE ROBERT MUNCKTON.

Private Robert Munckton, reported missing between August 6 and 12, was 20 years of age, and a son of Mrs. Munckton, of Dubbo. He joined the forces four days after the war broke out, and was at the first landing of the Australian troops at Gallipoli. Prior to enlisting he was attending All Saints' College at Bathurst.

PRIVATE V. A. CATO.

Mrs. Cato, of Nowra, has received news from the military authorities that her son, Private V. A. Cato, previously reported missing, was killed in action at Gallipoli on the first landing of the Australians.

PRIVATE E. D. KENDALL.

Mrs. Kendall, of Singleton, has been officially notified that her son, Private E. D. Kendall, of the 20th Battalion, died of pneumonia on January 19. Deceased, who was 30 years of age, enlisted in Sydney, and had been in the trenches since September last.

CARTERS AND DRIVERS.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS DEMANDED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Carters and Drivers' Federation assert that as the conference with the employers (only four of whom, representing Melbourne firms, attended) proved abortive, every means possible will be taken to force the claims for increased wages and shorter working hours, as laid down in the new log, which has been served on 1700 employers throughout Australia.

A meeting of the Federal Council of the Federation was held to-day, when a certain line of action was decided on. It is believed that this was in the direction of applying to the Commonwealth Arbitration Court for a compulsory conference with the employers, and that, failing success in this direction, the Federation will take other extreme measures.

So far as Victoria is concerned, the union officials point out that a large section of the carters and drivers is so dissatisfied with the existing conditions that the men in question are strongly in favour of immediately ceasing work. A special meeting of the Melbourne branch of the union will be held at the Trades Hall to-morrow, when the whole position will be discussed.

SPLENDID EQUIPMENT.

Private Ray Lingard, of D Company, 13th Battalion, writing to his father, Mr. J. T. Lingard, of Leichhardt, says:—"I have put in a good day's work, for besides doing some solid pick and shovel work, I cleaned up my dugout right from the front room to kitchen. Now it is nice and cosy. In justice to our Australian Government, I must say they deserve only the greatest praise for the splendid equipment we are supplied with. Our underclothing is made from purest Australian wool. We have also received a new Australian coat each, and new boots. In fact, our clothing and boots are in a class absolutely of their own. The Tommies' uniform and boots cannot compare with them. You may know how durable they are when I tell you that my hat has been with me since last September—about 13 months—and is just worn out. My tunic, or coat, was issued at Liverpool, so that besides being worn in Australia it was worn in Egypt, for five months on the peninsula, and for another month at Lemnos. If I could not have got an Australian tunic I would have still preferred my old one to a new one, as supplied to the Tommies. This should be a comfort to Australian mothers who have sons going to the front. I have never been in better health or happier."

GREAT BRITAIN'S CASE.

The diplomatic correspondence which preceded the declaration of war has been read more widely than any Blue Book. Issued in a popular form at one penny, over a million copies of "Great Britain and the European Crisis" were soon sold. It has been translated into ten foreign languages, and will go into history as Great Britain's statement of her case.

MANLY STEAMERS.

FERRY COMPANY'S OFFER.

MINISTER'S ADVICE.

A deputation from the Manly Municipal Council yesterday waited upon Mr. Griffith, the Minister in charge of Local Government, to ask for an extension of the time within which they might negotiate with the Port Jackson and Manly Steamship Co., Ltd.

The deputation was introduced by the mayor, Alderman Keirle. It was represented to the Minister that the Council had been informed by the Harbour Trust Commissioners that if it did not come to some arrangement with the Company as to a sub-lease from the Council to the Company by the 31st inst. the Commissioners would cancel the lease. The Council did not think that the offer of £1000 a year subsidy from the Company for three years was good enough.

Mr. Griffith explained the position at some length, and advised the Council that as the Government was unable to help at present it would be better for the Council to complete the arrangement offered for the next three years. In the meantime he promised that a similar situation would not occur, and he was strongly of the opinion that the ferry services should be run in the interests of the municipalities within the Greater Sydney area.

COMPANY'S OFFER ACCEPTED.

Disappointed and low-spirited at the set-back they had received, the councillors returned to their homes at Manly, and put in an appearance again at the Town Hall last night.

Final consideration was given to the matter, and the offer of the company was accepted.

Alderman Henton moved:—"That the Port Jackson Company's offer of £1000 a year for three years' lease of the Manly jetties, in addition to the rent imposed by the Harbour Trust, and taxation, be accepted, subject to the conditions already provided at a previous meeting."

Alderman Wright seconded the proposal.

Alderman Reid opposed it, and moved an amendment, which found no support.

A long discussion followed the reading of some correspondence from the Harbour Trust and the ferry company.

The resolution was carried, Alderman Reid voting against it.

THE PARRAMATTA SEAT.

TWO NOMINATIONS.

SUPPORT FOR MR. BRUNTNELL.

At noon yesterday the Returning Officer, Mr. D. D. Henderson, announced from the Courthouse, in the presence of a small gathering, that he had received the nominations of two candidates for the forthcoming election, viz., Albert Bruntnell, auctioneer, Croydon, and Frank Walford, journalist, Church-street, Parramatta.

A well-attended meeting of the Parramatta electors was held at the Liberal Institute yesterday, when a strong and representative committee was formed to secure the return of Mr. Bruntnell.

A meeting of the recently formed National Liquor Reform League was held in the School of Arts on Thursday evening, when a letter was read from Mr. Bruntnell, announcing himself as a whole-hearted supporter of the 6 o'clock closing of hotels, and an opponent of Mr. Holman's scheme for nationalising the liquor traffic. The secretary also reported a verbal message from the Labour candidate, stating that he favoured 9 o'clock closing, and would support a referendum to determine whether the hotels should close at 6 o'clock. In view of Mr. Bruntnell's acceptance of the League's policy, it was resolved to recommend the temperance electors of Parramatta to support his candidature.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED.

DUNEDOO, Friday.

Frank Aiken, 10, and Dudley Aiken, 8, sons of Mr. E. J. Aiken, proprietor of the hotel at Dunedoo, were drowned in the Government railway tank to-day in 13 feet of water. The body of one of the boys was recovered, and the police are still dragging for the other. It is assumed that they fell into the dam, as the lad found was fully dressed.

They were accompanied by a little girl named Eris Edmundson, five years of age, who had somehow managed to reach the depth pole, which is 30 yards from the bank, and was hanging to it when her screams brought help. She is recovering.

CONSCRIPTION OPPOSED.

BY THE A.W.U.

At yesterday's sitting of the annual convention of the Australian Workers' Union, at MacDonell House, standing orders were suspended to permit of the subject of conscription being discussed, and eventually the following motion was carried unanimously:—

"That this convention is absolutely opposed to the principle of conscription, as being opposed to the spirit of our time and race; more especially is this so in Australia, which has contributed more men under the voluntary system in proportion to its population than any other portion of the British Empire."

It was intimated that over 20,000 members of the union throughout the Commonwealth had already enlisted for active service abroad. The union's total membership is about 80,000.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

QUESTION OF PRIORITY.

Speaking on the subject of admission to the secondary schools yesterday, the Minister for Education (Mr. Griffith) said that a very much larger number of students had passed the qualifying examination than there are vacancies for in the High Schools. He had been approached by parents whose children had qualified, asking for his personal intervention to secure their admission to the High Schools.

Mr. Griffith announces that though he regrets there are not places for all qualified candidates, he must adopt some system on which admission is to be based, and he has decided not to depart from the principle of basing priority of admission on the result of the examination. The 900 students who obtained the most marks will have the first offer of the vacant positions, and afterwards those who have come next in order of merit. The Minister says he will not, in any case, interfere with this system, as he feels it right that every child should realise that his chances depend on his own individual effort and ability, and not on Ministerial patronage.

"It is, of course, understood," said Mr. Griffith, "that those pupils who qualified last year, and have been waiting 12 months for admission will receive priority over any of the applicants for the present year. I am pleased, however, to be able to assure the public that there is room in the other schools, providing a two years' course beyond the primary course, for all the children who have succeeded in passing the qualifying examination."

HOSPITAL SATURDAY FUND.

ALTERATION OF DATE.

The board of the Hospital Saturday Fund has decided to alter the day of the collection from Saturday to Friday. The date fixed for this year's street collection is now Friday, May 12, but instead of the banking being done at the head office of the Bank of New South Wales the same bank will control the arrangements at the Town Hall, which will be fitted up as a banking-chamber.

FOR OUR TROOPS ABROAD.

APPEAL FOR SPORTS MATERIAL.

Mr. Sydney Smith, jun., hon. secretary of the Australian Board of Control, yesterday received a cheque for £5 16s from Mr. D. Clyne, hon. secretary of the Medlow Bath Cricket Club, for the purpose of purchasing sporting material for our troops in Egypt.

"This is a splendid example for other sporting bodies in the State, and the Medlow Bath club is to be congratulated," says Mr. Smith, "on their generous and prompt response. I trust that other clubs will let us have their donations as soon as possible, so that we can comply with Mr. Budden's call, and thus afford our troops, who are engaged in the biggest game of all, a little pleasure in the few leisure hours they have at their disposal."

AIR RAIDS.

HOW ENGLISH CHILDREN VIEW THEM.

Dr. C. W. Kimmins, Inspector of Schools to the London County Council, delivered a lecture recently at a meeting of the Child Study Society, on a number of essays written by children at London elementary schools on the subject of the two great air raids. Five schools within the area affected by the raids were selected, and the total number of essays was 945. The children, whose ages ranged from eight to thirteen, had nearly all had actual experience in connection with the raids. The youngest, boys and girls alike, had a tendency to dwell on details of a horrible character, but there was not the slightest indication in their essays of a feeling of fear. Little boys, in particular, seemed to have thoroughly enjoyed the raids, and they dwelt with great gusto on the variety of noises by which they were accompanied. In the work of boys of ten there were distinct indications of fear, and it was evident that girls of the same age were very frightened and excited. After that age, again, all feeling of fear seemed to disappear.

The essays contained touching little descriptions of heroism. One boy of twelve said:—"When I saw the Zeppelins, I thought at once the time had come for me to do my bit, so I put on my scout's uniform and made for headquarters. The scouts made tea for scared people." One of the most striking facts brought out was the comparative unimportance in the family life, from the point of view of the child, of the part played by the father. References to "Mother" were extremely plentiful, but in ninety-five per cent. of the cases no references whatever was made to the male parent; even when he was mentioned it was generally in no flattering terms. For example, one boy wrote: "My father was very frightened during the raid and he ran to a beer-shop and got under the counter and stayed there until it was all over." Another boy declared that a man went into a public house and said: "Give me 'arf a pint. If I am to die I will die drunk."

BUSH FIRES.

YASS, Friday.

Owing, it is surmised, to a motor car, which went through the paddock and back-fired, Mr. E. G. Barbour, of Woodleigh, about 10 miles from Yass, on the Burrowa-road, lost seven hundred acres of grass. The fire was noticed soon after the passing of the car, and assistance was sent for, but it was not until 5 p.m. that sufficient help was obtained to combat the flames, which were only extinguished after several hours of strenuous work. There have been several minor outbreaks within the past few days.

SOLDIERS AND LIQUOR.

ARMIDALE, Friday.

A deputation, consisting of ministers representing the Anglican, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, and Methodist churches, waited on Superintendent Roche last evening, urging the restriction of Sunday drinking amongst soldiers. Archdeacon Johnstone said if soldiers were to meet successfully highly-trained veterans in Europe, the stupendous detrimental effect of drink must be abated. While not censuring the police, he thought stricter supervision of hotels was necessary. Those who erred in furnishing this facility were certainly the friends of Germany and the enemies of England. Other members spoke in a similar strain.

Superintendent Roche regretted the shortage of police, but promised to minimise Sunday drinking, and also drunken soldiers being served on ordinary days. The police were also trying to deal with the women whom the camp attracted, this evil being infinitely worse than drink or German bullets.

One hundred men from the Narrabri Camp arrived in Armidale yesterday, and 71 to-day from Bingara and Manilla. About 900 men are in camp at present.

ALLIES' DAY CARNIVAL.

LOCKHART, Friday.

Lockhart is proud because of the remarkable achievement in raising £3000 in connection with the Allies Day Carnival on Wednesday. The chief interest centred in the election of queen of the carnival. The voting was as follows: Miss Moncrieff (representing the Manchester Unity Lodge of Oddfellows), 162,420; Mrs. R. S. Drummond (Red Cross candidate), 142,871; Mrs. Patton (Farmers' and Settlers' candidate), 130,448; Miss Gooden (Hibernian Society's candidate), 60,787; Mrs. M. Day (business candidate), 59,770. The total sum represented by the votes was £2322 1s 2d. The balance of the £3000 raised was the result of subscriptions and takings at the carnival on Wednesday evening. The declaration of the poll was made by Mr. W. Day, the returning officer, and the coronation was performed by Cr. Wm. Weedon, President of the Lockhart Shire.

WALCHA, Friday.

Allies Day passed off most successfully on Wednesday in fine weather. School children, friendly societies, decorated motors and vehicles made an interesting procession. On the show ground sports were held, with a ball at night. The whole proceedings will probably realise £1100.

WARIALDA, Friday.

The Allies' Day sports were held on Wednesday. There was a large attendance, and £800 was collected. The voting for queen resulted in the election of Mrs. M'Gee with 53,000 votes.

BOY LOSES AN ARM.

TEMORA, Friday.

James Auswild, aged 8 years, during his father's absence, placed his right hand in a mincing machine. It was crushed to the elbow, and amputated. It took two blacksmiths three-quarters of an hour to break the machine and release the arm.

PRICE OF SUGAR.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Federal Treasurer (Mr. Higgs) stated yesterday that action had been taken under the War Precautions Act to prevent grocers in the metropolitan areas of the Commonwealth from selling sugar at more than 3½d per pound.

He said: "I regret that the action of certain grocers, in charging the public 4d per lb, after the Federal Government had announced that the retail price must not be more than 3½d per lb, has made it necessary to take action under the War Precautions Act to issue a proclamation. This proclamation reads as follows: 'Any person who, without the consent in writing of the Treasurer, sells or offers for sale any sugar at a greater price than 3½d per lb (plus such sum as represents the cost incurred by him in respect of the delivery of the sugar to him), shall be guilty of an offence.'"

"Under the War Precautions Act," continued Mr. Higgs, "such an offence is punishable by a fine not exceeding £100, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both." The Treasurer said that he desired to point out that whoever aided or abetted in the commission of an offence against the Act was deemed to have committed an offence, and was punishable accordingly. He stated that any person in the metropolitan areas of Australia, who was charged more than 3½d per lb retail for sugar was desired to write to the Commonwealth Treasury, Melbourne, and report the matter.

CENSORED MATTER.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Additional War Precautions regulations:—(1) Empowering the Minister to prohibit the publication of newspapers, periodicals, or books, printed in foreign languages; and (2) prohibiting newspapers from drawing attention to censored matter, without the permission of a censor, have been approved by the Federal Executive Council.

(1) If, in the opinion of the Minister it is necessary, in the interests of the public safety or the defence of the Commonwealth, to prohibit the publication in the Commonwealth of any newspaper, periodical, or book printed in the Commonwealth, or any newspaper, periodical, or book printed in a foreign language, the Minister may, by an order, in writing, addressed to the editor or printer, or publisher of such newspaper, periodical, or book, prohibit the publication thereof; (2) any person, who, after the service of such an order, publishes or distributes or assists in publishing or distributing copies of such a newspaper, periodical, or book, shall be guilty of an offence against the Act (25c). The printer or publisher of any newspaper, periodical, or other publication shall not, without the permission of an officer of the censorship staff, (1) print or publish any statement to the effect or from which it can be inferred that any alteration, addition, or omission has been made by the censorship in any matter submitted to it; (2) print any matter which has been submitted to the censorship in such a way as to show or suggest that any alteration, addition, or omission, has been made by the censorship; or (3) print or publish any statement to the effect that publication of such matter has been forbidden.

BUTTER EXPORT.

POSITION IN QUEENSLAND.

QUESTION OF PRICE.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The present situation in regard to the butter supply was brought before the Board of Control to-day by a deputation from the butter shippers. At the outset Mr. Sumner (president of the board) said he had written a letter to the Butter Producers' Association, which, he understood, they had discussed that day with the agents of the butter factories. The suggestion made in the letter was that the butter factories should guarantee to sell butter at the proclaimed price, which should be in agreement with London parity. If this was acceptable to their association it would simplify matters considerably, and prices would automatically regulate themselves without the interference of the Board of Control. In the event of the proposal being agreed to it would be necessary that a deposit as a guarantee of good faith be lodged with the Government, so that the undertaking given by their body would be faithfully adhered to by the members.

It was pointed out to Mr. Sumner that there was no Butter Producers' Association: all they had was a sub-committee, which dealt with the shipping arrangements and allocated the refrigerating space.

Mr. Forth said prices were affected by weather conditions, not only here and in other Australian States, but in other parts of the world. It was almost impossible from one week to the other to forecast what the outlook would be, as so many things affected it. They were at one with the Government in the desire to ensure a good supply of butter to local consumers, but they also wanted to see the producer for whom they were acting, get a full return for his product. They maintained that he was entitled to fullest price not only in Queensland, but in other parts of Australia and the world. London parity was not Commonwealth parity, when they had butter selling in Victoria at 150s per cwt. London did not come into the situation at the present time.

Mr. Sumner said it seemed an extraordinary thing that when the Queensland Government had butter in London it had to put it into cold stores, simply because it could not realise anything near the price in London, which was 138s, and yet people were asking for permits to export to London.

Mr. Forth said there was plenty of butter being produced in Queensland, otherwise they would not be allowed to ship it to Melbourne. They wanted to get Commonwealth parity.

Mr. Sumner said the Commonwealth parity was the London parity.

Mr. Forth said it was not; and they objected to the London parity, as they did not consider it gave fair value to the producers.

Mr. M'Whinney said that London parity at this time of the year was absolutely absurd. They should have Commonwealth parity.

Other speakers agreed that the raising of the price of butter would eliminate the Melbourne speculators.

Mr. Graham said that usually at this time of the year they had a large surplus of butter available for export. They had 50,000 cases last year, but to-day he thought they would have to do "a bit of scratching round" to get 5000. This was the greatest shortage they had had for 10 years.

It was suggested that if the price were raised to 150s it would be obtained.

In reply to a question as to whether he would be prepared to have the Commonwealth parity regulate the price, Mr. Sumner said he would not say that. If he could be convinced that that price was the legitimate price of butter in Australia he would recommend it, but he could not with the information he had in his possession.

DRUMMOYNE ELECTION.

SECOND BALLOT TO-DAY.

The second ballot in connection with the Drummoyne election contest between Mr. Alexander Graff (selected Liberal candidate), who received the highest number of votes at the polling on the 22nd inst., and Mr. F. G. Parish (Independent), who received the next highest number, will be taken between the hours of 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. to-day at the following places:—Concord Council-chambers, Masonic Hall, Drummoyne; Five Dock Public School; Hunter's Hill Public School; St. Mary's School Hall, Mortlake; Booth-street, corner of Concord-road and Edward-street, Powell's Estate, and St. John's School Hall, Woolwich.

HOMES FOR SOLDIERS.

BATHURST, Friday.

The financial position of the Red Cross Society in this State was touched upon by Sir Thomas Anderson Stuart in addressing the local workers in connection with the proposal for the establishment of a soldiers' convalescent hospital here. Mr. C. L. Kendall stated that Hathrop, the residence of Mr. W. H. Webb, had been offered for £10,000, which was beyond the possibilities of the finances. One of the trustees had agreed to rent the property at the rate of £200 per annum, but nothing definite had yet been arranged.

Sir Thomas explained that the officials of the society in Sydney were on the look-out for accommodation for the wounded men as they returned. A big scheme would need a great deal of money, and now the officials were looking into their financial bag. They had to look at both sides of the shilling, as it was impossible to say how long the war was going to last. The success of the Australia Day Fund could hardly be repeated, and it was therefore necessary to consider all proposals carefully. The Bathurst society had £4000 in hand, and he urged that this should be forwarded to headquarters. In the event of the money being handed over, a home would be established at Bathurst.

The local Red Cross branch will meet at an early date to discuss the suggestion.

"FOUND DROWNED."

An inquiry was held by the Parramatta Coroner, Mr. H. R. Clark, yesterday, touching the death of Mrs. Emily Beatrice Klein, whose body was found in the Parramatta River. The evidence of Dr. Bowman was that he had attended the deceased for mental trouble during the last three months. She was mentally unsound, and likely to develop suicidal tendencies at any time. A finding of "found drowned" was recorded.

VICTOR TRUMPER.

"GREAT UNDER ALL CONDITIONS."

LONDON, Jan. 27.

Mr. Pardon, editor of "Wisden's Almanack," devotes seven pages to an appreciation of the late Victor Trumper. By general consent, he says, Trumper was classed as the best and most brilliant of all the great Australian batsmen. No one else among that famous group had quite such remarkable powers. He was great under all conditions of weather and ground, and could play quite an orthodox game when he wished, but his ability to score when orthodox methods were unavailing lifted him above his fellows. For this reason he was proportionately more to be feared on treacherous wickets than on fast and true ones. No matter how bad a pitch was, he was quite likely to get fifty. His skill in pulling good-length balls amounted to genius.

Under all conditions, the writer continued, Trumper was a fascinating batsman to watch. His extreme suppleness lent him peculiar grace in everything he did. He was the most popular Australian of his time, and was never spoilt by success. When his name was in everyone's mouth he remained as modest and unaffected as the day when he first landed in England.

ENEMY SHAREHOLDERS.

CABINET DECISION.

INTENTION OF THE GOVERNMENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

After a long sitting the Federal Cabinet to-day agreed on the proclamation to be issued with the object of excluding persons of enemy origin from having any holding in public companies in Australia. At the close of the sitting the Acting Attorney-General (Mr. Mahon) made the following statement:—

"The intentions of the Government are embodied in a series of regulations under the War Precautions' Act, which will probably appear in a special issue of the Government Gazette to-morrow afternoon. The fact that Australians are co-shareholders in companies with persons of enemy nationality governed the decision of the Cabinet to a large extent, as any sudden flooding of the market with shares standing in the names of Germans or Austrians might react with great injury to the interests of Australian shareholders. That had to be avoided at all costs, and it will be avoided. Any Stock Exchange operator who counts on bearing shares and buying in, and delivering when values have depreciated, will find that he has lent himself to a vain and profitless transaction. There will be no fall in share values through any action which the Government may take, directly or indirectly, but as I remarked some time ago we cannot be held responsible for the vagaries of the share market, since it is often swayed by factors beyond the control of any Government.

"The next leading consideration, which had weight was the avoidance of even the colour of a charge against the Government of confiscating the interests of enemy subjects or persons of enemy origin. The provisions adopted in this regard are scrupulously fair, and if they err at all they err on the side of leniency; but a distinction is made between an enemy subject and a person of merely enemy nationality, who has been naturalised. The former is required to transfer his shares absolutely to the public trustee, who will hold them until 18 months after the war, or sell in the meanwhile. If the Attorney-General thinks fit the interest of a naturalised person of enemy origin may be dealt with similarly, but in his case provision is made for an exemption. This may be granted on application to the Attorney-General, and on good grounds being shown, but the absolute right of sale of transferred shares at any time is reserved to the Crown. Care has also been taken to prevent any avoidable hardship to persons whose shares are taken over.

"In the case of a dividend-paying company, the Public Trustee is empowered to allocate the whole of the dividend, if necessary, but otherwise sufficient part of it to provide a reasonable living allowance for the enemy subject shareholder and his dependents. Where a company is making calls, the call will be paid out of funds provided by the enemy shareholder, or, if no funds are available to him, then by sale of portion of his interest, if the trustee considers this necessary to protect the remainder. The dummying of shares is made an offence under the War Precautions Act, both by buyer and seller, and any sale of this nature is declared void and of no effect. With a view to guiding the public in any contemplated share transaction, the Attorney-General takes power to disclose to applicants for such information the name of any enemy subjects or the name of any naturalised person to whom exemption has been refused.

LEETON BUTTER FACTORY.

NEUTRALISATION AND PASTEURISATION.

For many years past the question of pasteurising cream with a view to the production of a butter with improved keeping qualities has been a burning one with dairymen in New South Wales.

Pasteurisation was successfully carried out in this State 20 years ago, but not generally. For several years, however, New Zealand dairymen have been greatly improving the quality of their butter by combining with the pasteurising of the cream a process for neutralising the excess of acidity which develops in cream that cannot be promptly delivered to the butter factory.

In an article on the subject in the "Agricultural Gazette," Mr. M. A. O'Callaghan, State Dairy Expert, points out that the process of neutralisation and pasteurisation is a distinct advantage in regard to the manufacture of butter from the following varieties of cream:—1. A food-tainted cream (to improve palatability and keeping quality). 2. Fresh cream with a slight taint of uncleanliness (to purify the cream of taint or gases, destroy injurious germs, and improve keeping quality). Somewhat over-ripe cream (to improve keeping quality).

It is not, however, advocated for cream in an advanced stage of putrefactive decomposition. In fact, it is apparent that such a cream must always be objected to from a health point of view.

The latest reports are to the effect that the benefits of neutralising and pasteurising cream are rapidly being recognised in the State. A number of factories on the North Coast have already installed plants, and others are considering the advisability of so doing. On the South Coast there are very few factories yet treating their cream in this way; and, as regards the southern tableland and the Riverina, butter produced on the irrigation areas alone receives this treatment. At Yanco the process has been carried on for 15 months, and the improvement in the butter has been most marked. Before neutralisation and pasteurisation were adopted for the whole of the cream received at the factory, about one-tenth of the butter produced was second class; under present conditions, however, the proportion of second-class butter has dropped to between 1 and 2 per cent. For a considerable portion of the period under review drought conditions and excessive heat and dust prevailed, and there were only three-day deliveries of cream; consequently a considerable quantity of sour cream was received. The neutralising agent used has been bi-carbonate of soda. It has been found that a great deal depends on the purity of the culture used to start the lactic ferment after the pasteurising process has killed the germ life. A considerable amount of experimental work in this regard has been done with success.

Pasteurisation at Yanco has, as indicated by Mr. O'Callaghan, proved itself an antidote for some of the troubles inexperienced dairymen encounter, but it is not going to be a cure for uncleanly methods. The experience there has been that it certainly improves the keeping quality of the butter, and gives uniformity to the article, which is a great advantage in connection with the export trade.

There is no doubt that with pasteurising a superfine article can be produced at Yanco, and, with an incentive to make a superfine butter (in the shape of a higher price for an article grading from 92 to 95 points, than for an ordinary good-quality butter grading 91 points) doubtless the process would be generally adopted. The additional expense of pasteurising at Yanco has been about 0½d per lb.

MEAT MARKETS.

EXPORTERS' POSITION.

DEPUTATION TO MINISTER.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The statement made by the High Commissioner for New Zealand in London (Sir Thomas Mackenzie), which was published in the press to-day, was referred to at a deputation of meat exporters which waited on the Minister of Customs. The statement was to the effect that the American Meat Packers' Company had endeavoured to make a contract with an important Continental Power, which would have disastrously handicapped Australia and New Zealand for five years.

Mr. J. A. M. Elder (managing director of John Cooke and Co.) stated that this comment referred to an attempt which was being made to secure the French meat market for a number of years. The matter was one of vital importance to Australia. The various Governments controlled the export of meat at the instigation of the home Government, and in the general interests of the British Empire, and practically every pound of meat for export was bought for Imperial purposes. There was no objection whatever on the part of the trade to this course, as it was doubtless a proper and intelligent method of dealing with the present unprecedented circumstances. The fact remained, however, that while Australians had willingly submitted to this control, and had helped the authorities in every way, meat exporters from other countries had been, and still were, entirely free from any similar restrictions, either in the import of meat into Great Britain, the marketing there of any not required for military or naval purposes, or in the sale and shipment to Allied countries. The home authorities were fully informed of these methods, and must realise the anomaly of the Australian exporters' position. In addition to their ability to control all meat in the United Kingdom, the Imperial authorities could also similarly regulate shipments to other countries, seeing that virtually all the meat-carrying steamers flew the British flag. Despite this, the position undoubtedly was that Australia's competitors, particularly from South America, were given every opportunity to push their interests and connections, untrammelled and unhindered, in all possible directions, including the new markets, which the war was opening up, while Australia was in that special regard tied hand and foot. France and Italy were buying huge quantities of fresh, chilled, and frozen meat from South America and other parts of the world, and Great Britain had recently been importing from Brazil, Nigeria, French Congo, and Columbia. Australia, however, was allowed to make no shipments to France or Italy. It was patent that the whole question presented important grounds for strong representation by the High Commissioner to the British authorities. Recently, as a result of negotiations between the French Government and a group of Argentine exporters, the sale of the huge quantity of 120,000 tons of meat yearly, for three, or possibly four, years, was practically completed. Such a huge transaction necessitated the French Parliamentary sanction, and in the meantime another group of meat people, who also traded from South America, got wind of what was going on. As a result of their representations, and of representations made by the High Commissioners of Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and South Africa, and also by the British Government, the bill was shelved, but it was stated that at any moment it might be reintroduced, and possibly passed. He, personally, felt that some scheme could be devised for the protection of the local consumer, which would leave the exporter untrammelled, and he had no doubt that the trade would willingly co-operate with the Government in any such idea.

The Minister, in reply, stated that the matter of trading with France had been brought under the notice of the new High Commissioner by Mr. Elder before his departure from Australia, and he was sure that Mr. Fisher would use every endeavour to see that Australia got a fair deal, and was not shut out from the French markets, either at the present time or when the war was over. The Commonwealth Ministry was not unmindful of the interests of the Australian producer, and it had cabled to the British authorities in connection with the matter. He thought that exporters could rely on none of the markets being closed to them when they were able to export again.

QUEENSLAND BUYERS UNEASY.

BRISBANE, Friday.

Great uneasiness has been occasioned in this district over the reported Government action in regard to regulating the price of meat on the hoof. One cattle buyer, who has returned to Blackall, states that he inspected a good line of bullocks on Wednesday, and intended purchasing them, but upon receiving advice from Brisbane, foreshadowing interference, he immediately cancelled his arrangements. The opinion is expressed that such action by the Government would deal the industry a severe blow, and would suspend the sale of vast quantities of stock.

JUDICIAL CHANGES.

IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Following upon the death of the Chief Justice (Sir Samuel Way), changes have been made in the Judicial Bench of South Australia.

Mr. Justice Buchanan, who has for the past four years filled the position of President of the State Industrial Court, was a few days ago promoted permanently as Judge of the Supreme Court.

The Presidency of the Industrial Court was offered to Professor Jethro Brown, Professor of Law at the Adelaide University, and it was officially announced to-day that he had accepted the office.

A TRAIN ACCIDENT.

At about 10.30 last night John Lynn, 32, a blacksmith, living at Anderson-street, Belmore, fell from No. 11 platform at the Central Station, and a Belmore-bound train passed over his left leg below the knee. The Civil Ambulance took him to Sydney Hospital, where the leg was amputated.

SIR ERNEST RUTHERFORD.

The New Zealand Institute has awarded the Hector Memorial prize this year to Sir Ernest Rutherford, a former resident of New Zealand.

ROYAL NORTH SHORE HOSPITAL.

The annual meeting of the Royal North Shore Hospital was held at the North Sydney Town Hall last night. The president, Mr. J. Randal Carey, occupied the chair.

The financial statement showed that the expenditure for the year exceeded the income by £526 0/1. Of this, however, £286 12/11 was for equipment for new wards.

The board, however, reported that, despite the increase in the prices of all supplies, the annual cost of maintaining each bed in the institution had been reduced by £1 19/, as compared with the previous year.

The average number of patients resident daily was 98.7, and the average length of stay in the hospital of each patient was 21.9 days. The total number of operations performed was 1077, 486 being major operations, and 521 minor. The number of out-patients treated during the year was 2202, and 147 infectious cases were also treated.

The following office-bearers were elected:—Mr. J. Randal Carey, president; Messrs. G. F. Bailey, A. Thompson, D. W. Cater, Frank George, vice-presidents; Mr. Peden, hon. treasurer; Messrs. P. Burrows, A. B. Hector, A. A. Brown, R. Auld, J. Roberts, Mrs. A. Milson, Mr. Watkin Wynne, directors; Drs. J. Fabister and F. S. Tange, medical representatives; Messrs. Clarke and Macrow, auditors.

Funds are greatly needed, and all interested are invited to call. Mrs. Albert Littlejohn is the hon. secretary.

SOLDIERS' SPORTING MATERIAL.

The response to an appeal sent out by Mr. R. L. Baker to a number of prominent sportsmen of Sydney for donations towards purchasing 100 sets of boxing gloves has been so good up to date that it is anticipated there will be sufficient funds for 125 sets. Nearly £44 is in hand.

BARRIER STRIKE.

MUNITION WORKS TO START.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

The board of management of the Barrier Munitions Company to-day sent out a circular letter to the following secretaries:—Messrs. W. D. Barrett (A.M.A.), H. Taylor (Amalgamated Society of Engineers), E. Horsington (Engine drivers and Firemen's Association, Broken Hill), and G. A. Gilbert (Amalgamated Carpenters and Joiners).

The letter states that in connection with the work of the munitions shop, the board of management has arranged to issue cards of identification to employees necessary to carry on the work. These cards are to be issued separately by the managers of the munitions works, the South mine, and Zinc Corporation, Ltd.

NO HELP FROM COBAR.

COBAR, Friday.

At a meeting of the Cobar miners, it was decided to grant no financial assistance to Broken Hill miners.

FINANCIAL.

GOLD IN WAR.

ITS RELATIONSHIP TO NOTES.

VALUE IN LAST RESORT.

The recent deputation of bankers to the Federal Treasurer asking for permission to resume gold exports, and the Treasurer's refusal to accede to the request, show that in the minds of some authorities at least gold plays an important part in war. Our enemies, too, believe it does, for, have they not made several appeals to their people to hand over their gold to the Imperial Bank so that the whole metallic resources of the Empire might be effectively mobilised? Did they not even go so far as to ask the married women of Germany to give up their wedding rings and replace them with rings of iron so as to have an enduring witness that they had done their little for their country? Why is it that gold is so valued? In an ideal state of international society there would be no need for it as a currency medium—paper is really just as good and incomparably cheaper. Those countries in which commercial methods are most advanced use least gold. England, having regard to the magnitude of her trade, uses least of all. Though there is far less gold in the Bank of England than in the Bank of France or in the Imperial Bank of Russia, England can lend France and Russia gold, and can ship the precious metal on their account to the United States in payment for munitions of war. The explanation of this apparent paradox is not far to seek. England is not a note-using country like France or Russia, and so does not need to hold huge gold reserves against her note issue as they must. She is a cheque-drawing country instead.

Now, it is interesting to consider how the Commonwealth stands in the matter of gold. At the latest date at which the figures are available the Australian trading banks had gold coin in their vaults valued at £30,004,000, and they also had gold bullion to the value of rather more than another million sterling. At that time they held Australian notes to the amount of £24,612,000, which, theoretically at least, they could take to the Treasury in Melbourne and convert into gold. As a matter of fact, however, they could do no such thing, for they had come to an understanding with the Commonwealth Government not to present any notes for conversion into gold during the war, and, besides, had they done so there would not be nearly enough gold to go round. At the end of the year the Treasurer had gold in the Treasury chest to the amount of £14,965,000, which, it can be seen, is much too little to meet all demands, if the banks insisted on getting their money back. The safeguard is: First, that the banks are sensible; and, secondly, that they always need to have a good many notes in hand for the conduct of their ordinary business. The position, therefore, is sound enough. It is interesting to know that when war broke out the Commonwealth Government had issued notes to the value of £32,053,000, which at the end of last year had increased to £41,766,000. At the earlier date mentioned there was £10,719,000 in gold in the Treasury chest against these notes; while at the end of December last the gold reserve under the control of the Treasurer had expanded to £14,365,000, this representing 35.83 per cent. of the notes in circulation, against 25 per cent. provided as the statutory minimum. There is thus a substantial margin for safety.

It has been noted that the banks held £24,612,000 of the total notes issued by the Federal Government. The balance of £17,154,000 is in the hands of the public, which is a much larger holding of paper money than we have ever before had experience of. In the old bank-note days the public were accustomed to carry round notes to the value of some £5,000,000 only. So there has been a vast expansion since then.

It will thus be seen that, if the Government were suddenly called upon to redeem its "promises to pay," it could do so only to the extent of some 2/ in the £. We here come to the reason for the Government refusing to sanction further exports of gold at this juncture. In normal times the note issue is on a sound enough basis. But these are not normal times. The banks are large holders of notes, and though they have no direct responsibility they have this indirect responsibility that they must have a general regard for the stability and solvency of the community. So the heavier their reserves of gold the better. When the banks and the Treasury can show a large holding of gold, no one need fear. If the banks allowed their gold reserves to run down unduly, then the position would be so much less sound. The question is one of moral rather than legal responsibility. There can be no doubt that, in the circumstances, the warning of the Treasurer was well timed.

Gold is a chimera. Everyone wants it when they cannot get it, and when everyone can have it for the asking no one needs it. One goes to one's bankers and gets a roll of notes, which are just as good as gold, because one knows they are convertible into gold at the Treasury, and that a pound note will buy just as much as a sovereign. So, too, one takes one's neighbour's cheque and looks upon it just as so much gold. But if the notes were not so convertible, or there were any doubts as to the solvency of the drawer of the cheque, how different would one's feelings be! Then gold and gold alone would satisfy.

Every door is barr'd with gold, and opens but to golden keys.

So the nations of Europe have of late been endeavouring to increase their holdings of the "saint seducing" metal. Europe is famishing for gold. She wants to pay her soldiers, to arm and equip them, to buy munitions abroad, to import food, and do a thousand and one things needful for the prosecution of the war. But to do these things, they must have gold. Paper is all very well amongst themselves. The Germans are attempting to thrive on a diet of paper, but are finding it indigestible provender. The French and the Russians also are allowing their printing presses full play. At the end of November last the Bank of France had gold reserves amounting to £196,190,000, but had issued notes to the amount of £571,349,000. It will be remembered that up to that date the French Government had issued no loan. It depended upon other methods of finance, and one of them was the issue of paper money. The Bank of Russia in November of last year had gold in its vaults to the amount of £160,515,000, and had issued notes to the amount of £311,548,000. Now let us turn to our chief enemy. In the Imperial Bank of Germany on the last day of November there was gold to the amount of £121,763,000, against which notes to the value of £299,971,000 had been issued. These figures are, however, misleading in this respect, that though the Imperial Bank has practically the whole gold reserve of the Empire, there are other notes issued by the million by the Government for which the bank is nominally, at least, in no way responsible. If the Bank of England figures for the same date be taken, they appear horribly small by comparison. The bank's holding of gold on December 8 was but £50,272,000, against which notes to the value of £34,155,000 had been issued. This curious fact emerges that the wealthy country, the only country at war that still maintains a real gold basis, has the smallest gold reserve of all. But there is this difference, that against every note the Bank of England has issued there is more than a sovereign in its vaults, and whenever anyone who holds a Bank of England note desires to turn it into gold he can do so. Nowhere else can this be done in Europe!

STATES' SAVINGS BANKS.

The Commissioners of the Government Savings Bank of New South Wales have supplied us with the following figures of the State Savings Banks of the Commonwealth for the month of December, 1915. They point out that the figures do not include the business of the Savings Bank Department of the Commonwealth Bank:—

Statement for the month of December, 1915:—

Deposits	£5,020,294
Payments	4,874,476
Increase for month	£145,818
	No.
Accounts opened	27,775
Accounts closed	25,629
Increase for month	2,106

Depositors' balances at December 31, 1915, were £82,907,443.

Depositors at December 31, 1915, numbered 2,026,391.

MANLY GAS.

The report of the above company shows a profit for the year of £5231. A dividend of 4 per cent. was paid in July last, amounting to £2550, and a similar dividend is now declared, making 8 per cent. for the year. During the first half of the year there was an appreciable falling off in the consumption of gas, owing to between 300 and 400 houses having been vacated. Hence the dividend was reduced. Capital amounts to £63,750, exclusive of loan capital £16,550. Land, machinery, stock, etc., are valued at £82,353. The annual meeting was held yesterday, Mr. John Leach presiding. The report and balance-sheet were adopted. Mr. Archibald Howie was re-elected a director, and Messrs. E. Price and F. J. Doran were elected auditors.

NEWCASTLE WALLSEND COAL.

The report of the above company covers the six months ended December 31. It shows a net profit of £4969, which, with £439 brought forward, made £5409 available. The directors recommended a dividend at the rate of 5s per share, absorbing £5000, leaving £409 to be carried forward. Business has been much restricted by the war. Hence the decrease. The following comparison may be made:—

	Half-year ended Dec. 31. 1913.	1914.	1915.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders was held yesterday, the chairman of the company (Mr. Harry S. Levy) presiding. The report and balance-sheet were adopted. Mr. F. Jago Smith, M.L.C., being the only candidate, was declared re-elected as a director. Messrs. J. Hunter Stephenson and C. T. Metcalfe were elected as auditors.

PORT JACKSON STEAM.

The report of the above company for the half-year ended December 31 shows a net profit of £13,936, which, with £712 brought forward, made £14,648 available, which sum the directors propose to apportion as follows:—1/ per share dividend, absorbing £14,080, leaving to carry forward £567. The following comparison may be made:—

	Half-year ended Dec. 31. 1913.	1914.	1915.

MONT DE PIETE.

The half-yearly report of the above company for the six months ended June 30 states that the investments upon mortgages, pledges, and other securities aggregated £147,254, against £140,549 a year earlier. The net profit amounted to £7178, which, with £2770 brought forward, leaves £9948. This sum the directors propose should be apportioned as follows:—To dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum £5625; to reserve fund, £1500; leaving £2823 to be carried forward. The following comparison may be made:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

The Bank of England discount rate is 5 per cent., to which it was reduced on August 7, 1914. The open market rate of discount for three months fine bills is ¼ higher and 5 3-16 per cent. Short loans are quoted unchanged at 4½ per cent.

The Bank of France rate is 5 per cent., to which it was reduced on August 21, 1914.

CONSOLS AND AUSTRALIAN STOCKS.

War loan, 3½ per cent., is quoted at 89⅞ (1 up); war loan, 4½ per cent., 97 1-16; Consols, 2½ per cent., 59; N.S.W. 3½ p.c., 1918, 96; 3½ per cent., 1912-30, 83½; Victorian 4 per cent., 1920, 94; 3½ per cent., 1921-22, 91½; 3 per cent., 1928-9, 76; 3½ per cent., 1920-40, 85½; N.Z. 4 per cent., 1920, £94.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The oil market was slightly more active yesterday owing to a cable being received that the price of "Thistle" brand of linseed had advanced. About 200 drums of this brand were sold at 5/. No word was received as to Blundell, Spence's, which remained unchanged at 5/9 f.o.b. About 250 drums were sold at 5/2. Herring oil on to yesterday's quotations would cost 2/2 to land. Whitelead was quiet at £53 for Champion's. Redlead was selling at £50. The f.o.b. price of redlead is now equal to whitelead. The lower duty on the redlead makes the difference in the local cost. Turpentine was steady at 4/2, and occasionally 4/3 was asked. Rosin had a sustained inquiry, and a few parcels of G grade were put through at £18/5/ per ton.

Imported rope was advanced £10 a ton. The local manufacturers have kept prices at the previous level.

The tea market was strong. The sales yesterday for teas just arrived showed an advance of quite a halfpenny a pound. Competition was keen for all fresh stuff offering, and 279 packages were sold up to 7½d. As to the Calcutta advance, it is curious to note that mails received this week, and dated December 28, speak of the market as being then weak owing to the want of freight causing an accumulation in the warehouses. As far as can be learned, the freight difficulty still obtains at Calcutta, yet since the beginning of the year teas have jumped there ½d per lb.

S.S. ADELAIDE AT LOANDA.

The Sydney Chamber of Commerce has received the following communication from the State Premier's office, stating that the Agent-General had cabled:—"Following to Sydney Chamber of Commerce from Sir Thomas Robinson, Agent-General for Queensland: Owing to difficulty of communication Adelaide negotiations are proceeding slowly, but hope to expedite presently. I am concerning myself with economical transport to Australia after release."

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

HIGHER EGG VALUES.

Decreased supplies were responsible for the firming of the market for eggs in Sussex-street yesterday morning. Supplies had fallen off to such a degree that there was no possibility of an accumulation of stocks, so that an advance in values was the natural result. Suburban new-laid eggs were quoted at 1/4 and 1/5 a dozen, the latter figure being the more general selling price; northern river eggs brought 1/2, and South Coasts and railways 1/2. The general opinion of merchants was that the present rates would hold for the remainder of the week, and that the market would open next week with a firmer tone.

A constant inquiry for butter and cheese was reported, the market for both of these commodities being remarkably firm.

With bacon and hams the condition of acuteness was unchanged.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

Butter at Sydney (proclaimed prices).—First grade, 133/8, second brands, 118/8, third brands, 112/8 per cwt, including 1/6 charge on boxes, and usual cartage not exceeding 6d per cwt.

Carcase veal to /6 per lb; carcase pork, to /9½ per lb. All classes of produce were in good demand at the above prices.

FORAGE AND GRAIN.

YELLOW MAIZE, 6/3.

South African maize brought by the steamers Battenhall and Barotse was available in Sussex-street yesterday morning, and found a ready market. The yellow grain was selling at 6/3 a bushel, and white at 6/.

By the steamer Wakatipu 900 bags of oats reached the market from Tasmania. They met with only a slow sale, however, as further heavy shipments are due.

A fair quantity of produce was expected to be placed on the market from the steamer Leura, one from Victoria. She had on board about 1000 bags of oats, 850 bags of oaten chaff, 1000 bales of derrick straw, 400 bags of barley, and 1800 bags of potatoes.

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes.—Tasmanian: Redskins, £16/10/; Bismarcks, £16. Victorian: Pinkeyes, £14/10/ a ton.

Onions.—Globes, £3/10/ to £3/15/ a ton.

GRAIN AND BY-PRODUCTS.

Maize.—South African, flat or round, yellow 6/3, white 6/ a bushel.

Broom Millet.—Prime, workable, £40; prime long hurl, £8 a ton.

Barley.—3/6 to 3/9 per bushel.

Oats.—Algerian, 3/ to 3/3; white, 4/ a bushel.

Peas.—Tasmanian: Grey, 7/3 to 7/6 a bushel, blue, none available.

Bran.—Local: £4 a ton.

Pollard.—Local: £6/10/ a ton.

FIREWOOD.

Boxwood, choice 20/, good 17/ to 18/; stringy, 13/ to 16/; ironbark, 12/ to 14/; mixed wood, 12/ to 14/; bakers' wood, choice 14/, good 13/, inferior 9/ to 10/ a ton.

RAILWAY MARKET.

ONIONS DEFICIENT.

A good yarding was in position at the Redfern sales yesterday. Heavy stocks of almost all lines of goods were available, but owing to the medium quality of most goods and the prevailing dulness of the market, these were not sought eagerly at all. One prime truck of wheaten chaff was offered, bringing the crown, but the rest of this traffic lacked the colour and sweetness of that consignment. Wheaten chaff otherwise brought from 4/ to 4/10 per cwt.

Oaten chaff is easier, owing to much the same causes as in the case of wheaten. There has seemed to be many supplies of most lines for some time, but should these supplies in any way be curtailed the values will certainly increase. Yesterday oaten had eased to 4/8 as the best price.

In the lucerne lines there was not much quality. The prairie grass could still be seen to be in the best, but supplies were too heavy to allow good prices. With regard to lucerne, growers and consignees should note that the embargo on lucerne goods going to Queensland has been lifted. It is no longer necessary to obtain a permit for lucerne intended for export to other States. This will affect the market considerably. In all probability no prime goods will be coming to us by rail. It will either be sent to the northern State or shipped by steamer to Sydney wharfs, thus saving in freight rates.

Some oaten hay was offered, but was not of the choicest quality, and accordingly only brought the fair rates of from 4/ to 4/5 per cwt. A truck of derrick straw which was offered looked very clean, but only brought 3/3, owing to the little interest displayed in it.

Only one truck of potatoes was offered, these bringing from 12/ to 14/1 per cwt. Onions were much weaker. Few choice goods were available, but the sales were flooded with inferior to medium quality goods, which were only worth from /9 to 3/ per cwt.

Details of the sales were:—

Wheaten Chaff.—Ex Bangaroo (4085), 5/, ditto (6136), p. 3/11, ditto (15034), p. 3/11, ditto (16502), 4/; ex Billimari (16705), 4/1; ex —— (8238), 5/; ex Wongarbon (11992), p. 4/5; ex Cowra (9817), 4/2; Kirkman, Woodstock (15764), 4/1; ex Greenethorpe (16296), 4/; Deane, Narromine (16038), 4/8; ex —— (11522), 4/3; Matthews, Geurie (2079), 4/10; Scott, Baglah (1826), 4/2 per cwt.

Oaten Chaff.—Kirkman, Woodstock (10693), 3/9; ex Woodstock (5605), 4/8; Lyons, Woodstock (9203), no offer; ex Billimari (4874), 4/8, ditto (603), 4/6; Gray, Greenethorpe (9411), 4/2, ditto (9297), 4/8; Carter, Wirega (11455), 4/5; ex Woodstock (6066), p. 3/11; Palmer, Coolimon (3557), p. 4/5; Burrows, Craboon (1418), s. 2/3 per cwt.

Lucerne Chaff.—Bradley, Tamworth, part 5/5, balance 4 bags dust 10/1; ex Negringha (2971), salt p. 5/2, balance 39 bags dust 10/; Sims, Neringha (12127), 5/2; Coondan, Neningha, part 5/, balance dust 9/; ex Koolingal (12960), p. 4/11 per cwt.

Oaten Hay.—Williams, Nowbridge (1762), 4/5; Bran, Wambool (2224), 4/; Gummer, Perthville (10337), 4/3, ditto (12223), p. 3/11 per cwt.

Derrick Straw.—Ex Bathurst (15298), 3/3 per cwt.

Potatoes.—Various senders, Molgrave (6240), 29 bags Manhattans, branded "J.R.," 14/1; 2 bags JR over X (small), 4/, 10 bags T 13/9, 16 bags 14/11.

Onions.—Kwong Hop, Bathurst (4715), Silverskins 2/8; Hop Sing, Bathurst (17812), Silverskins 2/1; Yuen Sing, Comamble (776), red onions /9, Silverskins 2/11, ex Bathurst (12670), p. 1/8.

FRUIT MARKET.

HIGH VALUES REALISED.

The continued lack of local fruits in the Bathurst street markets was the cause of the ruling high values yesterday morning. Victorian fruits, too, sold at high prices.

The quotations for local fruit do not include cases.

Lemons.—Local: Choice 12/ to 14/, medium 8/ to 10/, small 5/ to 6/. American, 15/ to 17/ a bushel-case.

Bananas.—Fijian, green 20/ a case, 6/1 to 9/ a bunch; G.M.S., 21/ a case, 6/ to 9/ a bunch; choice loose 4/6; ripe from 1/9 to 4/ a bunch; Tweed River, 8/ to 14/; Queensland, 5/ to 8/ a case.

Pineapples.—Queensland: Queens, 7/6 to 12/; Ripleys, 4/ to 6/; Commons, 4/ to 5/ a case.

Rockmelons.—Local: 4/ to 5/.

Passionfruit.—Local: Choice 6/, medium 3/ to 3/6, small 1/6 to 2/ a half-bushel case.

PIG SALES.

LIKELY SCARCITY.

At the City Yards yesterday 500 pigs were yarded, and of these 200 were store pigs. The large numbers of store pigs which have been offered lately indicate a deficiency in supplies. This is due to the drought on the North Coast, and it is thought that when the dry weather breaks there will be an increased demand for this line, and farmers will have considerable trouble in re-stocking their pens. At yesterday's sales there was a considerable inquiry for the best lines, and competition was at times very keen. Out of about 300 pigs, which were not stores, the majority were porkers, but generally the quality of all lines was not up to standard conditions. Prices for baconers and backfatters were without improvement, while those for porkers were particularly firm, and are as follow:—

Best backfatters to £6/10/, good £5 to £6, medium £4 to £5, light from £3/10/; best baconers to £5/15/, good £4/5/ to £5/5/, medium £3/10/ to £4, light from 3 gns.; best porkers to £3/5/, good £2/10/ to £3, medium £2 to £2/10/, light from £1/10/; store pigs brought from 25/ to 45/.

BUSINESS VERY RESTRICTED.

POPULAR STOCKS SOUND.

So far as business was concerned the surroundings of the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday morning were the dullest experienced for many a day. Only one stock—Vegetable Creek Tin—was dealt in, but there was noticeable an undercurrent of strength in the call for several of the more popular stocks in the copper, silver, and tin sections, so that it was just possible it might become stronger as the day advanced.

This is what actually happened, so that the afternoon saw business on sound lines booked in Hampdens, Mount Lyells, Broken Hill Proprietary, British Broken Hill (old), Kampong Kamunting, and Trong Tin. Each of the above stocks commanded a degree of support that must have been gratifying to the shareholders.

MINING NOTES.

The following telegram was received yesterday at the Stock Exchange from Melbourne:—"Field superintendent, South Australian Oil Wells Company, Robe, wires:—'Casing on bottom free all the way down. Restarting drilling to-day.'"

At the annual general meeting of the members of the Sydney Stock Exchange held yesterday afternoon the following were re-elected office-bearers for the ensuing year:—Mr. Ernest L. Davis, chairman; Mr. A. H. North, vice-chairman; and Mr. F. O. Steel, hon. treasurer. Committee: Mr. C. A. Degenhardt, Mr. A. L. Mullens, Mr. G. H. Partridge, Mr. W. Soutar, and Mr. J. Palmer.

In the fortnight ended January 16 the mill of the Block 14 Torrington mine ran 136 hours, crushing 661 tons, assaying 0.4146 per cent. of wolfram and 0.088 per cent. bismuth. This yielded 3 tons 2cwt of concentrates, assaying 68.4 per cent. wolfram and 4.11 per cent. bismuth.

The manager of the Iodide (Mineral Hill), Ltd., reporting for the two weeks ended January 22, says:—"At 7 stope we are underhand, stoping below the No. 1 level, and have produced 51½ tons of ore of an average assay value of lead 36.36 per cent., silver 15.55oz, and gold 8dwt. We are mining 3ft of ore, leaving behind several feet of good milling ore, which is not quite up to bagging grade. Ore despatched to works, 23½ tons. The construction of the concentration mill is well in hand, and the work is being pushed on. The mill dam, of approximately 500 yards, is completed.

It is singular to read in the last report to hand from the manager of the Pernatty copper mine, South Australia, that in unwatering No. 1 gradient about 5 tons of salt was obtained. It had crystallised out from the salt water with which the lake mine is saturated. Progress is being made with the plant which is to be utilised in connection with the Edward's furnace. Two leaching vats have been assembled, and supports for the fourth vat placed in position. Two more precipitation vats have been re-erected, and the launders for all precipitation vats are well in hand.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

SOUTH COAST RAILWAY OFFICERS.

The annual banquet of the South Coast branch of the Railway and Tramway Officers' Association was held at Wollongong recently, Mr. Fred Powell, president of the branch, occupying the chair.

Mr. Sydney Smith (general secretary) said that the association was founded in May, 1913, with a membership of 20, while to-day it had over 3000 members, 450 of whom were on active service. Thirty-three branches were now in existence, and with the rate of increase in membership the association would shortly include every salaried officer in the service. The hours of stationmasters, night officers, and booking clerks had been reduced from 12 to 8 hours per day. A special allowance had been obtained for officers working in hot climates, and a staff board to hear appeals regarding classification and status had been established. Claims for officers in receipt of salaries ranging from £300 to £600 per annum were now before the wages board. Payments for overtime worked by officers which were not allowed to the salaried staff had been included in the award. A more satisfactory system of promotion by seniority had been obtained. A new Railway Bill and Appeals Board Bill had been promised early in the next session of Parliament, and the association was pressing the Government to have a clause inserted for either preference to all members of the staff who belong to the different service associations or, as an alternative, that every railway and tramway employee should contribute to the funds of the organisation protecting their respective interests.

CHEMIST FINED.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

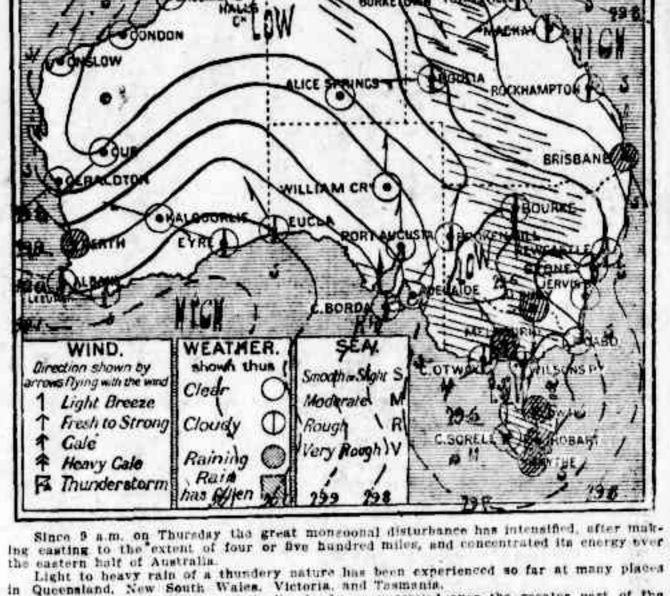
At the Summons Court this morning Charles V. Francis, an inspector under the Pure Food Act, proceeded against Washington H. Soul and Co. on a charge of selling fluid magnesia which was not of a substance demanded by the inspector.

Evidence was given to the effect that the fluid magnesia was 23 per cent. deficient in magnesium carbonate.

James Thomas Williams, director of the company, said the sample was manufactured at the company's factory, and, through a mistake of the operator, a sufficient quantity of carbonic acid gas was not admitted to the generator, and the whole of the magnesium carbonate was not dissolved. The deficiency represented only three-tenths of a grain per dose, and he would have to sell 400 bottles to make an extra gain of 7d. The magistrate, Mr. Gale, imposed a fine of £4, with 6s costs.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



Since 9 a.m. on Thursday the great monsoonal disturbance has intensified, after making easting to the extent of four or five hundred miles, and concentrated its energy over the eastern half of Australia.

Light to heavy rain of a thundery nature has been experienced so far at many places in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, and Tasmania.

Yesterday morning it was practically cloudy or unsettled over the greater part of the continent, and the monsoonal disturbance had developed so far as incomplete data show, two closed-curve depressions, one over Victoria and Tasmania, and the other in our western districts.

The tongue-shaped disturbance now lies over western Queensland and central Australia. The eastern and western "highs" each possesses more than moderate energy, and consequently should act as successful co-operators in the production of good rains over the eastern States. Relatively flat barometric values in various parts of the south-eastern quadrant of Australia are likely to culminate in isolated violent local windstorms, with hail.

Ocean Forecast.—Strong to gales from the south in the western strait, slowly extending to the coast of New South Wales.

COOMA EXPERIENCES BAD WEATHER.

Steamers that arrived here from Melbourne yesterday experienced some heavy weather and much delay. Captain Bailey, of the Australian Steamship liner Cooma, reports leaving Melbourne at 5 p.m. on Wednesday but the vessel encountered a thick haze all day on Thursday, necessitating reduced speed. After rounding Gabo on Thursday evening, very heavy seas and continuous rain squalls further delayed the arrival until the evening.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Sly in Chambers.)

COLLAPSE OF A STORY.

Beard, Watson, Ltd., v Dixon Trust, Ltd.

The case of Beard, Watson, Ltd., v the Dixon Trust, Limited, in which the plaintiffs instituted an action in 1914 to recover £40,000 compensation in respect of damage caused through the collapse of a story of the premises occupied by them in George-street, was mentioned.

The case was heard in September last, before Mr. Justice Pring and a jury, when a verdict was given for the plaintiffs on the first, second, third, sixth, and seventh counts; and for the defendants on the fourth and fifth counts. In accordance with the terms of an agreement between the parties, the jury did not assess the damages to which the plaintiffs would be entitled upon the verdict found for them, but, according to an affidavit, the amount of the damages was to be assessed by Charles Morell Holmes, and was to be entered up as the amount of the verdict. In a special case, stated for the opinion of the Court, the assessor asked the following questions:—(1) Whether, under certain admissions, he should have required the plaintiffs to submit a detail statement of the articles purported to be included in certain balances, and showing how the balances arose, and to specify the separate values of them; (2) or whether he should have accepted the entries in the plaintiffs' books, showing the value of the fittings, plant, etc., stated as ledger balances respectively as conclusive evidence of the value of such fittings, etc.

Mr. Parish, of Messrs. Parish and Stephen, who appeared for the plaintiffs, stated that he had been authorised by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., solicitors for the defendants, to state that it would not now be necessary for the Court to answer the questions, the parties having arrived at an agreement which would be submitted to the assessor, and the terms of which would be filed in court.

By consent, the matter was allowed to stand over generally, with leave to either party to restore it to the list.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice Sly.)

SALE OF MANLY LAND.

Markham v Neal and others.

The suit instituted by Emily Edith Markham against Florence Neal and E. Rowlands Proprietary, Ltd., in respect of the sale of certain land at Manly by the defendant Neal to the defendant company was listed for hearing as a motion on behalf of the plaintiff to continue the interim injunction, which had been granted on the 19th instant, restraining the defendants from further proceeding with their application to register the transfer of the land from Neal to the defendant company, and from carrying out the sale.

Mr. Harriott, instructed by Messrs. A. J. M'Donald and Kemmis, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Hammond, instructed by Messrs. Robson and Cowlishaw, for the defendant Florence Neal; and Mr. Dawes, of Messrs. Villeneuve-Smith and Dawes, for the defendant company.

On the application of Mr. Harriott, the matter was allowed to stand over till February 2, to enable him to answer certain affidavits, the injunction and caveat entered by the plaintiff to continue in the meantime.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Edmunds.)

TRAMWAY GROUP BOARD AWARD.

APPEALS BY CHIEF COMMISSIONER AND UNION.

Mr. J. S. Cargill (Solicitor for Railways) appeared on behalf of the Chief Commissioner for Railways and Tramways for the consent of the Court to make application for the variation or amendment of the award of the Government Tramways Group, No. 3 Board, of December 13 last, or a rehearing of the matters in, and omissions from, the award; also for suspension of the award pending the hearing and determination of the appeal, on the grounds that the board was wrong in awarding an increase in wages above the minimum of 8s 9d per day; that the revenue of the department controlled by the Chief Commissioner was, and was likely to continue to be, prejudicially affected by the existence of a state of war within the Empire; and that while the state of war existed the time was not opportune to increase the working expenses of the department.

The New South Wales Tramway Employees' Union asked for leave and consent to make application to the Court for the variation and amendment of the awards of December 1 and December 13, or for a rehearing of the claims, on the grounds that the board was wrong in awarding the wages and conditions set out in the award; and that the low wages fixed by clause 3, sub-clauses 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, and 8 of the award were, on the evidence and the justice of the case, insufficient and inadequate.

His Honor said he had before him an affidavit in support of the application on behalf of the New South Wales Tramway Employees' Union, which was the first matter in the list, and although there was no appearance on behalf of the applicant union, he formally confirmed the order, which had been granted a week ago, for leave to appeal. The main object of the matter being brought before the Court that day, as he understood, was to expedite the hearing. The appeal on behalf of the Chief Commissioner for Railways and Tramways was set down for February 7, and he supposed the appeals would be taken together.

Mr. Cargill said there were two separate applications by the union, one in respect of an award made on December 1 and the other on December 13. The Chief Commissioner's appeal was against the award of December 13, and he was asking that the rates prescribed by that award should be reduced, whereas the union, he took it, was asking that they should be increased. He saw no reason why the appeals should not be taken together.

His Honor said that from the remarks published in the papers it would appear there was some extraordinary delay in respect of the appeals, but the facts did not warrant them. The appeal by the Chief Commissioner had been lodged, the consent of the Court having been granted on December 17. It was then set down for hearing on February 7. As regards the appeals by the union, they were informed early in the present month that their applications for consent would be granted, but the appeals were not made until some later dates—one was dated December 30 and the other January 5.

Mr. Cargill said that one of the applications of the union was not served upon him till yesterday.

His Honor, continuing, said that within a week or so of those dates the union was informed that consent to appeal had been granted. The initial step in the appeal by the union had, as a matter of fact, not been taken, although the consent of the Court to the appeal was made by him on January 16. The next step was the filing of the notice of motion for appeal, and that course had not yet been taken—in point of fact, it was not yet in the Court. As there was no appeal actually lodged, although consent to the lodging had been granted, it would be improper for his Honor to make an order for the hearing of an appeal which did not exist. At the same time, as the Chief Commissioner's appeal was listed for Monday week, it seemed to him that if the union's desire was to have them expedited, the filing of its notice of motion of the appeals might then be listed, and so far as appeals could be heard together. There was no appearance on behalf of the union.

Mr. Rupert M'Coy, of Messrs. M'Coy and M'Coy, at this stage entered the court, and stated that he appeared on behalf of the union, and that he had had no notice that the consent had been granted.

His Honor granted the applications, and confirmed the consent to appeal in both cases, the hearing of the appeals being fixed for February 7.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Docker and a jury.)

Mr. A. F. Dawson prosecuted for the Crown.

THEFT FROM DWELLING.

Ethel Violet May Benn, a young woman, was charged with having on December 18 last, at Sydney, broken and entered the dwelling-house of John Joseph Carroll, and with having stolen therefrom a portmanteau, the property of Peter Joseph Spears, containing a watch and chain, a sovereign purse, a bangle, a pair of sleeve links, a finger ring, a scarf pin, and a suit of clothes. Accused was further charged with having received the same knowing them to have been stolen. She was undefended and pleaded not guilty.

The accused denied the theft or that she was the person who pawned the property. She was found guilty of receiving, and remanded for sentence.

SENTENCES.

Edward Clune, William Clayton, and Henry King pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on December 14, at Sydney, unlawfully attempted to break and enter the warehouse of John Mackey and Co., Ltd., with intent to commit a felony therein. Mr. W. D. M'Mahon appeared for Clune. The other two accused were undefended by counsel. The jury found all three guilty, and they were each sentenced to 12 months' hard labour.

ACQUITTED.

Alfred Andrew Davis, who described himself as a soldier, was charged with having, at Sydney, on December 26, assaulted James Ryan, with intent to rob him. He was further charged with assault. Mr. Salenger, of Messrs. Biddulph and Salenger, defended the accused, who pleaded not guilty. He denied in evidence that he had either assaulted or attempted to rob Ryan. The accused was acquitted.

FAILED TO FULFIL BOND.

Christopher Gordon Staples, 22, a rubber curer, who was found guilty in November last of fraudulent misappropriation, and then released on his own recognisance of £10 and a surety of a like amount to be of good behaviour for 12 months, and to appear when called upon, was brought forward for sentence. It was a condition of his bond that he should pay, within one month, compensation to the amount of £10. This accused failed to do. He explained that bad luck had prevented him from fulfilling his bond. He had tried to get work, but failed. His Honor sentenced accused to six months' imprisonment.

"OUGHT TO BE INTERNED."

GERMAN CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Before Mr. Smithers, S.M., at the Water Police Court yesterday, a German named Hermann Heymann, 36, residing in Victoria-street, Darlinghurst, was charged with larceny as a bailee. It was alleged that, being the bailee of a diamond marquise ring and one gold ring set with two diamonds and a sapphire, of a total value of £23, the property of Joseph Grimaldi, the accused fraudulently converted them to his own use.

Evidence was given that when accused was arrested by Constable Burke and Sergeant McDonald at the Sydney Safe Deposit, he stated that he had got the rings on time-payment, and had paid Grimaldi £2 deposit on them. Grimaldi, who was present, denied this, and stated that accused was only to show them to somebody and return them the following day. Accused had not paid any money on the rings at all. Asked what he had done with the rings, accused said he had sold them to a man in the street. This man had gone to Melbourne—he did not know either his name or address—but on his return he expected to get the rings back. When shown a note dated November 28, arranging that he should return the rings by December 23, the accused admitted having signed it. On January 23, Morris Goldstein handed the two rings to Sergeant McDonald. When the accused was told that the police had the rings in their possession, he replied, "Yes, I know. I pawned them in a shop in Castlereagh-street for £5."

The prosecutor, who is an Italian, said he kept his jewellery at the Safe Deposit. Early in September accused, whom he knew as a dealer in jewellery, said: "Give me two of the rings to show to someone, and if not sold I will bring them back to-morrow." Witness gave accused the two rings. It was some days before witness saw accused in Castlereagh-street, and said: "You are a nice man. You promised to return the rings if not sold the next day, and yet you have not brought back the stuff." Two days later accused promised to return the rings, but prosecutor did not see him for a week. When he did see him he said he was tired of his story, and would go for the police. Accused said that in eight or nine days he would get them back for certain. Accused gave prosecutor a document, promising to return the rings. Grimaldi went to New Caledonia, and on his return shortly before Christmas saw accused and demanded the rings or their value. Accused handed over £2, and again promised to get the rings before Christmas. As the rings were not returned, prosecutor instituted proceedings.

Morris Goldstein, of Pitt-street, Sydney, manufacturing jeweller, said he took two rings out of pawn for accused's wife, but subsequently got them back, and handed them to Sergeant M'Donald.

The accused stated that he had had prior transactions with Grimaldi, and as far as the rings were concerned told prosecutor he had pawned them. He agreed to make weekly payments, and two of these payments were made and accepted by prosecutor. Accused stated that he had been ill and hard up, and had cabled to friends in America for money, but had not had any response.

Mr. Smithers remarked that accused ought to be interned instead of going about robbing people here. He was a liar, and was keeping up the German reputation for lying. He had been guilty of a dirty act of dishonesty, and ought to be locked up, as he was an unnaturalised German.

Speaking to the accused, his Worship said: "Owing to some arrangement come to, I shall have to discharge you. But you are a first-class thief and a first-class liar. You robbed the prosecutor. The police ought to inform the military authorities in order that you may be interned."

It was stated by the police that this would be promptly attended to.

Heymann was then discharged.

LETTER-STEALING CHARGE.

At the Central Police Court yesterday Stephen Kottze, aged 29, was charged before Mr. Macfarlane, C.S.M., with stealing six letters sent by post, the property of the Postmaster-General.

Postal Detective Mitchell stated that at 9 p.m. on Friday last he saw accused go to the Colonial Sugar Refining Company's private box at the General Post Office, open it, and take several letters from it. Witness asked Kottze if he was employed by the company or was authorised by it to take the letters, and he replied in the negative. Accused had in one of his hands five letters addressed to the company. He was taken to the police station, and, when searched, another of the company's letters, containing a cheque for £24/12/6, was found in one of his pockets. He also had a key in his possession which fitted the company's box, and when a room which he occupied at the Glebe was searched three keys which fitted other boxes at the General Post Office were found.

Kottze, who reserved his defence, was committed for trial.

LATE MR. FREDERICK COX.

GOSFORD, Friday.

Mr. Frederick Cox, one of the best-known men in the Gosford district, who died in a private hospital in Sydney, after undergoing an operation for appendicitis, was 57 years of age, and was born at Camden. He was engaged in commercial pursuits until two years ago, when he retired from business, and purchased orchard and grazing properties in the Gosford and Singleton districts. Deceased leaves a wife, three sons (two of whom are at the front), and one daughter; also five brothers and one sister.

NEW ZEALAND WOOL SALES.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

In consequence of the improved shipping outlook, the Dunedin wool sales, which were postponed owing to the lack of steamers, have now been fixed for February 3. The Wellington sale will follow a week later.

ALLEGED THEFT BY TRICK.

John Lindsay, 42, appeared before Mr. Macfarlane, C.S.M., at the Central Police Court yesterday on a charge of stealing by trick the sum of £15, the property of Edward James Groom, at Sydney, on December 29.

Groom, an hotel porter, said that he first saw the accused on December 29 in front of the Customs-house. Witness went there to apply for a passport. Accused first spoke to him, and witness later on told him what took him there. Accused said, "Passports are easy enough to get; I got one myself," and offered to show witness where they could be obtained. Subsequently witness met accused, who asked him if he was prepared to go back to England then. Accused said that he could obtain a berth for witness on a boat going to England, on which he could work his passage, and told him that he would get him a berth on payment of £15, £10 of which would be returned at the end of the voyage. Witness handed accused £15. Accused then said that he would go into the shipping office and see the purser with reference to the berth. Accused went into the office, and witness waited outside, but as accused did not come out again information was given to the police.

When asked how he pleaded, Lindsay said that he was innocent, and that Groom had made a mistake.

Lindsay was committed for trial.

COUNTRY NEWS.

WATER SUPPLY FOR BOWRAL.

BOWRAL, Friday.

The question of providing an adequate water supply for Bowral formed the subject of a visit from the Public Works Committee this week. The committee paid a visit of inspection to the proposed source of supply on Wingecarribee River, and yesterday took evidence regarding the proposal. Mr. E. M. de Burgh, chief engineer of water supply and sewerage, estimates the cost of the proposed scheme at £22,400, and the annual charges, with interest calculated at 4 per cent., and extending over 50 years, at £1613. The storage reservoir will be formed by the construction of an earthen dam across the lower end of the Wingecarribee Swamp, impounding 36,500,000 gallons of water, or sufficient to supply the average demands of Bowral for 200 days without any inflow.

MANCHESTER UNITY.

BATHURST, Friday.

At a delegate meeting of the Bathurst District Manchester Unity Oddfellows' Lodge, held at Blayney, representatives were present from all parts of the western district. An address was delivered by the District Grand Master. It was decided that the district levy for the ensuing year be 3s. Manildra was selected as the place for the holding of the next district meeting. The election of officers resulted:—District Grand Master, Bro. W. Bruck; Deputy Grand Master, Bro. F. T. Ellis; District Secretary, Bro. A. Turner.

LATE MR. JOHN GILBERT.

PENRITH, Friday.

Mr. John Gilbert, who has died at Penrith at the age of 71 years, was a resident of the State for over 50 years. Deceased, who was a native of Ireland, was for some years manager of the Minchinbury Vineyards at Rooty Hill, where he put out the first vineyard, sixteen acres in extent, in 1867. Later he joined the railway service, where he remained for 5 years, being stationed at Carcoar, Jerilderie, Breadalbane, Cullarin, and other places. He came to Penrith six years ago. Deceased leaves a widow, three sons, and two daughters.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

COBAR, Friday.

The Quarter Sessions were held yesterday before Judge Bevan. Mr. J. N. Mason was Crown prosecutor. Jack Gill and Thomas M'Leod, charged with alleged cattle stealing, were both acquitted. Thomas Frank Morton Hastings, alleged false pretences, the jury failed to agree, and accused was bound over to appear at the next sessions.

BATHURST, Friday.

A fire on the property of Mr. O. V. Reid, a pastoralist, of Dunkeld, destroyed 500 acres of valuable grass, about three miles of fencing, and a number of sheep.

PEAK HILL, Friday.

A demonstration in aid of the Allies' Day fund was held on the Show Ground on Wednesday, and was most successful. Nearly £300 was realised, and there is still a lot of farmers' wheat to be sold.

TAREE, Friday.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. George Allan, senior, died at her residence, Oxley Island. She was 89 years of age, and had resided in the district for about 60 years.

CASUALTIES.

AN OPEN VERDICT.

An inquest was conducted by the City Coroner, Mr. H. S. Hawkins, yesterday into the death of John Abbott, 42 years of age, a waggon builder, lately living at 44 Taylor-street, Darlinghurst. Deceased was seen sitting at the top of the cliffs at the end of Billyard-avenue, at about 7 a.m. on January 15, and his body was found on the rocks below shortly afterwards. An open verdict was returned.

WOMAN'S SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide was returned by the City Coroner, Mr. H. S. Hawkins, yesterday, at the conclusion of a magisterial inquiry concerning the death of Mary Stokes, 32 years of age, lately living with her husband at 6 Carrington-terrace, Botany-road, Alexandria. Deceased took poison on the afternoon of January 21, and died at the South Sydney Hospital the same day.

MAN'S DEATH.

Roger Smith, a ships' painter, was found unconscious at the foot of some stairs at his address, 158 Kent-street, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The Civil Ambulance took him to Sydney Hospital, where life was pronounced extinct.

DEATH FROM HORSE KICK.

After conducting an inquiry yesterday into the death of James Hill, 48 years of age, a labourer, who died at the Royal North Shore Hospital, on January 23, after being kicked by a horse nine days before, the City Coroner recorded a verdict of accidental death.

COLLAPSED IN THE STREET.

At about noon yesterday John Laws (70), an old-age pensioner, living at Albany-street, St. Leonards, collapsed at the corner of Mount and Walker streets, North Sydney. The Civil Ambulance took him to the Royal North Shore Hospital, where he was admitted in a serious condition.

LABOURER INJURED.

Matthew Breem (61), a labourer, living at Waterloo-street, Rozelle, was loading a tip-dray yesterday morning at the Darling Harbour railway works, when a piece of rock from the dray fell on him. The Civil Ambulance took him to Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted suffering from a fractured pelvis.

A CHILD'S FALL.

Yesterday morning Welby Lyons, a child of four years, fell from a balcony, a distance of about 15ft, at his home, Harris-street, Pyrmont. He was taken to Sydney Hospital by the Civil Ambulance, and admitted suffering from concussion.

A FRACTURED THIGH.

Thomas Clark (22), a wharf-labourer, living at Terry-street, Hunter's Hill, was working at Birt's Wharf, Pyrmont, yesterday afternoon, when a large iron plate, weighing about half a ton, fell on him, fracturing his right thigh. The Civil Ambulance took him to Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted.

ADELONG, Friday.

Mr. A. Larkin, grazier, of Billapalap, while travelling in the mail coach between Mount Horeb and Adelong to-day, attempted to move into the opposite seat, and, overbalancing, fell heavily to the metal roadway. The rear wheel of the coach passed over his body, and his face and head were badly cut, but the extent of his injuries is not yet known. He was taken to Grahamstown for medical attention.

WASTEFUL VERSUS NECESSARY EXPENDITURE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At a time of crisis like the present every reasonable effort should be made by the Government to economise, especially in the matter of loan expenditure, and to ensure that not a single pound capable of being allotted to the prosecution of the war will be diverted from that purpose. But if the Government must continue its orgy of expenditure why not confine its activities to legitimate channels? Mr. Griffith states that the Cabinet intend at an early date to enter upon the production and distribution of cheap bread, beef, and other foodstuffs, and the embarkation on these schemes will cost the country many hundreds of thousands of pounds. They are distinctly outside the recognised function of a Government, whose first duty it should be to see that the administration of its several departments is carried out satisfactorily to the community who pay taxes. It is a notorious fact that this is not being done at present. Take the Department of Public Instruction as a case in point. There are scores upon scores of schools in country and city alike which are in a deplorable condition by reason of shortage of accommodation, need for repairs, paintings, etc., and of increased playground areas; yet when application is made to have these defects remedied the stereotyped reply is that there are "no funds available." At Orange Superior Public School more space is needed for recreation purposes, but continued effort to secure same during three years past has proved unsuccessful. In and around the suburbs of Sydney there are many schools which are sadly in need of attention. Take Campsie, for instance. There several teachers are compelled to take their classes out in the open sheds, and when a high gale blows the place is enshrouded in a cloud of dust. No funds can be found with which to make good these defects, but money can be raised for the building of trawlers, the opening of fish shops, the establishment of State bakeries, quarries, and timber yards, the purchase of annuities for the families of deceased Ministers, and a thousand-and-one purposes not contemplated under our Constitution. Some of the country schools are in a disgraceful condition; railway stations in wheat areas are without weighbridges or loading-banks; in growing towns the police officers are compelled to live in tumble-down tenements, instead of having official quarters provided for them—and all these conditions prevail because the Government spends so much on wild-cat schemes, and is so extravagant in other unconstitutional directions that it has no money left with which to carry out its legitimate administrative offices.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Horseracing at Rosehill and pony and galloway racing at Kensington will provide outings for metropolitan sporting folk this afternoon; Victorian racegoers assemble at Sandown Park; the Cessnock Jockey Club caters for northern sportsmen; the Tasmanian Turf Club brings its annual meeting to a close at Launceston, and the Helena Vale Racing Club is the principal Western Australian fixture.

The programme for the February reunion of the Newcastle Jockey Club on the 5th inst is announced, and for the six events on the card, for which 650 sovs. prize money has been provided, entries close with the secretary, Mr. John Grisdale, at the office of the club, Newcastle, up to 8 p.m. on Monday next, while entries can be lodged at the office of the A.J.C., city, up to 4 p.m.

Kensington will this afternoon be the rendezvous of followers of pony and galloway racing, and the customary seven-events programme promises interesting sport. The track is good going, and the general arrangements are up to the usual standard. Special and ordinary trains land visitors at the racecourse gates; the first race is timed to start at 2 p.m., and the results of the racing may be anticipated as under:—Flying Handicap: First division, Selbrook or Canley; second division, The White Chief or Glenettie. Fourteen Hands Handicap: Rose Soult, Lord Hope, Red Gipsy. Maiden Handicap: First division, Lady Sylvia or Moore Park; second division, Master Fame or Livonia. Kensington Handicap: First division, Teddy Bear or Mirzan; second division, Sundial or Cap and Sash. Fourteen-one Handicap: Princess Leonie, Miss Carbeau, Adnama. Approved Stakes: First division: Briseis or Kikiamyah; second division, Prince Simmer or Ellimark. Fourteen-two Handicap: Scythian, Field Queen, China.

The Wyong Park Racing Club is in the field with its programme for the meeting to be held on the 8th prox. The half-dozen items carry in the aggregate 270 sovs. prize money, and entries must be lodged with the secretary, Mr. Edwin Woodbury, before 4 p.m. on Wednesday next.

The next fixture of the Richmond Pony Club, on the Londonderry Racecourse, is for the 14th prox., and for the six items on the card 155 sovs. prize money has been provided, of which 60 sovs. goes to the Richmond Handicap. Entries close with the secretary, Mr. G. N. Kilduff, at 5 p.m. on Monday, the 7th prox.

Entries for the Canterbury Park February Meeting on the 12th prox. must be in the hands of the secretary, Mr. W. L. Davis, before 4 p.m. on Monday next. The prize money totals 600 sovs., equally distributed over half a dozen races.

The dispersal sale of the late Mr. Charles Hebden's Errowanbang stud, entrusted to Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co., in conjunction with Messrs. J. S. Leeds and Co., takes place at Orange on Wednesday next, the 2nd prox., and buyers who intend to be present can reach the scene of action by the train which leaves Sydney on Tuesday evening, and arrives there in ample time for the sale, which commences at 10.30 a.m. Over 50 brood mares are catalogued, including the dams of Briarberry, Hallmark, and other winners, and a similar batch of untried stock will also be brought under the hammer. After the Errowanbang stud has been disposed of, a catalogue of thoroughbred stallions, brood mares, racehorses, and untried stock will be submitted, among the contributors to which are Messrs. Hunter White, of Havilah, Dr. W. H. Boazman, W. Hood, and R. B. Suttor. The stallions on this list include The Acolyte, Penniless, and Jinnee. Metropolitan visitors at the sale can make the return trip to Sydney by the train, which leaves Orange the same evening.

Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son announce that they will offer for sale at their bazaar at noon on Monday next the racehorses Dollar Dictator (imp.), Quinologist (imp.), Rosecup, and Billy Mac.

C.T. (Waterloo).—Teddy Bear started favourite for the Wollongong Handicap on Monday last at 2 to 1 against, with Canley second favourite at 4 to 1.

The sales of thoroughbred yearlings this year will commence on Tuesday, April 25, and Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son's annual sale of brood mares, stallions, racehorses, and untried stock will be held on the following Monday, May 1. The catalogues for these sales are now in course of compilation, and intending vendors should send in particulars of any stock they wish to offer, and thus facilitate the issue of the catalogues.

At the meeting of the board of management of the Associated Racing Clubs (Ponies), held on Thursday last, consideration was given to the request made by the bookmakers' clerks' deputation as regards the fee paid by them, with the result that it was decided to reduce the fee by half—viz.,—to 10s 6d per annum.

RUNNING OF XYLITE.

CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY.

BRISBANE, Friday.

In the City Police Court, a young woman named Vera Cleary was charged with conspiracy in connection with the running of a horse alleged to be Xylite, at Albion Park races on October 9, last.

Evidence was given by John Warren White, stipendiary steward at Albion Park, to the effect that a horse called Xylite won the fourth division, and after the race witness followed the horse to the stall and examined him. He sent for Arthur Arnold, the man in charge of the horse, who said he had got it from Sydney. Arnold admitted that the horse was more than four years old, and produced the lease, which was signed "Vera Cleary." Arnold said she raced horses in Sydney, but when asked whether Vera Cleary had not gone around the ring that day backing the horse, said he did not know. Witness said that it appeared to him, after his conversation with Arnold, that fraud had been committed, but he had not enough ground to go on to have Arnold arrested. He noticed, during the race, that the horse did not have the appearance of one that had not raced before.

The case was adjourned until Tuesday next, bail being allowed.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.

FEBRUARY MEETING.

The February Meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club takes place this afternoon, and the varied bill of fare to be discussed should provide highly interesting sport. The track is reported to be excellent going, and, benefited by the recent rainfall, the reserves and lawn look their best, while the floral display in the grand stand enclosure is worth the trip. The transit arrangements include special trains, leaving the Central Railway Station at 11.20 a.m. (horses), 12.6, 12.20, 12.40, 12.51, and 1.8, and 1.27 p.m., of which the 12.6, 12.51, and 1.8 p.m. stop at Strathfield to pick up passengers. Combined railway railway tickets for admission to the saddling paddock and St. Leger reserve can be obtained at the Central Booking Office, Challis House, Martin-place.

The sport commences at 2.10 with the Hurdle Race, in which the places may be filled by Rushcutter, Royal Hastings, and A.J.I.; Bandoliero, Closerie, and Corabar may get home in that order at the end of the race for the Granville Stakes; the situations in the Juvenile Stakes may go to Miss Tressady, Reap, and Luxor; Honey Guide, Gillallambi, and Linera may claim the attention of the judge as named at the finish of the Flying Welter; Chid, Kenilera, and Cesarius may occupy the places in the Rosehill Handicap; and Challenge Crosse, Miss Sylvanite, and Djim should have most to say at the close of the Carlingford Mile, and they may pass the judge as written.

MARRICKVILLE CLUB ANNIVERSARY.

Anniversary Day was also the anniversary of the formation of the Marrickville Club, and a rank competition of 25 ends between teams selected by the president and vice-president was played. The vice-president donated the trophies. A special invitation was issued to the wives and lady friends of the members, who responded splendidly. Afternoon tea was provided in a large marquee on the lawn. Sixty-six players took part in the competition, which was keenly contested, and resulted in a win for Mr. McIntosh's rink, the members of which rink decided to hand the proceeds to the War Chest Fund in aid of our soldiers.

The following is the result of the competition:—

BOXING.

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Tommy Uren and Herb McCoy will be the contestants at the Rushcutter Bay Stadium to-night, when the Australian lightweight title will be at stake. The contest will start at 8.30, and will be preceded by two six-round preliminary bouts, commencing at 7.45, between Bill Davies v Harry Holmes and Joe Kane v Tommy Brownlee.

BAND CONTEST.

ROZELLE LEADS IN A GRADE.

Under the most adverse weather conditions, the A grade band competition was commenced at the Sports Ground last night. The playing, all-round, was of a high order, but the attendance was very small. That the bands did so well is to be wondered at, for they had no shelter from the rain.

Several of the bandsmen braved convention by appearing in their bare feet, and appeared more at their ease than their colleagues. It was neither fair to the performers nor to the public to hold the contest on such a wild night.

As was confidently expected Rozelle showed up as the finest band in the competition. It gave a fine artistic rendering of one of Rossini's works, which was undoubtedly far and away above the efforts of the other three competing bands. Another good performance was that of the Metropolitan Band, which ambitiously essayed a somewhat long composition by Beethoven. In this some fine work was put in by the euphoniums. The adjudicator was Mr. Percy Jones, of Geelong. Following are the results:—

Rozelle (Mr. W. A. Partington, conductor)	156
Metropolitan (Mr. J. Palmer)	138
Rockdale (Mr. J. C. Walker)	136
Leichhardt (Mr. T. Goodall)	130

The competitions will be continued to-night, when the above-mentioned bands will contest the final round.

WAR AND BIGAMY.

In his charge to the grand jury at the December Sessions of the Central Criminal Court, London, the Recorder said that it was curious that since the war the number of persons charged at that court with bigamy had greatly increased, and as they investigated the cases that had arisen it was not difficult to discover the reason. As they were aware, during this war, it had been the practice to give considerable separation allowances to the wives of the gallant men who were fighting our battles. Therefore it was to the advantage of a man to be married. A great many who had joined the force seemed to have been living apart from their wives for some time, and with other women. In order that the other women might have the benefit of the separation allowance the men went to a registry office and went through a form of marriage, knowing that their wives were living somewhere else, and were really entitled to the separation allowance.

It was generally found when the wife went to claim the separation allowance that the man had two "wives"—the wife who was really entitled to the allowance and the fictitious "wife" who was not entitled to it. The result was that the number of bigamy cases had increased, and the number in that calendar was rather large in proportion to the total number of cases.

FRENCH'S FOREST.

Motor lorries and motor cars to convey workers to the ground will leave to-day at 11, 12.30, 1.30, and 2 o'clock, from the junction of Manly and French's Forest roads. Motors will leave French's Forest at 5 o'clock.

Mr. George Fitzpatrick, honorary organising secretary, has received the following letter from a youth at South Annandale:—"As I am only 16 years of age, I cannot enlist; but, as my two brothers are away since the first lot went, I would like to go down to French's Forest and help to clear the land for a week, as I have a week's holiday, commencing on Friday to Wednesday. An early reply, with particulars, will oblige."

The secretary hopes that the splendid attendance on Anniversary Day will be repeated to-day.

FIELD GLASSES.

Field glasses are still being received by the military in response to the appeal of the District Commandant. Nearly 900 pairs of prismatic and field glasses are now in hand, and the Commandant wishes specially to thank members of country clubs who have given their glasses. He had hopes, he stated yesterday, of reaching the thousand mark by Anniversary Day, but though the hope was not realised, he does not despair of being able to record the four-figure mark within the next few days.

Among the wounded who have arrived at Nottingham, says the "Mail," is Corporal Hawkins, of the Canadians, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley two years ago.

AMUSEMENTS.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

"So Long, Letty" has now completed a month's run at Her Majesty's, and as the patronage is still very encouraging J. C. Williamson, Ltd., apparently see no reason at present for substituting another attraction. From the opening chorus to final curtain the musical comedy goes with a swing, and there is much to enjoy in Earl Carroll's music and the witty dialogue with which the piece abounds. The work of the ballet, too, which to some extent travels along novel lines, forms a prominent feature of the comedy, and the costumes are rich in harmonious colour.

THE CRITERION.

Since the "Twin Beds" Company removed itself and its belongings to Melbourne the Criterion has been undergoing alterations, for the purpose of increasing the comfort of future patrons. On Saturday next a drama by Roi Cooper Megrue, entitled "Under Fire," will be produced. As the name indicates, the play is a strong military character, and the plot hinges to some extent on the violation of Belgium's neutrality.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"What Happened to Mary" has completed the first week of its short season at the Theatre Royal, and so far the management has reason to be satisfied with the result. Simple in design and intelligently worked out to a legitimate conclusion, the play appeals to wholesome sentiment, and there is also a vein of comedy running through it which proves thoroughly enjoyable. Bert Bailey's Captain Jogifer is a charming character, breezy and quaint, and Miss Lesley Atienne's role of Mary is played with a quiet effectiveness which secures success. The season, it may be mentioned, will close at the end of next week.

THE PALACE.

"The Spoilers" was finally presented this season at the Palace last night, and was well patronised. To-night there will be a revival of Maxwell Gray's dramatisation of "The Silence of Dean Maitland," a sensational drama which was produced with much success by Mr. Marlow in August at the Adelphi. On that occasion the cast was a good one, but since then the company has been somewhat augmented in strength. The presentation is limited to six nights.

"DICK WHITTINGTON AND HIS CAT."

The second edition of George Marlow's pantomime, "Dick Whittington and his Cat," which was brought out a week ago at the Adelphi, has proved as great a draw as the original production. With its romping harlequinade and the bright budget of comicalities that precede it, there is no time for a dull moment, and every appreciation has been shown of the changes that have been made. There will be a matinee this afternoon.

IRISH DRAMA FOR ADELPHI.

Following the pantomime season at the Adelphi Theatre Mr. George Marlow will present Mr. Gerald Griffin, a new Irish actor-singer, in the romantic Irish play, "Mavourneen." Mr. Griffin, who arrived here recently from America, has been known in that country as "Ireland's sweetest singer," and is reputed to possess, in addition to high attainments as an actor, a remarkably fine tenor voice. He will be supported by the full strength of Mr. Marlow's dramatic company now appearing at the Palace Theatre, and several new artists.

THE TIVOLI.

At this place of amusement during the week Mr. Peter Dawson, the well-known baritone, has sustained his reputation, and his songs have been received with much appreciation. The Follies, too, have provided unlimited amusement to Tivoli patrons, and Miss Vera Pearce—the Boomerang Girl—Mlle. Nadie, a graceful exponent of physical culture, Jack la Vier, and others, offer plenty of variety in an attractive vaudeville entertainment. There will be a matinee to-day, when Mr. H. Cleve, described as a clever xylophone expert, will make his first appearance. The popular comedian, Jack Cannot, will also rejoin the company. A number of returned invalided soldiers at present at No. 4 General Hospital, Randwick, will attend the Tivoli on Monday evening, as the guests of Mr. Hugh D. McIntosh.

THE DANDIES.

There was the usual change of programme at the Darlinghurst Garden Theatre on Thursday night, and a large audience assembled to enjoy an entertaining programme by the Green Dandies, prominent among whom were Miss Tess Byrnes, Miss Dorothy Evans, Mr. Herbert Walton, and Miss Florence Henderson.

BURNS COMMEMORATION.

In connection with the annual Burns celebrations a Scotch concert will be given by the Burns Anniversary Club to-night at the Protestant Hall, Castlereagh-st, where an attractive programme of national songs, recitations, etc., will be given. During the evening a roll of honour showing the names of members of the club who have volunteered for the front, will be unveiled by Mr. D. R. Rogers.

The annual demonstration at the Burns statue in the Domain will commence at 3 p.m.

COMEDY SEASON AT THE PALACE.

A new comedy, entitled "Fact'ry 'Ands," from the pen of Edward Dyson, the author of the short stories, is to be produced at the Palace Theatre on Saturday, February 26, with a new company specially organised under the direction of Mr. Charles Stanford.

MR. F. WHITLOW.

On Thursday night next Mr. Frederick Whitlow will appear at St. James's Hall in new character studies, and he will also introduce his pupil, Mr. Cyril Gess, who has just returned from Gallipoli. Among other items a comic sketch entitled "Mrs. May" will be submitted.

SYDNEY TENOR AT MILAN.

News comes from Milan of a notable success made by Cecil Sherwood, the young Sydney tenor, who is studying at the Milan Conservatorium, under Signor Ritorno. A Patriotic League concert was given in December 9. Writing on the subject, Mrs. J. B. Fitzgerald says:—"Cecil Sherwood's songs at the Patriotic League Concert made a great hit, and there were many congratulations on his success. All the British community here praised Cecil. He sang English songs, and was encored twice."

ASHMEAD BARTLETT'S LECTURES.

Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, the famous war correspondent, will give three lectures at the Town Hall, namely, on February 12, 15, and 17. Some idea of the thrilling matter involved in the lecture may be gathered from the following synopsis:—The early attacks on the Dardanelles forts; the great naval battle of March 18, the assembly of the Armada in Mudros Bay; the problems to be faced; the composition of the army; the historic night of April 24-25, the landing of the Colonials at Anzac; the desperate efforts of the Turks to drive us into the sea; the splendid stand of the Australians and New Zealanders, the landing of the 29th Division at Cape Helles, the fearful struggle for the beaches; the River Clyde, how we finally got ashore; hanging on to the peninsula; our attempts to advance inland; the great battle for Achi Baba, May 6 to 8; the coming of the submarine; the loss of the Goliath, Triumph, and Majestic; how the fleet met the new situation; our further attempts to take Achi Baba; the great Turkish attack at Anzac; the disastrous repulse of the enemy; the new landing at Suvla Bay; how it was carried out; the strategic object in view; the delay in the advance; why the advance failed; the advance from Anzac; the capture of Lone Pine position; the attempts to take Chanuk Bair and Koja Chemen Tepe; our heavy losses, disappointment of the army; preparing for a final effort; the gallant 29th Division; the great attack on the Anafarta Hills, August 21; unavailing gallantry of the Yeomanry; our final repulse; review of the campaign; what we have learnt; what we have lost, and what we have gained.

WEST'S PICTURES.

Moving pictures will be shown this afternoon and to-night at the Glaciarium and the Olympia. At the former the principal features are "Hearts Ablaze" and "The Watching Eye," which is the third episode in "The New Exploits of Elaine." At the Olympia Henry Kolker, who was here with Margaret Anglin in 1908, will be seen in "The Warning." The supporting programmes at both houses include comedies and scenic studies. A new Chaplin comedy, "A Gentleman of Nerve," is being screened. There will be an entirely new programme on Monday.

THE LYCEUM.

"Salvation Nell" will be screened for the last time at the Lyceum to-day and to-night with a programme which includes a film "Friends and Foes," which shows the battleships of all nations. On Monday next the management will introduce Irene Fenwick in the Kleine-Edison six acts photo play "The Spendthrift." The change on Monday will also bring forth Pathe's War Gazette, Edison's War Cartoon, and a comedy, "Tom the Tamer."

PICTURE BLOCK THEATRES.

All next week "The Labyrinth," featuring Miss Kane, the American actress, will be the attraction at the Crystal Palace. Pathe's English Gazette and "Jay Phenom" will also be shown.

At the Lyric Theatre "Britain's Avenging Forces" and a Topical Budget will be shown. The new films at the Colonial include "An Enemy of Mankind," the Gaumont Graphic, and a series of pictures showing how aeroplanes and flying ships are made.

Patrons of the Empress Theatre will see "The Saving Circles" (exploits of Elaine), a Biblical drama, "The Seventh day," and the comedy, "Half a Million."

WHITE CITY.

The carnival feature, "Hello Girlie"—waltz, song and chorus—is being retained as one of the ballroom attractions at the White City. Last night the illuminated grounds were well attended. To-night all the side-shows and amusements will be in full swing from 7.30 to 11.

HOSPITAL CARNIVAL.

Last year's procession in connection with the annual carnival of the Police and Firemen, was generally regarded as one of the best that has passed through the city, but this year's effort bids fair to eclipse it. There will be 75 items, including 30 tableaux. The British Empire will be well represented by six tableaux, and the theatrical profession by one. Mr. Hugh Ward has promised his assistance. The Friendly Societies will be represented by 14 emblems. The display by the fire brigades is to be something out of the common, and the "Darktown Ambulance," one of their items will, it is claimed, be very humorous. The police are to march with rifles and bayonets. Captain Brownlow has consented to a model of H.M.A.S. Sydney appearing in the procession, attended by Naval Cadets. The Naval Police will be there in strength. The Ashfield Senior Cadets' Band will take part again. Ten bands are already promised, and there will be a display by the Motor-Cycle Ambulance as the procession passes through the city, and also at the Agricultural Ground. The prizes for the sports and art union, the latter valued at £200, are now on view at Challis House.

THE BRIDGE VOTE.

The Minister for Public Works (Mr. J. H. Cann) visited Dubbo, and officially opened a new traffic bridge over the Macquarie at Rawsonville. The structure is a very substantial one, built of steel and reinforced concrete at a cost approximating £9000.

The Minister, at the opening, stated that this year the bridge vote for his department this year had been cut down to £15,000, and as this structure had absorbed £9000 of that amount there was very little left for other places. He further stated that the work had been done by day labour, and all the iron and steel had been made at the Government workshops at Walsh Island.

COAL WORKERS.

COMPULSORY CONFERENCE FAILS.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The compulsory conference, called by Judge McNaughton in connection with the coal workers' strike, took place this morning, representatives of the Waterside Employers' Federation and the United Coal Workers and Lightermen's Union being present.

It is understood that his Honor advised the men to return to work, and the conference was adjourned until the afternoon. In the interval the suggestion was placed before a meeting of coal workers, who, however, declined to resume. No finality was reached at the afternoon's conference. It is understood that representatives of the Employers' Federation offered the men the rate of pay in vogue in Sydney—namely, 1/9 per ordinary hour, and 2/6 per hour overtime. The conference was adjourned till to-morrow morning.

In consequence of the dispute, the mail steamer Bingera was unable to leave for North Queensland to-day, and her departure has been cancelled. The vessel will remain in port until next Friday.

The departure of the Arawatta for Sydney and Melbourne to-morrow will not be interfered with. An electric crane at Wooloongabba is being utilised to coal several steamers, and it is stated that the coal workers have asked the Queensland Railway Union to support them by refraining from working the crane.

WHY NOT AUSTRALIAN DRILLERS?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your paper of January 25 a paragraph from Melbourne says that for oil drilling in Papua the Commonwealth Government has to send to Canada for drillers. Have they advertised in Australia for them? I am sure there are dozens of Australians to be got—men that have been drilling for water for years. I might point out to Mr. Mahon that the driller is the man that puts the bore down, and has nothing to do with the scientific aspect at all—that belongs to the Geological Department. He mentions that he is going to take three or four men from the university to train as drillers. Drilling is fairly hard manual labour, and not kid glove work.

I am, etc., DRILLER.

RIFLE CLUBS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A year ago the rifle club movement was on the crest of a wave of popularity. It seemed that Australia had realised her responsibilities and had decided to discharge them in full. The military authorities were grateful. The press applauded the scheme, and devoted columns of valuable space to its furtherance. Exploded demagogues and discounted politicians gathered what advertisement they could, and many thousands of earnest Australians took the oath of attestation in good faith.

It is not an empty form. It is binding until the end of the war, and every man who took it believed that he was doing something to hasten that desirable event. Many were debarred by physical or domestic reasons from joining the expeditionary forces. Many of them were ex-service men, only too pleased at an opportunity to shoulder a gun again. All were ready to make serious sacrifices to attain military efficiency, provided that efficiency were put to some purpose. Of the many thousands who took that oath I doubt if fifteen per cent. are still drilling.

I will state the case of the Waverley Rifle Club, believing it to be no better and no worse than that of any club formed since the beginning of the movement. We began with over 300 members. Our average parade strength was 275. For January, 1916, it is under rather than over 40. At the initial meeting Colonel Wallack told us that we had no place in the defence system of Australia. "But," he said, "you form the club; the military authorities will never allow such a valuable force to be idle." That was twelve months ago. We are still idle, and with less military standing than a troop of boy scouts. We drilled assiduously and achieved some reputation as a smart body of men. We acquired some skill in shooting, and in less than six months we were officered by men who had risen from our own ranks. Over fifty of us have joined the colours; another fifty found the work too hard for them, and 150 have dropped out, asking themselves "Whatever are we doing this for?" For the benefit of those who, like myself, have no desire to shirk our responsibilities, will Major Buchanan, who is our only link with the Defence Department, tell us where we are? If the rifle club movement was a mistake, let us admit it openly, and honourably release the members from their obligations. We abandoned Gallipoli, surely we can do this lesser thing.

I am, etc.,
D. H. SOUTER,
Waverley Rifle Club.

NATURALISATION LAW.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It is quite refreshing to see the stand you have taken with regard to the enemy shareholder policy put forward by Mr. Hughes shortly before his departure. As it stands, without waiting for the full draft of the bill, we are, I think, assured of three things: (1) The unnaturalised German must sell out; (2) the naturalised German will have to dispose of his Australian interests; and (3) it may become necessary in certain cases for the sons of naturalised Germans to quit their holdings. That exceptions will be made in special cases we already know. Hardship here, and there may be inflicted, but the Germanophiles should have thought of all this before they started this brutal war of aggression against us, and the German should have kept his oath of naturalisation. The fact is they thought that there would be no reprisals, and now both they and their friends are very much astonished that we are only at the very earliest stage of dealing with the German as he should be dealt with. It is gradually being borne in on the Briton wherever he lives that "the German must go," and this brings us to my thinking to the great question that will be decided before this war is over. It will not be left to politicians either to introduce or to decide it, but the English people and their Allies to-day will, I think, have learnt sufficient of the German to realise that the crux of this whole murderous business is the naturalisation law.

The law that gave the German equal privileges with us must be repealed. Australia so far has led in the question of advanced legislation since the outbreak of hostilities. The breaking of the metal contracts is to-day referred to throughout the whole of the world's press as an able and courageous piece of statesmanship. Our trading with the Enemy Act meant a straight-out open fight, with the publication of the name of every firm we decided to bar, and, finally, the determination that no German shall hold interests in this country, has struck terror into heart of the German and his friends in the great financial centre.

Can we not help our Prime Minister by making it clear that Australia desires a repeal of the law that gave friendship and equal citizenship to the race which has since become the most blackguardly, bloodthirsty, and unscrupulous in Central Europe to-day.

I am, etc.,
Jan. 27. CRITCHLEY PARKER.

AN ACCOUNTANCY PASS IS ASSURED
TO ALL OUR STUDENTS WHO SECOND
OUR EFFORTS WITH CONSCIENTIOUS STUDY.

Accountancy Students—we rely upon the achievements of our students in the past to prove the efficiency and the thoroughness of our training. For many years Stott and Hoare's Business College has been remarkably successful in examinations conducted by the various Australian Accountancy Institutes.

The following 1915 results speak for themselves:—
TOP PLACE FINAL ACCOUNTS, N.S.W. Inst.
TOP PLACE PRELIMINARY (Fifth time in Succession).
TOP PLACE (for whole of Australia), FINAL A/CS., VICTORIA INST.
TOP PLACE FINAL ACCOUNTS, INST. PUB. ACCOUNTANTS.

STOTT AND HOARE'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Remington House, Liverpool-street, Sydney
(Facing Hyde Park.)

A VERY SERIOUS PROBLEM!
1915—1916—1917.
IS YOUR BILLET BETTER NOW than it was last year?
Are you progressing—standing still—or sliding back?
Will you be in a better position next year?
It means everything to you to be able to answer these questions satisfactorily.
IF YOU ARE A SENSIBLE MAN, you must admit that you can't get a better position unless you are worth it. In other words, you will have to gain more knowledge before you can hope to gain more money.
WHY NOT GAIN MORE KNOWLEDGE, and earn more money? Perhaps the only difficulty you have is in deciding upon the subjects that you should study, and the College that is to instruct you. If you are in search of helpful information upon this matter, you are one of the men for whom we prepared our Special Illustrated Book,
"HOW TO CHOOSE A CAREER."
We naturally believe our College to be the best—our many years' successes at Public competitive exams., and the eloquent testimony of our thousands of successful students, should make YOU feel that you will be safe to entrust YOUR preparation for a better position to STOTT'S CORRESPONDENCE COLLEGE.
Among our 250 courses are the following:—

Civil Engineering,	Bookkeeping,
Shire Engineering,	Business Methods,
Surveying,	Business Science,
Electrical Engineering,	Letter Writing,
Telegraphy, Telephony,	Shorthand, Typewriting,
Steam Engineering,	Accountancy,
Wireless Telegraphy,	Commercial Law,
Architecture,	Journalism, Literature,
Architectural Drawing,	Story Writing,
Building Construction and Estimating,	Mathematics, Science,
Sanitary Engineering,	Languages, Music,
Mining Engineering,	Drawing, Illustrating,
Chemistry, Metallurgy,	Agriculture, and Live Stock,
Mechanical Drawing,	Fruitgrowing, etc.

WE SUCCESSFULLY PREPARE FOR ALL PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.
If you wish to earn more money, and occupy a better position, with brighter prospects, write or call for a copy of "How to Choose a Career." It is FREE to earnest men and women.

ACCOUNTANCY INSTRUCTION GUARANTEED.

If you want instruction in Accountancy, it will be worth your while to learn about our GUARANTEED COURSES OF INSTRUCTION. Our methods are so certain and have been so successful that we are prepared to undertake that students will pass their examinations at the first attempt. If they fail we will coach them WITHOUT FURTHER CHARGE UNTIL THEY ARE SUCCESSFUL. Could we make a fairer or more convincing offer?

METHODS.—Personal and individual correction of all students' work by Mr. C. Bartle, A.C.P.A. Students receive MODEL answers to all questions and WRITTEN lectures, which render the purchase of text books unnecessary. FEES.—No more than those usually paid for class instruction. All our students receive individual attention.

Whether you require personal or postal instruction, WRITE TO-DAY for our booklet entitled "How to Study Accountancy." Merely attach your name and address to this advertisement and post.

CROWHURST PRIVATE SECRETARY COURSE.

No other branch of stenographic work should receive greater attention to-day than that relating to secretarial work. The recent tendencies in business organisations have elevated secretarial service to the dignity of a profession.

CROWHURST PRIVATE SECRETARY COURSE.
The Private Secretary enables the business or professional man to multiply his executive powers. The work necessarily requires a good education and a high degree of skill both in shorthand and typewriting, and besides these qualifications, tact, diplomacy, accuracy, order, and initiative. But the pay for this kind of service is extraordinarily attractive, and it is a work in which women seem to be especially successful.

CROWHURST PRIVATE SECRETARY COURSE.
Good Secretaries are scarce, and the demand for them has always exceeded the supply.
If you are interested write for further particulars to

CROWHURST OFFICE TRAINING COURSE.
The Crowhurst College is a pioneer in this important phase of Stenographic Training, and the success of this feature of office work simply emphasises its leadership.

CROWHURST OFFICE TRAINING COURSE.
This part of the "Crowhurst" training includes definite and well-organised instruction in such subjects as Dictation, and Transcribing, office routine, outgoing and incoming mail, postal information, commercial abbreviations, enclosures, forms of remittance, banking, filing systems vertical, alphabetical, topical, numerical and geographical; card indexing; form and follow up letters, and methods of handling them; transferring correspondence; office appliances; commercial expressions; shipping by freight, mail, and parcel post; shipping terms; business ethics; meeting callers; office reference books; billing; invoices; statements; business legal papers; insurance; contracts; manuscript covering; telegrams and cablegrams; telephone; editing dictated matter; printing and proof reading; rough drafts; and finally, a co-ordination of all the activities into an organised whole.

CROWHURST OFFICE TRAINING COURSE.
The Office Training-room is equipped with the latest filing systems, and the labour-saving office appliances to be found in the most up-to-date offices. Students are thoroughly drilled in the use of these in connection with the work in office training. Learning to use these appliances is not left to a hit or miss plan, but the work is so organised that each student receives sufficient training on each appliance to become thoroughly familiar with it.

TRY WATERS' SALE FOR SUMMER GOODS AT LOWER PRICES.

You get the advantage both ways when you do your shopping at the Block Corner—you get smarter goods, and you pay lower prices than similar goods not so smart in style would cost you elsewhere.

This is a well-known fact. Thousands of Sydney's smartest dressers and keenest buyers have found it so—it's up to YOU to make yourself conversant with the fact if you have not been aware of it—and, do it this morning. Now is a good time to get acquainted with Waters' values; we're stocktaking, and there are many lines offering at big reductions off sale prices—in some cases half the sale price.

DAINTY BLOUSES AND ROBES,

REDUCED TO A FRACTION

OF THEIR REGULAR PRICES.

All of our summer stock must be cleared, and the reductions have been on a very generous scale in order to have a complete clearance, styles in which we have only small quantities being reduced to

A QUARTER OF THE USUAL PRICES.

IN MILLINERY.

Smart Hats, trimmed and untrimmed, in latest shapes, and colourings, are being cleared at ridiculously low prices. You've no excuse for wearing an old hat now—better call this morning and select a new one, you will be surprised how little it will cost you.

YES, CALICOES AND SHEETINGS

ARE REDUCED.

FURNISHING DRAPERY, TOO.

Calicoes, Sheetings, Lace Curtains, and Furnishing Materials all show big savings on regular values. Look over your linen stock and see if it needs replenishing; if so, do it now—at Waters'.

AT DAVID JONES' STORE.

PRESTIGE AND OUR SALE.

Just as one affiliates with a Church, Lodge, Club, or Society, so do they eventually pin their faith to one particular store in which they make the majority of their purchases.

This is both right—and fair—for as they come to prove the store more their interest grows and develops—it becomes THEIR store in more ways than one.

To gather about David Jones' store the number of shoppers who daily enter and link to it their confidence and custom means a Prestige this Company highly treasures and reveres.

We are spurred to greater efforts—to make the service of OUR store all it should be.

The Sale next week—if values count for anything—will go further still towards expanding this prestige and extending the influence of David Jones' store to new fields.

GENUINE REDUCTIONS

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

ALL goods in EVERY department with the exception of a few Proprietary lines—the prices of which we do not control—are genuinely reduced from January 31st to February 12th.

We do not claim "the biggest bargains ever offered" or make any exaggerated statements that we cannot stand behind, but WE DO SAY with all sincerity that the goods offered during Sale time are standard stock of the quality always associated with David Jones', that the reductions are bonafide, and present unique opportunities to effect splendid savings.

We pay carriage at Sale time as usual on all goods except furniture, floor coverings, kitchenware, and hardware to all parts of Australasia.

If unable to visit, personally, write at once for Sale Catalogue. Post free.

See large Illustrated advertisement in Monday's edition of this paper.

WHEN THE ICE CREAM comes to be eaten (and you just love the thought of it) ask for

ARNOTT'S "ADORA" CREAM WAFERS

to add to the charm; you will be deliciously surprised when these dainty confections are melting in your mouth more quickly than the Ice Cream.

Arnott's "Adora" Wafers are the very latest thing—and the best.

Half the size of our ordinary wafers—just fingers, in fact—with a delicious cream filling in the centre.

Two shapes—Diamond and Plain. Equally good.

What say you to trying them next time you eat Ice Cream or Stewed Fruit? Don't forget to specify—

"ARNOTT'S ADORAS," PLEASE.

THINK OF THE ECONOMY OF TULLE.

Do you realise that you can obtain hats that are chic, stylish, and becoming at a very economical cost—by having them trimmed with "Dynamo" Rainproof Tulle? "Dynamo" Rainproof Tulle is the one Tulle guaranteed absolutely waterproof. It is the world's most durable, and therefore most economical, Tulle. That is why you should ask your Milliner to use "Dynamo" Rainproof Tulle—or get it from your dealer yourself.

All the best Milliners use "Dynamo" Rainproof Tulle. All the best Stores sell it by the yard. Ask for it by name. But if you wish to be sure that you are supplied with the genuine you must insist on seeing the name and trade mark on the card on which the Tulle is wound.

"DYNAMO" RAINPROOF TULLE.

In Black, White, and all fashionable shades, at 9d, 10½d, 1/, 1/3, and 1/6 per yard upwards.

SOLD BY ALL STORES.
